Tailor-Made Clothing

WHILE THE IRON IS HOT

IF EVER a time came for buying a tailor-made suit it is here now. Strike while the iron is hot. The first thing to be sure of when you are making an investment is that you are not also making a mistake. Clothes are either a good investment or a bad one. There is no middle ground. Either you make a wise purchase or a foolish one and when you pay prodigal prices you simply throw away your money. Why do we specially urge you to buy one of our Black Cheviot suits at this particular time? Because there are a few of them left and because in material and make, they defy comparison; while as to the prices, well, just come in and let us show them to you, and we have no hesitation in saying that you will quickly acknowledge that they are the best suits that you have ever seen for the money.

IN OUR Suit Department we can suit everyone, having thousands of styles for you to select from. We can suit the man who earns his $1.75 per day { and none should } as well as the man who counts his dollars by millions. All can be fitted here and why should you go to a tailor and pay him twice as much as we would ask you for the same article? { get less }

THE FIT of our tailor-made clothing equals the productions of the finest tailors in the land.

OUR ARTIST, Mr. Harry Ermenie, still continues to capture the crowds. He can be seen all this week in our west window, producing life-size portraits in the short time of from two to four minutes.

GALENA TO GRANT.

All Illinois Today Does Honor to the Silent Hero of the Rebellion

Nearly 30,000 People Witness the Unveiling of the Kohlsaat Monument.

In Mississippi the Confederate Dead and Jeff Davis Commemorated.

GALENA, Ill., June 3.—High on an eminence in the city that he once claimed as his home, almost casting its shadows in the setting sun over the old house that sheltered his family during the period that at the very front he was fighting or directing the battles for the preservation of his country and the continuation of the Union, a magnificent monument to the memory of "The Old Commander" was formally unveiled today with impressive services. Thirty thousand people participated in the function. They came from far and near, from Iowa and Wisconsin, from the remote quarters of Illinois down in that region familiarly known as "Egypt," from Michigan and from Indiana.

All the business houses and private residences, with scarce an exception were enveloped in the national colors and there were two grand arches on Main street at as many principal crossings. Shortly after 12 o'clock two special trains from Chicago brought in a large number of distinguished guests. Among them were Hon Chauncy M. Depew of New York, the orator of the day, ex-Governor and Mrs. Hoard of Wisconsin, Gen. and Mrs. Miles, Johan Gelert, the sculptor of the monument and many others. With the Chicago delegation came the famous Fifteenth regiment band from Fort Sherdian, and in addition there were in the city no less than fifteen other musical organizations. Shortly after 12 o'clock the exercises opened at the park after a grand parade. Within the enclosure there were ranged the small company of comrades of the old 96th Illinois who stormed the heights of Lookout Mountain and swept the hills of Mission Ridge under the very eyes of their dead chieftain, together with a large number of former Galennas now living in Chicago, who some time ago organized a Galenan association. Midst a scene of enthusiasm, little Pauline Kohlsaat, of Chicago, daughter of the donor, gave a strong tug at the silken cord and the black shroud in which the monument had been enveloped fell apart. Ex-Governor Hoard, of Wissin, in behalf of Mr. Kohlsaat, formally presented the statue to the city of Galena in a brief speech. An address of acceptance on behalf of the city was made by Mr. McClennan, and after the band had rendered "America," Mr. Depew was introducted and enthusiastically greeted. His oration was a masterly effort.

The proceedings came to a close with an address by Judge Crabtree on behalf of the Grand Army. After leaving the stand the distinguished guests, re-enforced by a large proportion of the spectators, visited the old house on the hillside east of the town, for which President Grant once paid the modest rental of $125 a year, together with the new home still belonging to the Grant family, which was presented to the victorious general by his admiring fellow townsmen when he returned home crowned with the laurel leaves, and also the old store on Main street, now occupied by a Galena merchant, and within which U. S. Grant once helped to carry on the currier's trade by which his father gained a livelihood.

The monument unveiled today is the gift of H. H. Kohlsaat, a former Galena boy and now one of the millionaire citizens of Chicago. It is heroic in size and represents General Grant in citizen's dress standing as if in reflection, the likeness is excellent, and the portrayal of the subtle individuality of the man is admirable.

TO HONOR THE GRAY.

A Demonstration in Mississippi Over Confederate Dead.

JACKSON, Miss., June 3.—Five years of disinterested labor and effort on the part of the women of Mississippi culminated today in the formal unveiling of the monument to the Confederate dead of Mississippi. It is a big day for the ex-Confederates. Early this morning a reception was tendered to the Confederate veterans at Capitol building. They were there in force and many comrades clasped hands who had not met since the close of the war.

At 10:30 o'clock the big bell of the court house rang out the signal for the head of the procession to move, and ten companies of the Mississippi National guard led out. Behind came a float carrying fifteen young ladies representing the Southern Confederacy, and the different states which composed it. Each bore aloft a beautiful banner with the names of the different states handsomely embroidered. Next to the float came the officers of the Ladies' Monument association, the organization under the auspices of which the monument had been erected. They were heartily and vociferously cheered at every point. The line of march was through the principal streets to the monument. In all the procession was two miles in length. The sidewalks throughout that distance were packed with people and volleys of cheers ran from block to block. The stars and stripes were carried at the head of every division and likewise floated from the top of the capitol. Side by side with them were carried many torn and tattered Confederate battle flags.

The monument was unveiled amidst prolonged applause, while the combined bands rendered "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Dixie." Senator E. C. Walthall, upon being introduced, was received with loud and prolonged applause. His oration upon "The Confederacy" was a complete history of the war from its inception to its close. Then Governor Lowry followed with a brief oration on the "Life and Character of Jefferson Davis," in the course of which he said that when partisanship had given place to sober reason and judgment, historians would accord the late president of the confederate states a front rank among the great statesmen of his day, as well as of those who had preceded him. At the conclusion of Governor Lowry's oration, the exercises were brought to a conclusion.

The total cost of the monument is nearly $20,000, of which one-half was subscribed by the state legislature, and the balance was raised by the ladies committee by private subscriptions, concerts, and in various other ways. The monument is sixty feet and four inches from the base line to the top of the statue of the soldier mounting the column. On the north and south side of the monument there is set in large tablets of marble, the inscription: "To the Confederate Dead of Mississippi," and on the east and west sides of the die are doorways about eight feet high, ornamented by handsome door-jams; the doors having locks by which they can be secured from intrusion: the inner vaulted chamber is of octagon shape, in the center of which is the corner stone, upon which rests the life-size statue of Jeff Davis.

Criminal Blasting.

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—Mrs. Barbara Forst, a widow living at Termination street and Michigan avenue, in the southern portion of the city, met a terrible death last night. She was found lying on the ground with face and head mashed almost beyond recognition. A large stone which lay beside her was the missile of death. It had been hurled from a quarry about 500 yards away by a blast. Mrs. Forst was a widow and leaves five small children.

EVIDENTLY CHEATED.

Sir William Pushed His Counters and Claimed Cash.

LONDON, June 3.—Arthur Wilson, proprietor of Tranby Croft, and husband of the lady on whose invitation the prince and party were present, was the first witness for the defense in the baccarat case today. He testified that on the first night of play he had seen a £5 counter resting on a piece of paper directly in front of the plaintiff. When the latter's table won, Sir William laid his hands in front of him and held another £5 counter in the palm of one hand. The plaintiff looked at Somers' hand and seeing that the latter held a "natural" and a "court" card, at once dropped the £5 counter which he held in his hand and was paid on all. This statement caused a most profound sensation. Stanley Wilson, son of the preceding witness, testified that he was 22 years of age, and promptly took occasion to repudiate an insinuation that he was a novice at baccarat. He saw Cumming push a £2 counter forward with his pencil when the cards turned in his favor. Cumming was his own colonel; he was watched and was again seen cheating. He kept some counters on the table and others in his breast pocket. He staked a £5 counter and Lady Coventry took a £7 counter.

After looking over Lady Coventry's cards began to carefully advance his hand toward the marked white line. When the turn of the prince of Wales came he said, "I am a baccarat," his card being a bad one. Cummings immediately pushed over the line a £10 counter. It was four inches distant from the £5 counter he had originaly staked. The plaintiff won, and the prince paid him £5, whereupon Sir William remarked: "You've gotten the 'tenor.'" The prince then paid the difference, remarking: "I wish you would place your stakes more conspicuously."

IRELAND'S POPULATION.

It is Less Than Before Known; Surprise at the Census.

LONDON, June 3.—The result of the Irish census has caused some surprise showing that notwithstanding conditions improved in some respect, the country continues to lose population. It is also made evident that larger Ireland is abroad. It is the first census in this country that has shown the population of Ireland below the 5,000,000 mark. In 1801 the figures were 5,395,476, over 600,000 more than the present population. It was thought that the home rule movement during this decade would have diminished the tide of emigration, but such does not seem to be the case.

The food situation is becoming a grave one in Germany, and the continued rise in prices of grain is already causing suffering among the poor. The failure of the government to act promptly in reducing duties for the popular benefit is the ground for deep and widespread irritation. Bismarck is said to be quietly promoting through his confidential journalists a revival of anti-semitic feeling in Germany.

A Handy Religion.

LONDON, June 3.—Mr. Decobain, who fled from Belfast on being charged with an unnatural crime, has written the conservative elections committee that he does not feel that the Lord points it out to him as his duty to meet his accusers at the risk of life and liberty for the purpose of swearing against perjured ruffians. God's guidance requires no such sacrifice. Mr. Decobain is a member of parliament and noted for his religious views.

Turned on the Gas.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Early Monday H. Claggett a bookkeeper, about 50 years of age, of this city, registered at the Mount Vernon hotel as James Williams. Last night examination showed escaping gas and the door was broken open and Claggett found lying undressed on the bed dead with the gas turned at full head, the windows tightly closed and all openings carefully stopped up. Nothing was found to indicate any reason for the suicide. Claggett was a sober, industrious man and leaves several motherless children. Claggett was a native of Hagerstown, Md.

Three Killed by Fire.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Shortly before 8 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the drying house of Schufeldt's distillery, at the corner of Chicago and Hawthorne avenues. Two minutes after the first alarm the entire building was in flames and for a time it seemed that the other distillery buildings were in danger of going. The loss is about $50,000. Three men were so badly injured that they may die. Their names are. Herman Longner, William Searing and Gottfield Brentwent.

Two Smothered in a Fire.

APPLETON, Wis., June 3.—A fire in the rag room of the Patton paper mill this morning destroyed $10,000 worth of property and two mill men were smothered to death. Cornelius Johnson and Henry Ryan were using the mill hose when the fire got the best of them. They tried to escape down stairs, but missed their way in the smoke. Johnson leaves a widow and three children. Ryan was unmarried.

A LIVELY LAKE.

Today's Northeast Storm is the Heaviest That Duluth Has Seen for Several Years.

Arrival of Many Lake Vessels During its Height Watched by Thousands.

Wreck of the Mayflower Which Sunk Off the City Last Night.

All of this forenoon Inman's office was crowded with old vesselmen anxious to learn whatever could be learned concerning the storm. When it became light enough to see some distance out on the lake several vessels were descried, some of them at anchor.

There were the steamer Kittie M. Forbes and her tow, the schooner Barlum, a new boat; also the Colgate Hoyt and her tow, the 107; the steamer Hester and the steamer E. B. Hale. About 7 the tug Record went out to see what she could do. At the outer end of the canal three great combers came in rapid succession and washed the tug from stem to stern. When she got out a few miles she found that it would be useless to try to bring in either the Barlum or 107, both of which were anchored, and so she returned, arriving at the dock about 8:30.

Capt. B. B. Inman, who was aboard, said it was one of the worst seas he had ever seen. At times he could not get a glimpse of the hill, so high was the water around him. And yet the tug did not take a pail of water. The 107 lay about three miles straight out from the canal and the Barlow a little father out and some distance father south of the canal. The former had only one anchor and was getting along nicely. The schooner had out both anchors and, although being tossed considerably, seemed to be in no great danger.

The sea was quite high at 9:45 last night when the Spokane and her consort, the 103, came in. At 1:10 this morning the India made the harbor thirty-five minutes later the Tuttle and Gladstone came and at 4:10 the Sauber. At 8 o'clock the Colgate Hoyt came through the canal and made no work of it at all. She could just as well as not have brought in her tow. The way in which both she and her tow behaved in the sea made everybody concede that the whaleback was the coming boat. "We'll all sail whalebacks pretty soon," said one well known captain, who was weatherbound. The steamer E. B. Hall came into port at 8 a. m., having left her tow at Ashland. Both she and the big steamer Hesper, which arrived at 8:30, steered very badly before coming to the canal and even while passing through it. The Kittie M. Forbes did not dare to attempt to steer through the canal, and so faced the waves as if bound for Two Harbors. She for a long while did not make over two miles an hour.

The storm is one of the worst for this season experienced here in many years. The barometer this morning was at 30.10 and the thermometer within 3 degrees of the freezing point. All through the Northwest the temperature is exceedingly low, being at the freezing point at Q'Appelle. The indications are that the worst is not yet over, as witness the following dispatch from the signal service bureau at Washington:

Host cautionary northeast signals at 10:45 a. m. Storm center in Iowa. Expect northeast winds today and tonight; also ordered Port Huron, Alpena, Green Bay and Marquette."

It is probable that the wind will remain in the northeast for some hours and gradually shift around to the north and northwest.

The India made great time in coming from Marquette. She did the distance in twenty-three hours, the usual time being not less than twenty-six hours. The propellor Colorado surprised everybody by coming out of the mist at 10 o'clock and sailing gracefully through the canal.

There is a large fleet of boats wind bound here and before another twenty-four hours it if likely to be increased, as captains in the lower end of the lake do not know what rough weather Duluth is having. The Hesper, which came here this morning with coal, was bound for Two Harbors, but found it impossible to make that port.

At noon the propellor John M. Nicol, which arrived here last Saturday for a cargo of Imperial flour, could wait no longer and started for Buffalo. Her progress out against the fearful sea was watched with interest. As the signal office predicts a continuation of bad weather she may be very glad to get in the shelter of the Apostle islands. Capt. Inman at 2 o'clock thought that there was a likelihood of the schooner and whaleback being compelled to lay at anchor over night, as there is no prospect of moderation in the weather and it would take about six hours to get up the anchors.

It is many years since Duluth people have seen the weather so bad as to make it more preferable for a vessel to anchor than to tie up at dock. The Brazil and Denver about 11 o'clock were being knocked about so badly at their docks that they anchored off Northern Pacific slip.

There have been but two or three storms in the history of Duluth more severe than the one now raging. One of them was in 1872, when the schooners Francis Palms and Sweetheart in trying to make the outside harbor under sail brought up on the rocks at the base of Minnesota point and there broken in two, and where the steamer St. Paul was beached near the canal. In November, 1882, the wind blew northeast eighty miles an hour for a few minutes and was so severe all day that the greatest sea in our history was raging on, and completely over, Minnesota point. At that time the tug Siskiwit was washed clear on the top of the pier head at the south side of the canal, and narrowly escaped being lost with all on board.

The Wreck of the Mayflower.

The wreck of the vessel off Lester river, referred to in The Herald's extra edition last night, proved later to have been that of the Mayflower, and as supposed by this paper, she was on the way here from Portage Entry with 500 tons of red stone worth $5000, for Quinby & Omeis. Shifting of the cargo in the sea was the cause of the wreck.

The Mayflower was owned by Capt. Sheldon of Houghton, and was in tow of the tug Sheldon, she was valued at $4500 and had a crew of five men. All of them, except the Captain, Peter Zerbot of Houghton, were saved by the tug. They are: Wheelsman Joseph Ros; cook, Edward Elliot, and sailor Pat Smith, all of Houghton. The Mayflower was in rough weather all the way from Portage Entry, and when about seven miles out, opposite Lester river, the cargo of stone began to slide about and before the yawl boat could be cut adrift the schooner capsized, sinking almost at once.

IN DISTRICT COURT.

Business Dull There Also; Several new Suits Entered.

There was but little of interest to the general public transacted in the district court today. The grand jury returned four indictments this morning and one of those indicted was brought into court. It was John Hendrickson, charged with assault in the second degree. He pleaded not guilty through his attorneys, McGindley & Cotton. Warrants are out for the other parties indicted.

Judge Ensign granted second papers to J. Arthur Roberts.

This afternoon the case of Harriet W. Haynes, appellant, vs. the city of Duluth, respondent, is on trial. This is an appeal from the award of the commissioners in retaking unplatted land for the extension of Ninth avenue east.

The American Exchange bank has brought suit against Agnew & Co. to compel the payment of six different notes given by defendants since the first of the year to Cutler & Gilbert, the Lake Superior Brown Stone company, Lefebre & Deslauries and the plaintiff. Their amount is $3290.79. A. R. Macfarlane, as treasurer of the First Presbyterian society, for which Agnew & Co. are building a church, have been garnisheed.

ANOTHER SIGNAL CHANGE.

Sergeant Bauer Will Soon Trot Back to the East.

For a second time within a few weeks the Duluth signal office has been notified of a change. Just before noon Sergeant J. W. Bauer, who is in charge, and came from New York four weeks ago, received a telegram from Washington, telling him to be in readiness to leave for Mount Washington, New Hampshire, shortly. This is a post at which the sergeant has spent considerable time during the past five or six years. It is kept open only a little over half the year. Sergeant Bauer has no idea as to who will be his successor. Private J. W. Johnson will be in charge temporarily. Sergeant Fallon, who had charge an age—nearly eighteen months—was ordered to leave here early in May for Bismarck, where he is now incarcerated.

Encroaching on Piedmont.

The chief of police yesterday sent one of his subordinates up and down Piedmont avenue east to give notice to a large number of persons that within ten days they must move their houses off the street. Piedmont has always been an eighty foot thoroughfare, but as the city only used sixty-six feet many persons took it for granted that only sixty-six feet would be used for all time. When the contract for improving it was let provision was made for making use of the whole eighty feet. That's why the houses happen to be projecting from a few inches to several feet on the avenue. There were a few kickers at the city engineer's office this morning over the order and claiming that they could not make the change in time.

TIN PLATE PLATITUDES.

Much unfairness is exhibited on both sides in the tin plate furor now being raised by the metropolitan press. One side makes the McKinley bill a monster devouring our industries, and the other a god scattering blessings over a smiling land. A few facts seem, however, to be pretty well established. The law as affecting tin does not go into effect till July 1. As a result the importation of tin plate has been greatly stimulated since the passage of the bill. For example, the port of Boston alone, in the seven months ending May 1, imported 22,055,732 pounds valued at $807,810, against 13,108,000 pounds valued at $448,115 for the corresponding period a year ago. There has also been an increase in price, and what appear conservative estimates put the profits of the McKinley bill to British producers at $5,000,000 before the measure has gone into effect. A Buffalo manufacturer, Mr. Ehle, says in an interview with the Courier, that his company has been obliged to start a factory in Canada to supply the export trade, as he can buy plate for $3.62 in the Dominion that costs $6 in the states. The New York Post has kept a standing offer of $5.10 a box for 6000 boxes of American I C tin plates, 14x20, Bessemer steel coke finish. Now a user of tin plates says there is none of that brand made in the United States and offers the same price for the same amount of the same grade from any foreign manufactory. An article in the Philadelphia Press of recent date describes the process of making roofing tin by a new factory in that city. This is about the extent of evidence thus far presented.

From these facts it is plain that we can not yet judge the tin schedule of the McKinley bill by experience. Both sides may exercise there theories freely without danger of successful contradiction. The higher grades of plate, it is conceeded, are not made here. The importations of tin have been about doubled with other imports increased, thus making a temporarily unusual draft upon gold. The latest teresaury statement shows that the imports for April 1891, were valued at $81,269,686, which is believed to be the largest in the history of the government, against $71,902,140 for the same month in 1890. But much of this activity is in anticipation of the new law after July 1, and not on account of the law itself. After that date another change will be experienced. Then, too, the country has changed hands since the McKinley bill was passed, and many who had faith in its efficacy are now fearful of its repeal and afraid to invest. The chief lesson to be drawn from the situation is that a business not profitable in itself under the ordinary conditions of trade, cannot reasonably and safely ask the government to come to its aid, for then politics becomes corrupt or business by a change of policy may be ruined.

FRESH WATER EDITORS.

The Herald's suggestion of an international association of editors along the lakes to further the interests of the great water route, has called forth numerous comments, from which we give the following:

Ashland News: There will be no dissent from the proposition that an association of this kind could be useful to the business interests of the Lake Superior country, and the Daily News is inclined to believe that its usefulness would be increased by limiting its territorial scope to this region. The commercial development of northern cities is hampered by railroad discrimination in favor of Lake Michigan cities, and they will have to fight against Chicago and Milwaukee to obtain equitable rates to the West. A Lake Superior press association would be free from rival interests and might be able to assist in bringing home to the people of this entire section the truth that their interests lie together.

Duluth News: In order to further the interests of the great lakes it was suggested that an association of the papers representing the lake ports be organized, but a contemporary advises that it would be better to commence with an organization of the papers of the Lake Superior region. It would be still better to begin with an organization of Duluth papers and limit the purpose of the association to furthering their own interests. They are already doing their share of work for other interests.

Superior Call: The Ashland News and Duluth Herald can be accredited with an effort to boom the organization of an international press association which will take in all the towns of any importance lying along the lake. They think such a movement would be very desirable and profitable. The Daily Call endorses the views of these gentlemen of the press.

The Herald some time ago took the ground that the oppression of Jews in Russia was not because of special hatred to them but on account of the fact that they could not be utilized in the nationalization schemes of the empire. This truth is becoming generally recognized at last. While in our own and some European countries the Jew becomes a citizen in the highest sense of the word and falls in with the full spirit of our institutions, he is forever an alien in Russia. Thus for the same reason that we shut out the Chinese, the czar wishes to be rid of a considerable population in various parts of his empire, and the local rulers are not averse to expediting his plans. There are in our own land those who cry aloud "America for Americans," and would condemn the czar for a like feeling expressed in "Russia for Russians." We oftimes hear expression of the belief that the world will be better off if we limit the sources of our population and build up a great Anglo-Saxon republic. The czar has a like belief as to Russia and is ambitious to nationalize a great people under institutions in his opinion peculiarly fitted to their genius. This may be mistaken, it is certainly cruel, as would our own proposed course be, but he believed, as do some Americans of our scheme, that the ends justify the means. These persecuted people are not as a rule fitted for the agricultural pursuits of pioneers in a new country, and would, if they came to our shores, swell our municipal populations already miserable enough. But to shut our gates would make us as heartless as the czar. The earth was made for those who are born upon it.

Ex-Governor Boutwell, of Massachusetts, who is also an ex-secretary of the United States treasury, has written a communication to the Boston Globe elaborating a plan for limiting immigration by requiring each immigrant to make a deposit of a considerable sum which the government will return on his becoming a full citizen. This would be effective as an exclusion act, but would work the great cruelty of breaking up families, a thing not to be desired, as few peasants could ever have enough ahead to bring more than one at a time. No, No!

Land Office Commissioner Carter is in Washington again and is hurrying along all business of his department. The date having arrived at which Register Colvill s resignation was to take effect, and much business being delayed, the appointment of his successor is expected soon. Some think a democrat ought to be appointed so as not to make another change next year, but prophecy is not in much use nowadays.

The Alta California, the oldest daily of San Francisco, has succumbed to subsidized competition and is no more. For several years under the editorship of John P. Irish, formerly of Iowa, it has been a sparkler. Sometimes even in the journalistic field the "King of Shadows loves a shining mark."

The condition of ex-President Hayes is becoming quite alarming. The man who gave the country one of its most creditable administrations and has been slurred by his own party more than he was abused by the opposition, is closing his life in comparative obscurity.

The Tribune says there is not only to be a town on Sucker bay and a railroad to the iron range, but an iron plant "second only to Carnegie's" as well. This is indeed brave news, and we are glad to hear it. Now, can the News beat this story tomorrow?

The city of Toronto, Canada, has bought up its street car plant and will operate it for the public. This is the first experiment of the kind on so large a scale in America and will be watched with interest on this side of the border.

Miss Eva McDonald, the alliance lecturer, who is well known to many in Duluth, was married Monday to Mr. Frank Valesh who is prominent in labor circles in St. Paul. Our best wish is that Eva may now have her hands full.

The Pioneer Press has come out for the re-election of Senator C. K. Davis. Now there is a chance for Donnelly.

FRANK LESLIE'S WEEKLY says Gov. Boyd ought not to have been bounced because it will hurt the other fellows. No other reason, eh?

MR. INGALLS will write a thousand words a week for the New York Truth. He has just told the Truth for the first time.

WHEN Donnelly gets after the "mistakes of Ingersoll," there will be nothing but a few aerated doubts left.

THE 4,000,000 votes expected by Mr. Donnelly's party are mostly ciphers.

IT'S A cold day when the straw hat gets left.

HOODOO MAGIC.

The extent to which the supernatural is believed in even by the educated people in this critical age of agnosticism, would surprise those who have not had their attention called to it or fortunately dwelt for a time in some mystic realm with charmed lives all about them. Men exposed to peculiar dangers, such as soldiers, sailors, engine drivers, and others of kindred employments are most given to beliefs in charms and presentiments. The position of the stars, the action of birds or beasts or fish, or the condition of the air, the simultaneous occurrence of the simplest events, the breaking of a dish, the weird mewing of cats o pitcous howling of dogs, the curling of smoke from the chimney tops, the friendly action of rats, or the unusual gathering of the chickens to their roost, all these and many more have a profound meaning to some one somewhere. The old belief in the magic-saving power of the relics of the saints has come down in many ways and if the average American hasn't faith enough to keep a reliquary on his mantelpiece, he still has a streak of superstition that illumines and softens his nature if its emblems do not always charm away the sorrows and obstacles of life.

* * *

Many colored people believe that the first thunder of springtime awakens the snakes that have been but balls of twine during the long cold season, and not a few of these people think the grave robber or "night doctor," as they call him, wields some strange power over body and soul. Few, even among the most highly educated people of any race, have not some dread of gapping graveyards after nightfall, and would not shudder to sleep in a coffin or drink from a dish made in imitation of a skull. But if there is anything in such associations to fear, then inanimate things have power over the human mind, and may mar or charm our existence.

* * *

What granger does not carry a buckeye, or chestnut, or dragon's tooth in his pocket to charm away some sort of pain, or watch the ground hog's shadow to predict his crop? Then why shouldn't one of Duluth's land attorneys wear a charm and hoodoo the interior department to his liking? Fielder B. Chew carries in the vest pocket over his heart the left hind foot of a rabbit killed by a black man at midnight in the dark of the moon in a graveyard in South Carolina. The charm is peculiarly effective because the rabbit died on a grave. It was sent Mr. Chew last winter by his mother, and has about it a gold band engraved with the German words "Gluck auf," meaning good luck. A pretty cord attached to the band and thrown about his neck completes the charm which to him is without price. Besides this he wears a scarf pin bearing the same motto in Japanese hieroglyphics which resemble a tab on a Chinese wash bill, and carries in his pocket a buckeye given him two years ago by an intimate friend of Governor Foraker, who had carried it for seventeen years. Mr. Chew never had the rheumatism, but this buckeye is said to have cured C. P. Maginnis, who has officed with him for a short time, and has the effect of vaccination on all other ills that flesh is heir to.

* * *

Colored people in the Southern states take the left hind foot of a rabbit, killed as above described, together with a turkey gobbler's bill, dipped in snake's blood, and drawing them across the path of an enemy in the spirit hours of the night, hoodoo him. A black man from Alabama who has charge of the mailbag repair shop at Washington has thus held Postmaster General Wanamaker for two years under a hoodoo spell and controlled all minor appointments in the South. Frank Hatton, himself postmaster general under President Arthur, was two years ago presented with the left hind foot of a rabbit killed in the gravest fashion. He hadn't a cent of money, but cheered by this charm he went to Washington, raised the money and bought the Morning Post, which he is making a great success.

* * *

With such illustrious examples, why should not Mr. Chew hoodoo the whole administration with this sacred charm? When a case is to be heard in the land office that he wishes to defeat, he goes late at night and scratches gently with this rabbit foot on the opposing counsel's door. That ends it. Sometimes the witnesses fail to come, or the case is postponed, or the attorney is taken with the grip, or a favorable decision is received for Mr. Chew, but it matters not what it may be, something happens when the rabbit's foot scratches over the threshold. When at Washington, and chatting with a friend, he thoughtlessly scratched on the pension office door and now Raum is in a peck of trouble. So it goes everywhere. But as there is a cure for every ill, so there is an antidote for the left hind foot of a rabbit charm. Its evil magic will not work when a cricket is singing on the hearth. But just now because of unfavorable conditions there is a short crop of crickets, and the apostles of hoodooism have things their own way. It is said that Dr. Fred Barrett has secured the services of Mr. Chew to decide the land office matter by putting his rabbit's foot in it. While Monroe Nichols is sleeping on his arms like Saul of old bivouacking in a cave, Mr. Chew like another David will come upon him stealthily in the still hours of night and touching his armor with the left hind foot of the vestal hare will cause Monroe to withdraw at once from the race or remain forever under a hoodoo spell. The spirits have spoken. Selah.

CONJECTURE OF DISTRIBUTION OF POPULATION IN 1900.

The Upper End of St. Louis Bay being filled except the Channel.

To those who have never studied the geography of the Head of the Lake, we would say that West Duluth is on a nearly level plane about equal in breadth from water's edge to foothill to that on which Cincinnati stands, but much longer; while above this the hillside generally rises gradually, affording the same kind of Residence Sites as are found East of Duluth, with a view extending from Fond du Lac to the horizon on Lake Superior.

On the other side we have St. Louis Bay and River, furnishing a harbor sufficiently large to accommodate the commerce of Chicago, Cleveland and Buffalo, all at one time.

The center of the future line of shipping will be about midway between Minnesota Point and Spirit Lake. This is clearly shown by the fact that more dock building has been done in West Duluth within the past year than in Duluth and West Superior both together. The center of general trade is always on the level land, most convenient to the center of commerce, and convenient to this without being in it is the most valuable residence property.

The larger circular device in view marks the location of Belmont Park and Sharp's Addition.

LAKESIDE CITY SCHOOL.

Closing Exercises of all Take Place Soon: Primary Closing Postponed From Today to Friday.

What the State Fish Commission Proposes to do Regarding Illegal Fishing and Hunting.

The Lakes and Streams About Duluth Are Being Rapidly and Shamefully Depleted.

The schools of London and Lester Park are closing the year, and the final exercises at the Lester park school were to have been held today. They consist chiefly of reading and recitations with some music and other features, and, postponed because of the storm, will take place Friday. A large attendance of parents and friends is looked for. The London schools will close Friday with the usual exercises incident on such occasions, and the graduating exercises of the upper class will be held next Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian church at the London end of the new city.

THE GAME TRADE.

How All Manner of Wild Game is Illegally Slaughtered.

At the meeting of the state fish commission yesterday it was decided not to appoint deputy game wardens at present, but to leave the work to Warden Stetson, who will endeavor to make it warm for the fish thieves who have been robbing the lakes of the state this spring.

The fish commission has plenty of power under the new law to do something and it is time it got to work actively. No only should the commission see to it that the streams are planted, but more important than that it should see that the fish are not wantonly destroyed, and that game laws are enforced. An Aitken county official, who came down today from Grand Rapids, tells The Herald of the practices thereabouts.

"There are," he says, "more lakes in Aitken and Itasca counties than there are people, and they are all well stocked, or they were a year ago. There should be the best of fishing in that section for a generation and more, but I fear that, unless some steps are taken at once to enforce the law, there will be no fish five years hence. Netting in the lakes and streams, dynamiting the water to stun and kill the fish, and other nefarious practices are carried on without any particular attempt at concealment, and the tons of bass, pickerel, perch and other fish shipped out is evidence enough of the way the thing is done. Over 150 tons of fresh fish have been shipped from Brainerd and Aitken to Kansas City so far this spring."

Down the north shore a good deal of illegal trout fishing this season, by Indians and professional fishermen, while the amateur is often transgressing the law regarding nets. Not only is this the case with fish, but wild game, which now frequent the north and south shores, its last habitats in this part of the country, as game has been driven from almost everywhere else into the woods about Lake Superior, is slaughtered wickedly. Hunters are already stationed along the Northern Pacific, between Duluth and Ashland, where they have been several years, and along the Eastern, between Duluth and Hinckley, and are killing deer and other game without mercy and contrary to express law. Steps should be taken by both Minnesota and Wisconsin to stop the traffic in deer hides.

State Fish Commissioner Timberlake, speaking in St. Paul yesterday, said: "The immense destruction of food fish is beyond the conception of any one not familiar with the business. Aside from the immense quantities of fish that are constantly being taken and thus rapidly depleting the lakes and streams of our state, there is another cause for the most prompt and vigorous public protest, and that is the utter waste.

"There is received each week in St. Paul and Minneapolis, by one concern, over 20,000 pounds of lake fish. Are shipped principally from Perham, Otter Tail county; Garrison, Crow Wing county, and Lincoln, Morrison county. Of these 20,000 pounds, 65 per cent is stale and unfit for food, and are thrown out. The traffic has been carried on now at its present magnitude for about three years, and it is estimated that another three years will see the fish in many of our lakes practically exterminated, for these pirates use nets of small mesh, and none escape, the smaller fry being consumed at home or fed to the hogs."

MORE CARRIER SERVICE.

Duluth Making a Demand for its Share of New Ones.

Next month the postmaster general will apportion additional letter carriers to free delivery postoffices. There are 519 postoffices, and there will only be 150 carriers to be distributed among them, consequently some cities will get left. The "hustlers" will get the carriers. Duluth has demanded more carriers and submitted conclusive proof that they are needed, and needed badly. If Postmaster Howard keeps hammering away at the postoffice department and sets up a loud cry for more carriers he may get them; otherwise the demands of some other city more urgent will be acquiesced in.

There will be no additional free delivery offices established in Minnesota this year, and this fact will help the appeal for more carriers. Both St. Paul and Minneapolis are crying in a loud voice for more help in the carrier department, but they dont need it as Duluth does.

THE MISTAKES OF INGERSOLL.

Ignatius, the Prophet of Bacon, Will Lecture on Them.

Word was received this morning by F. H. Barnard that Ignatius Donnelly, who has been expected to deliver a lecture in Duluth soon, that he will speak in Temple Opera on the evening of Tuesday, June 9, on the "Mistakes of Bob Ingersoll."

The title is a taking one, as Mr. Ingersoll has pointed out the mistakes of Mr. Donelly, as well as of Moses, and the lecture will, of course, have as its burden the Baconian theory, with a little religion mixed in. Mr. Donnelly is sure of a big audience and he will entertain his hearers as much as his noted opponent.

THE BOND IDEA

Proposed and Favored by Many Alliance Leaders.

Members of the local alliance clubs met in the chamber of commerce last evening to discuss with Secretary Thompson the proposition to bond the county to the extent of $500,000 to aid railroad projects. The matter was fully discussed, some alliance people carped at the idea of bonds, saying the railroads would come when there was business for them, and that it was unnecessary to burden the people to aid.

Speaking of the meeting secretary Thompson today said: "An item in this morning's News does me injustice. I did not make any such proposition as it outlined; I did not talk with any News reporter regarding the alliance meeting or anything else; I did not express any disappointment at the outcome, nor did I feel any, directly the contrary."

A number of those present at the meeting favored the plan with some modifications, which seemed to be excellent, some opposed it, while others did not believe it needed any modification at all.

EASY PROSPECTING.

Sault Farmers Who are Looking for the Precious Metal.

[Sault Democrat.]

There is a gold excitement among residents a few miles out of the city. Many farmers are at work looking for riches under the sod.

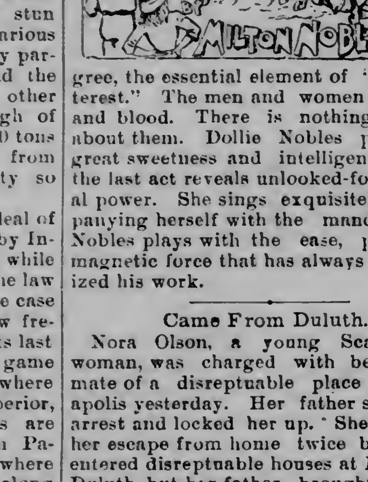

Last winter there was a clairvoyant in the city, Miss Smith by name. She met George Lee, a farmer, and told him a peculiar tale. She had never seen him before. She told him that riches for him lay not in the cultivation of the farm but in digging it. She said that back of his farm was a large boulder and that there would come unexpected riches. At thirty feet, said the prophet of the future, there will appear signs of gold and at 100 feet fortune will appear. The clairvoyant told Mr. Lee of his past history which gives confidence in her sayings.

Lee is hard at work digging for his fortune. His neighbors have confidence and are helping him. The men are now down forty feet and claim to have found excellent specimens of gold. The work will be continued until the limit prescribed by the fortune teller is passed.

A peculiar incident is that Mr. Lee had never seen the boulder described by Miss Smith until after his attendance of her seance when he found the description of his farm so accurate he decided to follow out her instructions.

TEMPLE OPERA HOUSE.

Those artists Milton and Dollie Nobles and a powerful supporting company will be the attraction at the Temple this evening. The New York Sun says: Milton and Dollie Nobles are filling the Grand Opera house nightly. Mr. Nobles' new drama, "From Sire to Son," is by far the best work yet given to the public by that versatile actor and successful dramatist. It possesses, in an eminent degree, the essential element of "human interest." The men and women are flesh and blood. There is nothing artificial about them. Dollie Nobles plays with great sweetness and intelligence, and in the last act reveals unlooked-for emotional power. She sings exquisitely, accompanying herself with the mandolin. Mr. Nobles plays with the ease, polish and magnetic force that has always characterized his work.

Came From Duluth.

Nora Olson, a young Scandinavian woman, was charged with being an inmate of a disreptuable place at Minneapolis yesterday. Her father secured her arrest and locked her up. She has made her escape from home twice before and entered disreptuable houses at Fargo and Duluth, but her father brought her back. She has had a three months' experience in the House of the Good Shepherd, but this did not have any lasting efficacy.

Framing the Train Shed.

Workmen at the Union depot have begun to use the big wood scaffold that has been built at the east end of the old depot. They are hoisting the steel beams of the train shed onto it for putting them together. This staging is mounted on wheels and will be used as a frame on which to build the train shed.

Eastern Star Social.

The ladies of the order of the Eastern Star will give a social at Masonic Temple this evening. The proceeds will go towards defraying expenses for entertaining the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star of Minnesota, which met in Duluth in May.

The Chronic Kicker.

The poet says: "What is more perfect than a day in June?" And nowhere in the world are June days so perfect as in the great Northwest. And yet for some inscrutable purpose Providence permits the Chronic Kicker to infest even June days. You have seen the "Kicker," haven't you? Of no particular sex or age, "he, shoe, or it," is omnipresent, always awake and on the lookout for something to growl about. The genus is divided into several species, the political Kicker, the financial Kicker, the religious Kicker, the social Kicker, and so on, ad infinitum. Don't you wish you could escape it? Well, you can't, but there is one place where you will find less of him, her, etc., than anywhere else—and that is on the luxurious vestibuled trains of "The Burlington running between Minneapolis and St. Paul and Chicago and St. Louis. To get as far away from the Kicker as possible insist on your ticket agent selling you a ticket over "The Burlington." For any further information about the line, rates, etc., address W. J. C. Kenyon, general passenger agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

Saturday, active steps will be taken to close up the deal for a flour mill at Superior, to be managed by A. A. Freeman of La Crosse. The intention is to begin the construction of the mill within two weeks, in order that it may be in operation by Sept. 1. It will cost $250,000. THE MARKETS.

Wheat Dull and Steady; With New York Market Much the Same.

There was a very steady and dull grain market on the Duluth board of trade today. Scarcely anything was done. Receipts were large and shipments also heavy. News from other markets was scarce. Cables were very steady. A Trenton, Ill., dispatch reported millions of oats lice in the wheat; one from Northcote, Minn., said frosts were expected tonight. The weather throughout the Northwest today has been cold and rainy.

Cash 1 hard sold at $1.06 closed at $1.05½; cash 1 northern sold at $1.03½ closed at $1.02½; cash 2 northern closed at 99½c. June 1 hard closed at $1.06; June 1 northern opened at $1.03½ closed at $1.03. July 1 hard opened at $1.07¾ closed at $1.07¼; July 1 northern opened an $1.04¾ closed at $1.04¼.

Grain Movement.

Cars of grain inspected today were 74, of which, 7 were 1 hard, 64 were 1 northern and 1 each 2 northern, no grade and white winter. Receipts were 166,628 bu wheat, 5458 bu corn, 3689 bbls flour. Shipments were 113,014 bu wheat, 19,717 bbls flour. Cars on track were 28, same day last year 14.

Chicago Wheat.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Wheat started out firm, corn and oats higher and provisions lower. Wheat cables quoted prices lower abroad but the strength of corn counteracted their effect. Corn was higher because receipts were less than the trade expected. Oats were higher in sympathy with corn. Provisions were very weak because receipts of hogs at the yards were 35,000 head instead of 27,000 as anticipated. July wheat started at 98⅜c; corn at 56½c; oats at 44c. September pork $10.72½; lard, $6.57½, and ribs $6.25.

The following is the close: Wheat July, 98⅛; September, 93¾@⅞c. Corn: July, 56½c; September, 55½c. Oats, July, 43½c; September 44⅜c. Pork: July, $10.65; September, $10.87½. Lard: July, $6.30; September, $6.52½. Ribs: July, $5.92½; September, $6.17½ @20.

New York Money and Stocks.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Money at 3½@4 per cent. Exchange steady; posted rates, 4.85½@4.89½; actual rates, 4.84¼@485 for sixty days. Governments steady; currency 6's, 1.08 bid; 4's, coupons 1.19 bid; 4½'s, do, 1.00 bid.

The trading was light this morning. Prices at noon were ⅛ to ¾ per cent lower than those of yesterday. At this writing the market is dull. The sales amounted to 94,700 shares for the morning.

Local Bank Clearings.

Today's local bank clearings were $399,583.90.

FANNED BY THE WIND.

A West End Building Went up in Smoke Last Night.

Nearly 11 o'clock last evening, when the wind was at its height, fire broke out in the old National Iron works building, used since the iron company moved to the back of the lot, as a boardinghouse and wood turning and sawing shop.

The west end of the building was occupied by the West End hotel, J. M. Lewis, proprietor; he had given up keeping boarders about a week ago, but still occupied the house with his family. He had $1300 worth of furniture in the house, and his loss is total. He had $1000 insurance. The rest of the building was rented by Christianson & Jurgens, wood turners and sawyers. Their stock, worth about $1000, was injured by water $500 worth; insured for $600. Nobody knows how the fire started, but it originated in some rubbish in the building.

The National Iron works estimates its loss at nearly $5000, on building and some stock that was destroyed. It had $5000 insurance, $4500 on building and $500 on stock. It must be said in justice to Chief Smith and the fire boys that a better piece of work has seldom been done, for the wind was blowing a 29-mile gale and the fire was hard to get at.

The Hoare Hamlet.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Pardon me if I intrude sufficiently into your space to suggest one or two reasons why there should be a liberal patronage of the concert to be given by Professor Hoare on Friday evening next. No argument need to be addressed to our musical people. Professor Hoare and his work are too well known and too fully appreciated by them to make necessary anything more than a slight reminder of the fact of the concert and its date, lest it be overlooked amid the multiplied demands made in this busy city on the time of our ladies as well as our business men.

But I wish to make a suggestion to such of the latter as can not be classed distinctively among the "music lovers." Business men recognize the money value of real estate, buildings, factories and railroads, as a matter of course. Duluth business men recognize the fact that schools have a money value, in addition to that other value which is higher than money, and freely vote large sums for the organization and support of a school system, so officered and equipped with buildings and apparatus that it shall be second to none.

It may not be so widely recognized as yet, but I believe that it is none the less true, that a first-class band and a first-class orchestra have a money value to a city just as really as churches, schools and libraries. We have accomplished a great deal when we succeed in inducing a capitalist to send his money here for investment. We have done a great deal more when we have succeeded in inducing the man to follow his money and become, with his family, a resident of our city, bringing with him not only the brains and energy which have produced wealth and will continue to produce it, but the culture which glorifies wealth by devoting it to music, art, literature and other noble ends.

Moral: Attend the concert Friday night. If you do not go because of the pleasure you can get out of it, go from a sense of duty to Duluth.

...HT AT SEA

Four of the Chilian Iron Clads Engage in a Close and Terrific Combat.

Vessel of the Insurgents Attacks Three Torpedo Boats of the Other Party.

And Retires From Under the Guns of Valparaiso Forts After Great Slaughter.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—News of the worst sea fight since the Chilian troubles began has just been received here. It took place in the harbor of Valparaiso on April 28, between the insurgent cruiser Magallanes and the government torpedo boats Alden, Admiral, Condell and Lynch, four days after the encounter between the same vessels at Channel bay, the news of which was received on Monday last.

After the latter battle the Magallanes decided to attack the government ships, and, if possible, destroy them before they could again be fitted for sea. Favored by darkness the Magallanes crept into to the harbor of Valparaiso and began the attack by ranging close alongside the already crippled Alden and firing a broadside into her that did terrible execution. Nearly half of the torpedo crew were either killed or wounded and the vessel was completely riddled. An alarm was sounded in the forts, but as the vessels lay so close together the gunners in the forts dared not fire for fear of hitting their own vessels.

Getting clear of the Alden the Magallanes at once attacked the Lynch, but her fire was returned with interest. The smokestack of the Lynch was blown away, and a boat containing ten men, who had been sent to try to attack the rebel vessel with a torpedo, was blown out of the water.

The Condell had steamed to the outside of the Magallanes, thus getting the latter between two fires. The Magallanes was shot through and through. Over forty of her crew were lying dead on her decks, but her guns were untouched and her captain made up his mind to try to better his position. Suddenly the rebel vessel began to move astern and ceased firing. The night being so dark the government steamers were unknowingly firing into each other and the Condell began to fill rapidly. The trick was not discovered until the Magallanes had turned and steaming across the stern of the Condell, poured in a broadside that nearly demolished the latter, dismounting every gun and killing fourteen and wounding six more of the crew.

The rebel steamer then started to steam out of the harbor at full speed. Every gun in the forts on shore opened on her, but only once was she struck. A heavy shell landed fairly on her deck just forward of her pivot gun and burst. The explosion tore a big hole in the deck, the pivot gun was thrown over on its side and four men were killed. Soon after that she was out of range of the forts and ran up the coast to Caldera.

Over 100 men were killed during this fierce conflict, fully one-half of whom were on board the Magallanes. No attempt was made by foreign warships to stop the fight which lasted fully an hour. The Condell had to be run on the beach to prevent her sinking, while the Alden was so badly damaged that it will take a long time to repair here. In addition to the loss of nearly half of her crew the Lynch lost four of her six officers, including her commander.

LYNCHING SCHWEINFURTH.

An Attempt Made to Kill the Filthy False Prophet.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 4.—Schweinfurth, the Rockford impostor, came near being lynched last night. All day long efforts have been made to have a number of men get together to inflict bodily injury on the pretended messiah and at 9 o'clock last evening a mob of about 300 men assembled in front of the house where he is staying and made demonstrations. Cries of "lynch him!" "tar and feather him!" filled the air as the crowd moved toward the residence of Stephen Ford. A telephone message was sent to police headquarters and the patrol wagon with officers arrived just as an attempt was being made to break in the doors and drag out the Rockford man. The mob was driven back and a guard was placed around the house.

This application is made by attorneys for Morse & Co. and other large creditors, whose claims aggregate about $225,000. The matter was to have been presented to the attorney general last Friday, but at the request of Lawyer Dailey it was deferred until today.

HE MADE A BREAK.

Cummings Evidently Ought to Have Kept Still With His Libel Suit.

LONDON, June 4.—The proceedings of yesterday in the baccarat case were sufficiently exciting to bring even a larger audience than usual of aristocrats this morning. Friends of Sir Wm. Gordon Cumming are cast down by the terribly damaging testimony given by young Wilson yesterday. Counsel for the defense seem to be in a cheery mood. At the hour of opening the court, the lord chief justice turned to salute with a bow the prince of Wales, and the court was declared in order.

Counsel for the prosecution at once resumed cross examination of young Stanley Wilson. After the first night's disclosures witness was ready to stake his life that the plaintiff had been guilty of cheating. Continuing, he said: "My mother and myself began play on the second night (Sept. 9, 1890), fully believing that the line which had been chalked on the table would prevent any further attempts at cheating. In reply to a question, witness answered that not a word had up to that time been said to the plaintiff about the matter. "What," he naively asked, "was my word against that of Sir William Gordon Cumming?" On the night in question and within twenty minutes from the opening of the game witness observed that Sir William was again playing foul. He said that the plaintiff did not put his hand over the chalk line until he had assured himself that his side had won. When he had made certain of this plaintiff moved over a tenner, thus increasing his stake of £5 to £15. He had not at once exposed the fraud because there were ladies present, and it would have been an "ungentlemanly thing to have a row.

Young Wilson was here allowed to leave the box and Lieut. Levett, one of the baccarat players and a defendant to the suit, was called by the defense. Mr. Levett confirmed the testimony given by the preceding witness. He saw Sir William raise his bets by adding counters. There had been, witness declared, no agreement to watch Sir William's play on the second night. Witness, on the contrary, had purposely avoided watching on that occasion. Witness had faithfully kept the compact of secrecy. When the plaintiff had asked witness, "could not you say you were mistaken," latter replied: "I would for your sake, and for the sake of the regiment, but Lycett Green wont. He saw you adding counters."

As the witness made this most damaging statement the oppressive silence was broken by no other sound than that of Lieut. Levett's voice. It was one of the most sensational points in the trial.

ALGER AND BLAINE

General Russell A. Alger Expresses Some Opinions as to Himself and the Convention.

Senator Hoar Believes That Blaine is Just Where he Wants to Be.

That His Present Slight Illness Doesn't Count for Anything at All.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Ex-Governor Russell Alger, who, with his family arrived yesterday at the Grand Pacific hotel, shows little indication of recent illness, yet he has been for some time seriously sick and in this condition his entire family has joined him. One of his children died about three months ago. In consequence of all this he yesterday claimed not to be in touch with political matters beyond what he learned from the newspapers.

"The statement, has repeatedly been made," said he, "that in addition to Mr. Foraker's visiting the Cincinnati convention of republican clubs for the express purpose of saying unkind things of President Harrison—an absurdity which I believe has been sufficiently disproved—Mr. Clarkson went there not only to secure the presidency of the league but to inaugurate a boom for myself in 1892. As a matter of fact I know, and the members of the league know as well, that Mr. Clarkson did not desire the office which they insisted upon giving him. As for his other alleged object in going to Cincinnati it is only necessary to say that he was not there at all, that I had no one else there as an envoy, and that my name was not once mentioned during the entire time of the convention."

Gov. Alger left last night for the West.

The Bosh About Blaine Refuted.

NEW YORK, June 4.—A special to the World from Ellsworth, Maine, says that Senator Hale, at whose home Secretary Blaine is stopping, asked a reporter why the newspaper men followed up Mr. Blaine so closely. The reporter replied that they did not want to be "left" in case of any important political developments, such for example as Mr. Blaine's possible retirement from the cabinet or his coming out as a presidential candidate.

Senator Hale responded: "I have never heard of such a thing as his resignation. I don't believe it has ever been thought of, and if you ask me whether I regard it as a probability I will say I don't think there is the slightest chance of it. Blaine is not in vigorous health at present, but a period of rest will re-invigorate him and he will return to his post like a lion refreshed.

"There never was a time when Blaine was more happily placed as far as public work is concerned. The work in hand pleases him to a dot. I think his dearest wish is to continue in his present post and go on with the work which he has so ably handled to the present. I do not believe the notion of resignation has ever occurred to Blaine or been suggested to him by his friends. In regard to future presidential nominations I will only say that Blaine can always rely upon the state of Maine for anything within her power."

California's Fair Building.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Nine architects competed for the $5000 prize offered for the best design for the California building at the World's fair. The plans have been examined, and while they differ widely in some respects, there is great similarity in them in the fundamental ideas. All contestants thought that to be typically Californian the building should have some of the old mission features. The California commission and the Chicago committee on buildings will decide which plan to accept. The building is to cost $100,000.

The Quickest Execution.

L'ORIGINAL, Ont., June 4.—Narcisse Larocque was hanged this morning for the murder of Mary and Eliza McGonigal last October. The drop fell at 8:05 o'clock. The execution was probably the most expeditious on record. Exactly five minutes from the time the hangman pinioned his arms, Larocque was swung into eternity. He died without a word and without the slightest sign of fear. He made no confession.

Stormswept Hoosierland.

LAFORT, Ind., June 4.—A severe storm struck this city about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, doing an immense amount of damage. The roof of the King & Field's large warehouse was torn off, and large stores of woolen goods were watersoaked and ruined, entailing a loss of $40,000. It is estimated that $75,000 will not cover the amount of damage throughout the town.

The Biggest Lumber Company.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., June 4.—One of the largest lumber companies in the country has been formed at Tonawanda. It is backed by New York capitalists, quoted at $6,000,000. The name is the Tonawanda Lumber and Sawmill company. Officers of the company are located at Bay City, Michigan, Tonawanda, and this city.

HE DIED A HERMIT.

But Property to the Value of $3,000,000 has Been Found.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., June 4.—Preliminary proceedings in the estate of Joseph Wallace, known as "The Hermit of Palmyra," the latter being a country settlement a few miles from here, are being taken in court. Wallace has lived for many years past in a little hut in the settlement in question. Nobody resided with him and his only sustenance was what he could raise in his little garden, and the wild fruits of the summer. He was never known to have a dollar, and but for the hermit-like life which he led, would often have shared the bounty of his neighbors who pitied his forlorn condition.

There is a mystery back of his life which has yet to be revealed. He met his death recently by falling on some burning brush during the forest fires, and was buried by charity. A few days thereafter it was developed that he was worth, at least $3,000,000. In a vault of the Guarantee Trust and Safe Deposit company there were found 100,000 shares in the United railroads of New York, now quoted at $225 a share, together with numerous other securities, and all recorded in his name. The dividend coupons of these had not been removed for many years. It has also developed that he owned large quantities of real estate the rents of which had been collected for years by a lawyer and deposited to the credit of the hermit in the bank.

The attorney who has the estate in hand, has so far discovered twenty-seven heirs.

MARINE MENTION.

The Badger State Ashore at Erie; Wards' Newest Craft; Storm Notes.

ERIE, Pa., June 4.—Captain Wm. Clark, superintendent of the life saving station of this port, was drowned in the surf about 2 o'clock this morning. The propeller Badger State had been driven on the beach about a mile from the flash light and Captain Clark's crew went to her assistance. While endeavoring to pass a line from the propeller to the tug Erie the lifeboat was capsized by a high wave and failed to right itself. The crew clamored onto its bottom, but another wave struck the captain and hurled him about thirty feet from the boat. The crew were unable to render him any assistance. The upturned boat washed ashore with the men still clinging to her.

The Craig, a large freight steamer, is also aground and in danger of being destroyed. The revenue cutter Perry is at the scene doing all she can to reach the Badger State, but no small boat can live in the sea. The Buffalo life crew is on the way to Erie with Capt. Dobbins, superintendent of the district.

A PRETTY SIGHT.

Twenty big Vessels in the Offing Early This Morning.

The storm abated considerably during the night and by 7:30 the 107 and Barlum had hoisted anchors and were nearing their docks in charge of tugs. Neither had suffered any damage from the storm. Both captains reported that they were not even uncomfortable outside. The 107 pulled but very little on her anchor and could have stood a much heavier sea without any trouble.

Along toward evening the Kittie M. Forbes came down the lake and made a try to get into the harbor. Just as she was at the outer end of the canal she slewed so suddenly toward the north pier that it seemed a foregone conclusion that she must run on it. However, she didn't, and in a few seconds was safe within the harbor. Vesselmen who saw how her steering gear acted concluded that the captain had good reason for remaining outside all day. The G. G. Hadley came in at 10:25, the Toledo at 3:25 a. m., and the Panther at 6:20 a. m.

Shortly after midnight the large fleet that had been windbound prepared to get away, and when people were ready to take up the cares of another day about as pretty a sight as is ever seen in these parts presented itself for miles down the lake. The Denver got away at 1:35, the America at 2:20, Gratwick at 3:50, United Empire at 4, Empire State at 4:20, E. B. Hale at 4:50, Glidden at 5:20, Tower and Wadena at 5:30, F. W. Wheeler and Ashland at 6, G. W. Morley and Ewing at 6:05, John Owen at 6:20, Iron Age and Iron City at 6:40 and Sam Marshall and James D. Savage at 7:20.

THE EBER WARD LINE.

Capt. Ward Getting There Against the Freezeout Company.

Eber Ward's new line is getting there with both feet and the general public is very glad of it. One by one Capt. Ward has added vessels to his fleet until now he has four. The latest acquisition is the propeller B. W. Blanchard, a vessel of 1024 registered tonnage, a little larger than the James Fiske Jr., and capable of carrying 1200 gross tons of freight. She was built at Cleveland by Martin in '70 and has had considerable repairs of late so that she is in good condition, being classed A 2 and valued at $45,000. Hitherto she has been running between Ogdensburgh and Chicago. She is expected here from Buffalo on Monday and will hereafter run between Duluth and Ogdensburgh. The Toledo is the only boat of the four that will run exclusively between Buffalo and Duluth.

Marine Notes

A TREASURE TRIAL

Editor Bernard of the La Prairie Village Treasury Said to be in Trouble.

He Attempts to Move the Paper to Grand Rapids, But an Attachment Issues.

For La Prairie People Say he is Short in His Village Accounts.

Editor A. G. Barnard, of La Prairie, publisher of the Weekly Magnet, and village treasurer, appears to be in trouble. La Prairie is the town near the present end of the Duluth & Winnipeg road and between it and Grand Rapids there has been a constant fight. Barnard has been pegging away vociferously with his paper for a year against Grand Rapids and its people. He was last year elected village treasurer of La Prairie.

Evidently wearying of the fight against the other town Barnard at midnight last night attempted to move his newspaper outfit to Grand Rapids but the project was quickly frustrated by citizens who have taken great pride in the fact that they have been able to run a paper steadily for a year while Grand Rapids couldn't, and an attachment was issued.

Ground for this attachment was that Barnard as village treasurer was short in his accounts to the village and the citizens now hold the plant of the Magnet in the barn of the Fraser hotel.

The Herald, doubting the report, as Mr. Bernard is well and very favorably known in Duluth and respected here, this noon telegraphed to La Prairie to learn the facts. The following answer was received:

"La Prairie—The Magnet outfit was attached on account of the shortage of funds of the village treasurer. Attempted to move it to the Rapids at midnight, but landed in Frazer house barn."

R. C. Mitchell says that within a few days the plant, which was purchased from Bernard by himself and some other Grand Rapids capitalists, will soon be taken to its destination. Lawyer Pratt, who is to move from La Prairie, will associate himself with Bernard as editor.

CIRCULATION NEEDED.

New York Banks Believe in Extending the Four and a Half Per Cents.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Secretary Foster met a large number of bankers at the subtreasury this morning to discuss the extension of the 4½ per cent bonds. After discussion, Mr. Seligman was called to the chair and the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That this meeting, composed of representatives of banks, trust companies and bankers of New York, hereby express to the secretary its unanimous opinion that in view of the necessity for an increase of circulating notes for the movement of the abundant coming crops of every variety, it is to the interest of the country to extend the maturing 4½ per cent bonds at the rate of 2 per cent interest, payable at the pleasure of the government, and that a lower rate of interest would tend to contract the currency at a time inconvenient to the business interests.

The banks notified the secretary that they stood ready to buy the bonds and take out circulation against them. This would increase the amount of the currency in the country by $28,000,000. The secretary will probably issue at 2 per cent.

LOSSING DIES.

Another Great One of America's Historians Dies.

NEW YORK, June, 4.—Benson J. Lossing, the well known historian, died at his home in Chestnut Ridge, N. Y., yesterday of heart failure, at the age of 78 years.

Benson John Lossing was born on a farm in Beckman county, N. Y., Feb. 12, 1813, and lost his father while in infancy. He attended the common school and at an early age was apprenticed to a watchmaker in Philadelphia, who afterward took him into partnership. Two years later he became joint proprietor and editor of the Poughkeepsie Telegram, and in 1836 began with his brother the publication of the Poughkeepsie Casket. In 1838 he learned wood engraving, was employed to edit and illustrate the Family Magazine, and in 1839 established himself in New York city as an engraver. In 1848 he began and in 1850-2 published his "Pictorial Field Book of the Revolution" in thirty numbers. He was for many years a contributor to illustrated periodicals in this country and England. In 1866 he published in three volumes an illustrated field book of the civil war, and is the author of many historical sketches and biographies. Since 1868 he has lived near Dover Plains, Duchess county, N. Y. The Michigan university in 1873 conferred upon him the degree of L. L. D.

Heart Failure the Danger.

OTTAWA, June 4, 1:30 p. m.—Sir John Macdonald passed a fairly comfortable night and is now asleep, though restless. His cerebral symptoms are slightly improved, owing doubtless to the fact that having lived six days since his seizure, partial absorption has had time to take place. His heart's action, however, is extremely feeble and very irregular and its failure is at present the chief danger.

Virginia Bondholders.

RICHMOND, June 4.—The conference between the state debt commission and the bond holders' committee terminated yesterday. Both sides refuse to make any statement. It is understood that the committee fully explained the terms they desired, but that the two bodies are about $5,000,000 apart in their figures. The committee returned to New York for another conference with the bondholders.

THE CANADIAN MINISTRY.

Under an old law the Canadian ministry will not, in case of Sir John Macdonald's death, be obliged to appeal to the country for re-election, but may resign and resume its duties again in a new ministry within thirty days. There is a strong feeling in the conservative party that Sir Charles Tupper should succeed Macdonald, though his attitude toward the Grand Trunk railways is not intended to help him in gaining this honor. The feeling between catholics and protestants, though not a political issue is such as to handicap Sir John Thompson who is an adherent of the Roman church. One or two aspirants are just now under social or political clouds that preclude their candidacy.

Sir Charles Tupper who is, therefore, the almost certain winner, is not unknown to Americans who have followed continental affairs during the past generation. He was born in Nova Scotia, July 2, 1821, and is a ripe student in Canadian affairs. He was educated for the medical profession but entered public life in 1855 and has served the public in some capacity ever since. From 1864 till 1867 he was prime minister of Nova Scotia, but was a strong advocate of Canadian federation and upon the formation of the Union in 1867 he entered the Dominion parliament. Declining a portfolio from Sir John Macdonald in his first cabinet, Sir Charles entered it in 1870 as president of the council. Since then his political career has been identified with that of the now dying premier, he being at present high commissioner from the Dominion to the mother country. He was one of the commissioners on the part of the British government to negotiate the fisheries treaty with the United States in 1887, and is not a stranger at Washington. In political circles on both sides of the Atlantic his name is a familiar one, and whether he could revive the waning power of the conservative party or not, he would while his power survived give an administration in every way creditable to his country.

LET YOUR LIGHT SO SHINE.

The Herald is not much given to self laudation, but one cannot hide his light under a bushel and expect it to be seen any great distance. While The Herald has said little or nothing during the past two months concerning its business, it has nevertheless been "sawing wood," and today stands in the lead by a large majority so far as circulation is concerned. The Herald now prints an issue of 2800 copies daily—not the largest in the West, nor in the world, but by far the largest regular edition ever reached by a daily paper in Duluth, "sworn and certified" circulation affidavits to the contrary notwithstanding. This list is being augmented by an addition of from twelve to twenty-five new names a day—this has been the record for the past two weeks and is a pretty good indication of popularity. This popularity also rests on good foundation.

The Herald leads not only in number of readers but in matters of news as well. If anyone will take the trouble to compare the papers of this city he will find that nine times out of ten The Herald relates all important happenings of the day just twelve hours before its contemporaries.

The Herald is here to stay, to stand up and fight for the best interests of Duluth and Duluth only. Its columns are as free as the air to any interest that will add to the development of Duluth. In this path The Herald expects to hold forth so long as the sun, which in this instance is Duluth, do move.

It seems in bad taste, to say the least, that while John S. Wise, a Virginian and confederate soldier, was delivering a eulogy at the tomb of Grant, so influential a Northern paper as the Toledo Blade should publish a poem which declares the boys in blue were "murdered by rebel hands." There ought to be some reciprocity in this oblivion business. War is indeed cruel, but no more agonizing to us than to them. Richmond alone holds 30,000 confederate dead, and when her chosen son, to whom all this is a profound sorrow, can lift his voice in eulogy of the conqueror, whose army made these graves needed as many more, it is pretty late for indictments of murder to be made.

The Cincinnati convention's committee on credentials reported 1417 delegates from thirty-seven States entitled to seats. Of these 411 came from Kansas, 317 from Ohio, 154 from Indiana, 94 from Nebraska, 88 from Illinois, 73 from Mississippi, 59 from Kentucky, 32 each from Iowa and Missouri, 30 from Minnesota, 26 from Texas, and so on from Maine to the Grande. The Dominion of Canada sent six and will, it is understood, send representatives to the electoral college of the peoples party. The movement was sufficiently general to make this new party a great disturber of results. It will bear watching.

The storm of the past few days though happily not very destructive was one of the most severe in a decade on Lake Superior. The lashing waters as seen from a distance with laden vessels careening on the liquid heights and valleys was a magnificent sight. The helplessness of man amid the elements as in playful or angry mood they become aroused must have been deeply impressed on every mind that beheld the wind and water in their spring time sports. But wearied at last of the contest they are once more at rest, and commerce pursues its course again.

Those readers of The Herald who do not make a pastime of card playing may not know that "baccarat," from which comes the London trint in which the prince of Wales is a witness, is a French game recently introduced in England. The peculiar feature is that the stakes are doubled every time the player loses, and the game is thus continued till one becomes a bankrupt. There is nothing in the United States that very closely resembles it except politics.

The goddess Ceres appears to be a smiler this year. She has her cornucopia loaded for Western grangers. The cold snap has come and gone without probability of frost, and gladness is the common inheritance of all. If the present prospects continue, 10,000 mortgage scalps will be lifted from Western farms before snow flies, and next winter's firesides and chimney corners will be the happiest for many a year.

The state board of corrections and charities which has been taking a turn at things in the Stillwater penitentiary past and present, adjourned Tuesday till July 1. Cradle Song.

The following verses from the Youths Companion are by Thomas Dunn English, congressman from Newark, N. J.

In the garden of dreamland a flower ever grows
In form like a lily, in hue like a rose,
With odor like jessamine sprinkled with dew,
And it bourgeons and blossoms, my darling, for you.
Then travel, my baby to dreamland,
Slowly rock, cradle, to carry the baby;
Steadily, readily rock, and it may be,
Ere she shall know it, the baby will go,
Happily smiling to dreamland.

In the garden of dreamland in summer is heard,
Trilling there in the moonlight, a beautiful bird;
And it sings, and it sings, all the pleasant night through,
And its music, my darling, is only for you.
Then travel, my baby to dreamland,
Slowly rock, cradle, to carry the baby,
Steadily, readily rock, and it may be,
Ere she shall know it, the baby will go,
Happily smiling, to dreamland.

Tomorrow my darling, refreshed by her rest,
With the bird in her hand, and the flower on her breast,
Shall return to her mother and frolic and crow,
But tonight on her journey to dreamland must go,
Then travel, dear baby, to dreamland,
Slowly rock, cradle, to carry the baby,
Steadily, readily rock, and it may be,
Ere she shall know it, the baby will go,
Happily smiling, to dreamland.

But Bide a Wee, Sweet Friend.

Duluth News: The Herald, as usual, knows all about the proposed townsite at Sucker bay and railroad from there to the Mesaba range and, as usual, it quotes the News as saying things it never said. The News was the only paper that had sufficient enterprise to send a man to visit the ground and report what he saw there, and that is what ails old "previously mentioned."

DAKOTA'S ROARING WELL.

Immense Force Exerted at the Outlet of a Subterranean Reservoir.

[South Dakota Huronite.]

The artesian well on the Valley stock farm continues to attract great crowds of people. And well it may, for it is really the wonder of the age. Following the tests made of the pressure on Saturday and Sunday the cap was removed, and through a nozzle a two-and-a-half-inch stream of water was shot up into the air a distance of 125 to 140 feet. The direct course of the stream was greatly interfered with by the crossbeams and braces of the derrick. With a clear way and no wind a two-and-a-half-inch stream would be sent 160 feet into the air. So great is the pressure that pine boards six inches wide and one inch thick, used as stays and braces on the derrick fifty feet above the mouth of the well were broken by the force of the water. While this nozzle was on, the derrick, which is seventy-five feet high, was almost hidden from view by the spray and jettings of the stream, presenting a sight as beautiful as it was wonderful.

Later in the evening, Mr. Weston, manager of the well, who has had charge of the drilling, removed the two-and-a-half inch nozzle and placed upon the pipe a four inch one. Immediately a stream four inches in diameter shot up nearly seventy feet, deluging everything in its descent. This was accompanied by a deep roaring sound and frequent sharp reports resembling the discharge of a rifle were heard. This stream, as well as the smaller one, struck the walking beam and broke much of its force.

The amount of water that flows from the well is tremendous, being estimated at from 8000 to 10,000 gallons per minute. Even at the lowest figure enough pours out of the well to furnish every man, woman and child in the state of South Dakota with at least four gallons of water every twenty-four hours. As to the pressure, that has not been fully ascertained, but from tests already made it is known to be considerably more than 200 pounds to the square inch. With a fair test is likely to reach 228 pounds. The pressure has steadily increased for the last three days and may exceed the above figures.

The well is now 960 feet deep, and as soon as machinery now ordered arrives the work of reaming the hole to eight inches in diameter, making an eight-inch well from top to bottom, will be prosecuted. The water is soft, clear and pleasant to the taste. It is flooding the low places in the vicinity, and although great ditches have been dug to carry it into the Jim river, acres of water may be seen in every direction. Without doubt this is the greatest artesian well in the world.

[Kate Field's Washington.]

The king was old and stern of face;
The queen was young and full of grace.
Did she find him cold? Ah, who can say
How chill December seems in May.

The velvet train of queen so fair
Was borne by a page with golden hair.
Did she backward glance—did she smile or sigh?
To a whispered word did she look reply?

When on the scaffold stood page and queen,
'Twas a pitiful sight as e'er was seen;
As she knelt at the block he flung him down
To kiss the hem of her velvet gown.

Oregon's Mild Winters.

Senator Dolph in June Forum: The climate of both Oregon and Washington is mild and equable. In western Oregon and Washington it is difficult to draw the lines that divide the seasons. Winter is usually a wet season, but there are often long periods of perfect weather in February and March. Flowers frequently bloom in the open air in January, and green fields of growing grass and grain may be seen all winter. Once or twice during the winter a few inches of snow falls, but it disappears rapidly. At intervals of several years occurs a winter with ten days or two weeks of freezing weather and a considerable fall of snow. The summers are cool, and excessive heat is unknown. In Eastern Oregon and Washington the climate is different. The dry season of summer is more protracted, the rainfall is less, and the heat is greater, though it is never excessive. The winters are colder, but of short duration, the snowfall is light and seldom lies long in the valleys, and live stock ranges on the plains all winter, thriving on the natural grasses without other food, except when the snow is unusually deep or the cold period unusually protracted.

The Decay of the Book-buying Habit.

Henry Holt in June Forum: The book buying habit has fallen off; the pamphlet buying habit has taken its place. The pamphlet soon finds its way to the waste basket, which, in many cases, it should never have risen above, and the permanent possessions of the household are less than they ought to be by one book. The average American citizen's source of intellectual pabulum is now the "news stand." It and the toy shops with piles of pamphlet "libraries" at one end have too generally succeeded the bookstore. The old habit of dropping into the bookstore and buying the latest good thing—latest in form or matter—is now indulged in by few people and in relatively few places.

CONJECTURE OF DISTRIBUTION OF POPULATION IN 1900.

The Upper End of St. Louis Bay being filled except the Channel.

To those who have never studied the geography of the Head of the Lake, we would say that West Duluth is on a nearly level plane about equal in breadth from water's edge to foothill to that on which Cincinnati stands, but much longer; while above this the hillside generally rises gradually, affording the same kind of Residence Sites as are found East of Duluth, with a view extending from Fond du Lac to the horizon on Lake Superior.

On the other side we have St. Louis Bay and River, furnishing a harbor sufficiently large to accommodate the commerce of Chicago, Cleveland and Buffalo, all at one time.

The center of the future line of shipping will be about midway between Minnesota Point and Spirit Lake. This is clearly shown by the fact that more dock building has been done in West Duluth within the past year than in Duluth and West Superior both together. The center of general trade is always on the level land, most convenient to the center of commerce, and convenient to this without being in it is the most valuable residence property.

The larger circular device in view marks the location of Belmont Park and Sharp's Addition.

Belmont Park and Sharp's Addition are the Choice Residence Districts.

A TOWN EXTINGUISHER

That is What the Canadian Pacific is Proving to Port Arthur on the North Shore.

A European Grain Expert Talks on the Crop Situation and Prices Here and Abroad.

The Latest Gleanings Regarding that Sucker Bay Railway Project Already Mentioned.

Assistant State Geologist H. V. Winchell, with his wife, left this morning for Port Arthur, where they will spend the summer, having rented a house there. Mr. Winchell will devote himself to the development of several excellent silver properties in the Thunder bay district and in examinations of the iron country of the Atic Okan and elsewhere.

"Down in Port Arthur," said he "they are very much troubled over the action of the Canadian Pacific railway and well they may be. The road has given Port Arthur the go by entirely and now doesn't even have its boats stop there. All its passenger, merchandise, wheat and coal business is done at Fort William. Imagine what would be the result here if Duluth had only one railway and that one transferred all its trade to some other point and did not even allow its vessels to land a passenger here.

"Port Arthur is getting just about what it deserves, some say, in this fight. It tried to beat the railroad, attached some of its property and otherwise made a fuss and Mr. Van Horne got warm and the result is plain. They say over in Canada that the Canadian Pacific road owns the country and they are not far from the truth. There's a few factions in Port Arthur that try to run things and if they don't succeed in running they try to ruin. It is not good for the town in either case."

CROP PRICES.

European Crops as Sized Up by a Glasgow Importer.

Henry Osborne, a grain and flour merchant of Glasgow, Scotland, is in Duluth with his wife today looking up the business. He is a friend of Henry Taylor, of the board of trade.

"The crop outlook in Europe is very unfavorable," said he to a Herald reporter. "If nothing untoward occurs in the next few months your wheat crop on this side will be immense and it looks as if we should need a great deal of it, more than for years. There is no other place where the food for Europe can be had and if anything should happen to your crop here the Lord only knows where prices would go to. It does not seem possible that we shall ever see such prices for wheat as we have had. There never was reason in seventy-five cents a bushel for wheat and if it is less that $1 hereafter I shall be surprised. The long successful campaign of the believers in low prices has rather made the other side timid, but the European grain and flour men feel very strong in the futures of high prices.

"I spent the winter in Southern France and Italy. It was very cold even there, but in traveling north a few weeks ago through the agricultural districts of France the desolation of the wheat fields was pitiful. They are plowing up their fields.

"I was the first man" continued Mr. Osborne, "who formed a joint stock English company to operate American mills. A 2000 barrels Cleveland mill was purchased and is operated by an English company. In general the investments of Englishmen in American joint stock manufacturing companies have proved successful, in fact whenever there was a good thing sold it has continued good. The number of wild-cat schemes floated in London was tremendous and these, of course, do not do any better than they ought. Undoubtedly there will not be much promoting of companies done for some time to come."

THE SUCKER ROAD.

That Railway From Sucker Bay That is now Being Built.

S. O. Brooks, the "railroad magnate," who was to come here, The Herald's morning contemporaries state, to decide about building a railroad from Sucker bay to Everywhere, actually hove in sight yesterday and rallied out, with his wife and a fishing rod, for a quiet little fish at Sucker river. He returned last night and went back to St. Paul.

As a result of his visit both enterprising morning dailies have a good deal to say this morning. To the News, which saw him, he "was somewhat reticent concerning the proposed townsite at Sucker bay and the Duluth, Red Lake Falls & Northern, which will be the name of the road to be built from that point to the Mesaba range. However, he did say that there was a splendid opportunity for a harbor at Stony Point and that a good breakwater can be constructed there with comparatively small outlay."

To the Tribune, which didn't see him, he said:

"I know that things are now in such a condition that there is no possibility of the scheme falling through. The mainspring of the whole undertaking is the building of the Duluth, Red Lake Falls & Northern road. We have capital now interested sufficient to build the road. I am largely interested myself and have been delegated as a representative of a St. Paul road to take care of the interests of Southern and Eastern friends in the matter. Before anything is done toward building up the town, the construction of the road will commence. We have a fine harbor at Sucker bay and will erect ore docks there. The road, of course, will be built into Duluth, and we fully recognize that fact. The only difficulty now in the way is the reconciling of diverse interests."

The delightful harmony no less than the beautiful definiteness of these two statements is apparent to the veriest Sucker.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The Duluth Diocesan Union Completes its Organization.

At the diocesan total abstinence convention yesterday afternoon the following officers were elected: Spiritual director, Bishop McGolrick; president, J. T. Elliott; first vice president, John Murphy; second vice president, R. A. Hutchinson; secretary, Jacob Laux; treasurer, P. H. Barry, of Duluth. County officers are as follows: Lake county—B. F. Griffin, president; John Murphy, secretary. Crow Wing—P. Hanley, president; J. F. Garrity, secretary. Pine—J. F. Egan, president; J. M. McNamara, secretary. St. Louis—M. A. McMahon, president; Gilbert McArthur, of Tower, secretary. Delegates to the national convention to be held in Washington, Aug. 5, 1891: C. P. Maginnis, Father Lawler and Rev. J. Buh. It was decided to hold the next convention at Duluth in June, 1892.

In the evening a literary and musical entertainment was given in the Catholic Association hall. Among others Mayor Davis, C. E. Shannon, Father Corbett, Duluth; A. W. Gutridge, of St. Paul, and Father Buh, delivered addresses. A program of songs and recitations as announced yesterday was carried out and the Duluth Diocesan Total Abstinence society was formed.

THE LYCEUM.

Rapidly Nearing Completion Inside the Splendid Pile.

The marble floors in the corridors of the Lyceum are gradually being swept clean and made ready for use. All the iron stairways, except that from the ground to the second floor, are in place and the building begins to assume a finished appearance. The beauty, elegance and superb finish of the structure becomes more apparent daily, and it is not the slightest exaggeration to say that the Lyceum would not be anything but a great credit to any city in the land. If there is a fire proof building in America it is one.

In the theater part of the building, the decorating, is completed, except about the boxes, the sounding board just in front of the stage, and the lower gallery. The floors are nearly all laid and the auditorium is about ready for seats. On the stage everything is complete. Marble and brass work in the lobby and galleries is about done.

Settlers on the North Boundary.

There has been a large influx of settlers on both sides of the Rainy river this spring, a large party having passed through Port Arthur only last week, says the Winnipeg Free Press. Along the river front of the Canadian side about all the land has been taken up, and back from the river much settlement has been done. On the Minnesota side parties are engaged surveying the Red Lake reserve preparatory to throwing it open to settlement. Already settlers are ready to jump upon these lands, and no sooner will they be declared open than the land will be all taken up.

Clan Stewart's Success.

Clan Stewart made great preparations for its last night social and it was a great and unique success. It was attended by about 200 people, members of the Clan and a very few invited guests. The feature of the entertainment was the presentation to ex-Chief Simon Clark of a life-size portrait of himself and a silver fruit dish, richly mounted, with the inscription, "Presented to Simon Clark, Chief of the Clan Stewart, 1887-90." Chief Wilson made a happy presentation speech. He alluded to Mr. Clark in terms of praise. Mr. Clark responded warmly, thanking the members for their friendship and good will. A very pleasant musical program was given and a dance closed the entertainment.

Then the Post Doesn't Exist Now?

The Car Service.

The Lake Superior Car Service association handled 9864 cars last month, of which the St. Paul & Duluth handled 2934, the Omaha 1683, the Northern Pacific 2111, Eastern Minnesota 3048, Duluth & Iron Range 62, and Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic 26. In this amount there are 2838 cars of wheat, 312 of hay, 171 flour and feed.

The Chronic Kicker.

The poet says: "What is more perfect than a day in June?" And nowhere in the world are June days so perfect as in the great Northwest. And yet for some inscrutable purpose Providence permits the Chronic Kicker to infest even June days. You have seen the "Kicker," haven't you? Of no particular sex or age, "he, shoe, or it," is omnipresent, always awake and on the lookout for something to growl about. The genus is divided into several species, the political Kicker, the financial Kicker, the religious Kicker, the social Kicker, and so on, ad infinitum. Don't you wish you could escape it? Well, you can't, but there is one place where you will find less of him, her, etc., than anywhere else—and that is on the luxurious vestibuled trains of "The Burlington running between Minneapolis and St. Paul and Chicago and St. Louis. To get as far away from the Kicker as possible insist on your ticket agent selling you a ticket over "The Burlington." For any further information about the line, rates, etc., address W. J. C. Kenyon, general passenger agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

CITY BRIEFS.

Mortgages bought. Collateral and short time loans wanted. CLARK & FITZGER.

Next Sunday evening the ladies of the W. C. T. U. will hold a meeting at the Second baptist church.

Health Officer Goffe has appointed E. A. Burbank health inspector, vice Tousley, of malodorous reputation.

The public is indebted to Harbormaster Miller for the sidewalk in front of the Union depot connecting Fifth and Sixth avenues.

The ladies of the German catholic church give a strawberry festival and fair at the church this evening. It will be continued tomorrow night.

The Alliance club Saturday night will discuss the question: "Resolved, That the street railway company be granted a franchise in West Duluth for forty-one years."

A strawberry and ice cream social which had been arranged for Friday evening at the methodist church at Lester Park has been indefinitely postponed owing to the weather.

Donald Grant, the Duluth & Winnipeg railroad contractor, states that he looks for the dullest year in railroad building in the United States that we have had for many a year.

Building permits have been issued as follows: C. F. Lindstrom, fram dwelling on lot 1, block 46, east side of Nineteenth avenue, $900; Daniel Cummings, same on lot 24, First division, $700.

Mrs. Rebecca Raab has notified the city through her attorney that she expects to collect damages for injuries received by falling on May 31 into a hole in front of 103 West Superior street, made by the Duluth Gas and Water company.

The St. Paul & Pacific Coal company has not yet received a cargo or its own this season, which is certainly something remarkable, considering the low rates now ruling. A year ago its docks were blocked by vessels that bunched along early in the season.

Jury today in the case of H. W. Haynes vs. the city rendered a verdict of $205.77 for the plaintiff. The suit of the Duluth Brown Stone company vs. the Booth Packing company to recover about $700 for damages to a scow, is now in the hands of the grand jury.

It appears that Wm. Rogers, who was thought yesterday afternoon to have died of heart disease about 4 o'clock, actually died in the morning. He was lying under a card table about which men were playing all day, they believing him to be in a drunken sleep. He was in fact dead, and the card game was carried on all day, with its attendant drinking and language, over his body. A strange thing, truly.

Hoare's orchestra will be assisted Friday evening by Mrs. F. S. Wardwell, Mrs. J. N. McKindley and Mr. Walter N. Ingalls. The concert is not one of a series as erroneously stated.

We buy notes and short time paper Also purchase money mortgages. Clark & Crossley, 402 Palladio building.

Good three, five and ten year mortgage loans wanted. T. O. HALL.

50 feet in block 12, Central division, Duluth, only $14,000 if taken at once. Yeager Bros. & Von Suessmilch.

THE TOLEDO'S TROUBLE.

Capt. Lindsay Never Saw Such a Storm on Lake Superior.

Capt. Geo. Lindsay of the propeller Toledo, reports having a lively time the other side of Onter island, but takes exception to the statement of one paper that he threw a good part of his cargo of lime overboard.

"You see," said the captain, "the wind was on our quarter and as it blew a gale the water came over the vessel astern at a lively rate. We had 200 barrels of lime aboard for Ontonagon and about 500 tons of Brownstone for Quinby & Omeis, which we had taken on at Houghton. While we were tossing about one of the big stones on our deck weighing ten tons shifted, and made the vessel list considerably. About the same time a big wave came along and some of it got among the lime. In a few minutes three barrels were quite hot and two more were beginning to warm up. We soon had the five barrels overboard. We put in to Ashland and remained there until last night.

"It was the worst storm I ever saw on Lake Superior, and people at Ashland were of the same opinion. The water was so rough in Ashland harbor that vessels had to anchor instead of remaining at the dock."

By night the Toledo will probably unload her cargo of stone and will then take on a little flour and proceed to Ontonagon to unload the lime. From there she will proceed to Houghton and take on a load of brownstone for Buffalo.

The Land Office.

"The reason the several important land office cases set for June 9 and later are to be delayed" said Monroe Nichols last night, "is because Register Colville has positively stated that he would have nothing to do with the trial of them. They are very important cases, involving property valued at many hundreds of thousands of dollars, and touching some of the knottiest legal points. Mr. Colville does not want to be mixed up in these cases at their opening because he will not remain in the office long enough to see them entirely settled and believes the man who starts in ought to finish." There is not much likelihood that the new register will take his seat for some time.

In Municipal Court.

Chas. Renslow, who was arrested in St. Paul for the larceny of $75 from a house on the point, had his examination adjourned until tomorrow afternoon.

M. Johnson, Jacob Waltz, P. Peterson, May Johnson, Matt Mattson and John Gaboreo were sent up for ten days each for drunkeness. Henry Brown and Alex McDonald paid $12 each.

A Launch Ruined.

The steam launch Mars, a neat little affair, which Contractor J. A. Robert brought here from St. Paul this season, broke loose from her moorings in the Northern Pacific slip yesterday morning, brought up against a dock and dropped her anchor overboard. She is so badly smashed that she cannot be repaired.

THE MARKETS.

Wheat is Dull; The Bank of England in Excellent Condition.

Wheat here was again dull. At the opening it was unchanged, failing to respond to the advance in other markets. Later it eased off ¼c to ½c, but firmed up somewhat. Crop news was all very favorable. The weather is growing warmer. Throughout the central west there were light showers. A private dispatch from one point in Southern Kansas to Chicago said wheat cutting has begun there and that the state would cut 60,000,000 bu this year.

The Cincinnati Price Current says: "Winter wheat hardly maintained its average condition, from insects, insufficient moisture and blight from frost in various portions of the West." Clearances from four ports were 188,090 bu of wheat and 22,000 packages of flour.

Cash 1 hard closed at $1.05½; cash 1 northern sold at $1.02½. Cars on track sold at $1.03½ and to arrive at $1.03¾; cash 2 northern closed at 99½c. June 1 hard sold at $1.05½; June 1 northern sold late $1.02½ and closed at $1.03; July 1 hard opened at $1.07¼ and closed at $1.07; July 1 northern opened at $1.04¼, declined to $1.04 closed at $1.04½.

Grain Movement.

Cars grain inspected today were 125, of which 8 were 1 hard, 103 were 1 northern, 6 were 2 northern, 8 were white winter. Receipts were 114,959 bu wheat, 3540 bu corn, 1790 bbls flour. Shipments were 63,000 bu wheat. Cars on track, 107, against 21 same day last year.

New York Money and Stocks.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Money at 3½@4 per cent. Exchange strong; posted rates, 486 for sixty days and 489½ for demand; actual rates, 485@4¼ for sixty-days and 488¾@½ for demand. Governments steady; currency, 6's, 109 bid; 4's, coupon, 120; 4½'s, do, 100 bid.

The stock market was decidedly more active this morning. Two very important developments in the financial world worked at cross purposes on the stock market here. The favorable development was the reduction of the Bank of England's rate of discount from 5 to 4 per cent. The unfavorable development was the reduction of the Rock Island's rate of dividend to ½ per cent for the first quarter of the year, beginning April 1. This reduction was a great surprise. The statement showed that the last dividend was not entirely earned. The deficit for the year ending March 31, after the payment of 4 per cent dividends, was $246,681. The weekly statement of the Bank of England showed an increase of £1,964,000 in bullion and £1,591,000 in reserves. The proportion of the reserve to liability is now 44.35 against 40.60 a week ago. This is an astonishingly good statement. Rock Island opened at 74, selling down to 70⅝; Aside from Rock Island, St. Paul, L. & N. and Burlington were the most active.

Chicago Wheat.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Wheat, corn and oats opened considerably higher than they closed last night. Wheat was affected by the Cincinnati Price Current's estimate of deteriorated condition and by bullish foreign news, corn by light receipts and oats by unfavorable reports. July wheat opened at 98⅝c; July corn, 56¾; July oats, 43⅝c; September pork, $11.82½; July lard $6.50 and July ribs, $6.20.

The following is the close: Wheat, July, 99⅛; September, 95½c. Corn: July, 57⅛@¼c; September, 56c. Oats, July, 43⅞c; September 44⅞c. Pork: July, $10.62½; September, $10.87½. Lard: July, $6.27½; September, $6.50. Ribs: July, $5.92½; September, $6.20.

Chicago Live Stock.

UNION STOCK YARDS, Ill., June 4.—Cattle—Receipts, 11,000; slightly higher. Hogs—Receipts, 35,000; weak and 5@10c lower; heavy. $4.40@4.55; mixed and medium, $4.40@4.57½; light, $4.20@4.50. Sheep—Receipts, 10,000; steady.

Chicago Money.

CHICAGO, June 4.—The clearings were were $15,519,488. Foreign exchange was higher at 485¼ for sixty day, and 488¼ for sight drafts. Exchange on New York opened at 75c premium. It is probable that the daily shipment of currency Eastward will average $300,000.

Bank of England Discounts.

LONDON, June 4.—The reserve of the Bank of England is between £17,000,000 and £18,000,000. Ordinarily this would mean a 2 per cent rate, but it is announced that under existing financial conditions the bank has declared a 4 per cent rate.

Local Bank Clearings.

Todays's local bank clearings were $359,286.45. For the week they were $2,298,688.78.

GIBBONS ON PRIESTS.

Cardinal Wants No Foreign Interference in the Priesthood.

BALTIMORE, June 4.—Cardinal Gibbons is expected to reach here this evening. He returns under imperative instructions from his physician. He is still extremely weak as a result of his recent sickness.

The catholic priesthood of this diocese are watching the developments in the present movement looking towards the appointment of bishops for the United States of the same nationality as the immigrants who settle here with undisguised interest. Should an expression of opinion be asked from Rome of the cardinal regarding the desirability of the matter, the reply would be decisively in the negative. A prominent ecclesiastic close to the cardinal, criticises the movement, characterizing it as an attempt on the part of foreigners to interfere with the church in America, and says Gibbons believes in America for Americans, and would be certain to combat the building up of Germany, Italy and Ireland in this country. Another of the cardinal's advisers, Rev. Dr. I. F. Broydrich, is even more outspoken. He says that the cardinal's palace is in full accord with the utterances recently made by Archbishop Ireland on the question, tant it is not possible that the vatican would entertain the scheme, and that at any rate, no such thing would ever be tolerated in this country.

WOUND ROUND A SHAFT.

A Millwright Meets Probable Death in a Fearful Way.

I. P. Swahgle, of West Duluth, millwright at Duncan, Brewer & Co.'s saw mill, was caught on a shaft in the mill just after the noon hour today and wound around the shafting. Before the mill could be stopped he had received terrible injuries.

At the present time it is impossible to tell the full extent of his hurts, but the doctors in attendance state that his back is broken and that he is seriously injured internally. He was taken to his home on Third avenue west and at last accounts is still alive, although his recovery is not expected by anyone.

Tailor-Made Clothing

WHILE THE IRON IS HOT

IF EVER a time came for buying a tailor-made suit it is here now. Strike while the iron is hot. The first thing to be sure of when you are making an investment is that you are not also making a mistake. Clothes are either a good investment or a bad one. There is no middle grouud. Either you make a wise purchase or a foolish one and when you pay prodigal prices you simply throw away your money. Why do we specially urge you to buy one of our Black Cheviot suits at this particular time? Because there are a few of them left and because in material and make, they defy comparison; while as to the prices, well, just come in and let us show them to you, and we have no hesitation in saying that you will quickly acknowledge that they are the best suits that you have ever seen for the money.

IN OUR Suit Department we can suit everyone, having thousands of styles for you to select from. We can suit the man who earns his $1.75 per day { and none should } get less as well as the man who counts his dollars by millions. All can be fitted here and why should you go to a tailor and pay him twice as much as we would ask you for the same article?

THE FIT of our tailor-made clothing equals the productions of the finest tailors in the land.

OUR ARTIST, Mr. Harry Ermenie, still continues to capture the crowds. He can be seen all this week in our west window, producing life-size portraits in the short time of from two to four minutes.

OUR LAND OFFICE

Appears to be Quite a Bone of Contention Down in Washington Just Now.

Charges, Said to be Grave, Reported Filed Against Candidate Nichols.

Possibly the Presence of Candidate Barrett May Color Them a Trifle.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Acting Secretary Chandler said this morning that President Harrison would soon appoint a successor to Col. Colville, register of the Duluth land office, provided there were not too many additional complications in the case.

From another, but an authentic source, it is learned that charges have been filed against Monroe Nichols, Senator Davis' candidate, by some of his enemies. They are said to be of a serious nature, and the result may be that he will not get the prize. A gentleman who stands close to President Harrison says it would please the President greatly to appoint Davis' candidate, but he will hardly do so unless the charges against Nichols are disproved.

So far as can be learned Senator Washburn's endorsement of Dr. Fred Barrett has not yet been cabled.

Mr. Barrett is expected here this week to urge his case, and the appointment is likely to be made as soon as Secretary Noble, who has been away several weeks, gets settled down to work again.

Monroe Nichols, when asked regarding these charges said they were the work of a fool friend, who during the previous land office fight, when Nichols was up for receivership, had in a long conversation with a then Duluth newspaper man, attempted to assist Nichols, but on the contrary made charges damaging to him. He had represented that he spoke for the Minnesota Iron company, and demanded support for Nichols and his selection, for the company. This conversation was taken by a concealed stenographer, and filed at Washington. It was afterward shown that the friend had no connection with the Iron company and could neither speak for it or Nichols. This friend, unfortunately, died soon afterward.

COLUMBUS' ISLAND.

An Expedition to Find Where He Actually Landed.

NEW YORK, June 5.—An expedition organized by the Chicago Herald sailed for the Bahama islands today. Its object is to search out the spot where Christopher Columbus first set foot upon the new world. If successful the expedition will there erect a monument to the discoverer of America.

The mystery as to the actual landing spot has never been solved. The only positive evidence available is that left by Columbus himself in his journal, the original manuscript of which has disappeare. Columbus named the island he first visited San Salvador, and he described it as being flat and small and containing a large lagoon in the middle. Historians and geographers have selected no fewer than five islands as the one. The expedition has been carefully organized. Walter Wellman, the commanding officer, is a writer of wide reputation and great experience in all fields of journalism. Charles Lederer, the Chicago artist, famous for his skill both as a general artist and cartoonist also goes.

Drowned and Hung.

MEADVILLE, Pa., June 5.—Dr. John Thompson, who lived near Linesville, this county, on Wednesday tied his feet together with a rope, hitched the rope to a tree, leaving plenty of slack, and then plunged headlong into a creek and was drowned. He was 67 years old and had frequently threatened suicide on account of ill health.

Pennsylvania's Crop Outlook.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 5.—May returns to the state board of agriculture give a promising crop outlook, especially with respect to wheat, which will be above the average for the past twenty years. Dry weather affected hay and oats somewhat. There will be an average crop of apples. Live stock reports indicate that the stock is hardly up to the average condition.

A RECORD WITH WIVES.

Five Times a Husband and all the Wives Living.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., June 1.—Charles W. Siedell, one of the trustees of the village of East Grand Rapids, plended guilty yesterday to a charge of bigamy and was remanded for sentence. He has a record of five wives, all living.

He commenced his career in 1878 by marrying Rosa Zaronecke, at Allegheny, Pa. A few months later he married Belle McClelland, of the same town, and served two years in the penitentiary for it. Upon regaining his liberty he married Emma Kingman and Lizzie Kline in rapid succession. He came here two years ago, and after a brief courtship, married Kittie Reed, the daughter of a pioneer resident.

His third and fourth wives got onto his trail and caused his arrest while he was courting his sixth victim, having already separated from his fifth. Seidell is 35 years old and rather good looking.

THE BACCARA.

Court Gets Through and Adjourns: Not Much Hope for Cumming.

LONDON, June 5.—When the lord chief justice took his seat in the baccarat trial this morning, the customary crowd filling the room to the door was present. Mrs. Lycett Green was again called to the witness box and her cross examination was resumed by Sir Edward Clarke. The witness was taken over the old ground and allowed to step out of the box. The defense then called Mrs. Arthur Wilson, the Tranby Croft hostess. She distinctly recollected the cheating. Then there came a tedious threshing over the testimony of preceding witnesses. When her son informed her of the detection by him of Sir William's dishonest play, witness said to him: "You must not mention it. We must not have a scandal in our house."

Witness recollected hearing plaintiff asking the banker (the prince of Wales) to pay him £10 for a counter which he claimed had been overlooked. Witness also remembered hearing the prince of Wales say that he wished people would place their stakes where they could be seen. The prince had spoken in the tone of a man who was seriously annoyed. Once subsequently witness had seen the plaintiff push a £10 counter over the chalk line so openly that she wondered that none of the other persons present observed the action. Replying to first question of counsel in cross-examination, witness declared that she did not sign a paper pledging secrecy as to the baccarat discoveries at Tranby Croft. She, however, admitted that the prince of Wales had appealed to her to say nothing of the matter. Asked whether she had seen Sir William cheat, witness replied: "Yes, unfortunately, without doubt." This concluded the cross-examination of Mrs. Arthur Wilson.

The case for the defense closed and Sir Charles Russell, for the defense, addressed the court, after which it adjourned to Manday.

In an interview today Sir Wm. Gordon Cummings denied that there was any truth in the story that he was to be married to Miss Florence Garden of New York.

The Shadow Behind it All.

NEW YORK, June 5.—A London cable says: To what extent is one or more of the fairer sex back of the royal scandal that has resulted in the Gordon Cumming libel suit now on trial? This is a question which is being pretty largely discussed. There may be a secret history the bare allusion to which on the part of Solicitor-General Clark when the heir apparent was on the witness stand might have sounded the death knell of that eminent counsel. There may be a scrap of history that were it uncovered would rival the celebrated Mordaunt case, when secure in the knowledge that the unfortunate woman it was claimed had been the victim of his lust was to be incarcerated for the rest of her days within the forbidding walls of an asylum for the insane, the future king of England, then as now a profligate, and then as now a gambler, went into the witness box and "perjured himself like an English gentleman" to shield himself.

Solicitor-General Clark might have asked the prince of Wales some interesting questions. He might have been asked the names of the two ladies whose names had been scratched from the list of invited guests when he accepted Mr. Wilson's invitation to Tranby Croft. He might have asked whether he inserted in the list the name of Lady Brooke; also whether the titled lady in question had been his avowed and scandal causing "favorite" for many years. Mr. Clarke might finally have inquired how it happened, notwithstanding the pledges of secrecy that were made regarding the swindling and cheating, he had violated his own confidence by placing Lady Brooke in possession of the facts, and likewise what string the Wilson's had tied to him from the moment he and Lady Brooke became guests under their roof, that he should have chosen to take the part of the former as against a man who had been on terms of the closest intimacy with him for more than a decade.

If these questions could have been put and answered in court just as they are being put and answered in the clubs and among people who ought to know whereof they speak, they might have afforded material for an interesting additional chapter to the late Charles Bradlaugh's celebrated pamphlet upon "George, Prince of Wales; past events and recent coincidences."

Bering Sea Closure Bill Passes.

LONDON, June 5.—During the debate on the Bering sea bill in the house of commons Mr. Hill, conservative member for Staffordshire, opposed the measure. He moved that the words "if Canada agrees" be added. R. Hon. W. H. Smith, for the government, opposed Mr. Hill's amendment, on the ground that the consent of Canada had been obtained. Mr. Sexton called attention to the fact which he hoped the government duly appreciated, that the speedy disposition of the bill had been made possible by the forbearance of the Irish members in offering no opposition.

IT WARNS ENGLAND

The Vigorous Chase of the Itata and Her Surrender Troubles the Europeans.

Especially as the Congressional Party Appears by Reports to be Losing.

Another Little Complication Rises on the Turbulent South American Horizon.

LONDON, June 5.—The reported surrender of the Itata to the American authorities has created a sensation here second only to the Baccarat scandal. The opponents of Balmaceda are deeply chagrined, while his friends are elated. At the Chilian consulate today there was great rejoicing. Secretary Orego said there was great hope that the loss of the Itata and the arms on board of her would seriously cripple the rebellion.

Senor Orego said the United States had given a grand example to the world of the energetic enforcement of its laws against an attempt against the peace of a friendly nation, and that the conduct of the American government could not fail to command the respect of both Europe and America. The senor added that the people of the provinces held by the rebels were in a state of the greatest discontent, and an outbreak might be looked for at any time.

Another Complication.

Iquique—In consequence of Bolivia's recognition of the Chilian congress party as belligerents, the Chilian minister at La Pase, the Bolivian capitol, has demanded his passports.

IRISH TO MANITOBA.

The British Government Looking up Places for the Irish.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 5.—Michael Davitt, the Irish patriot, who has been here for several days, left this morning for the crofter settlement in the neighborhood of Killarney, where he proposes to investigate the condition of the Scotch crofters who have made that place there home.

He is preparing reports regarding the prospects offered in Canada for Irish farmers. It will be forwarded to the British government and may form the basis of a scheme to assist a large number of Irish farming families to settle in the Northwest. Davitt will remain in this country and the United States until the end of the year, when he goes to Australia.

A Purging by Fire.

NEW ORLEANS, July 4.—Early this morning the notorious Royal Palace dive, No. 36 Royal street, was destroyed by fire. Loss, $25,000; insurance, $16,000. This is the dive to which Elbogen, the procurer, who is in New York states prison for five years, sent a number of virtuous girls, under the impression that they were to become respectable actresses. The destruction of the dive is pleasing to the people of this city.

What if the Cable Had Broken?

READING, Pa., June 5.—Fifteen of the doctors attending the convention of the State Medical society had a narrow escape last night on a car of the Highland incline railway. The cable caught after the car had started down and on being released the car dashed down the incline some thirty feet at great speed, and when the slack was taken out of the cable it came to a sudden stop. Several were more or less hurt.

Sunday at The Fair.

CHICAGO, June 5.—World's fair officials doubt the authenticity of the alleged interview with ex-Senator Palmer in Detroit a few days ago in which he said it would be no question concerning Sunday opening, and that the directorate had made up its mind to open the doors from 12 o'clock on Sunday. It is said that the matter has not yet been even considered and it is doubtful whether the question will come up until within a short time before the opening of the fair.

The Sunday Sun's Defense.

STILLWATER, Minn., June 5.—The second trial of Editor W. P. Saussay, of the St. Paul Sunday Sun, resulted in a conviction, the jury bringing in a verdict of guilty with a recommendation of mercy. The defense practically admitted that the article published was a malicious libel, but endeavored to prove as before, that the editor had not seen it.

The Refund of the 4½s.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Secretary Foster will not make known his decision in the 2 per cent refund bond matter until his return to Washington.

The expulsion of Horace G. Lozier from Iowa's Cornell college at Mount Vernon, has created a great sensation. He is a son of Chaplain John H. Lozier, prominent in G. A. R. circles, and was to have graduated this year. He became too intimate with a young lady living in town and this resulted in his expulsion.

EX-TREASURER BARDSLEY.

He is Said to be Shielding Some One Guilty Behind Him.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Postmaster General Wanamaker does not manifest either anxiety or indignation regarding the efforts which are being made by some of his political opponents to connect his name with the recent bank failures in Philadelphia. Mr. Wanamaker says the disclosures that have occurred were to him a complete surprise as he always had the greatest confidence in the bank.

He says that ex-City Treasurer Bardsley is making a very great mistake in assuming the entire responsibility of his misdeeds, that he ought to tell everything he knows, and let everybody who has had anything to do with his affairs be fully known and justly punished, and that the whole matter should have all the light possible thrown upon it.

MARINE MATTERS.

The Craig Pulled off at Erie: How Life Saver Clark Died.

ERIE, Pa., June 5.—The storm which prevailed at this port yesterday morning abated during the day and the sea went down considerably last night. The passenger steamer Badger State is imbedded in the sand and resting easy. Capt. Smith sent a portion of the passengers ashore. Tugs commenced to lighter the steamer today.

The steamer John Craig, which was also ashore, was gotten off last night without damage. The beach patrol has failed to find the body of Capt. Clark, and it may be several days before the body is recovered. Superintendent Dobbins, of the Buffalo life saving station, arrived last evening. He says the failure of the life-boat to right itself when capsized was due to the carelessness of the crew. The manholes in the air chambers in the ends of the boat had been left open and when she capsized the chambers filled and the boat was crippled. He also found that Capt Clark had not followed instructions by equipping himself with cork jackets.

The Badger State is owned by the Western Transit company. She was built in 1862 and is rated A2 with a value of about $30,000. She is in the Duluth trade.

Marine Notes.

A diver was sent down by the Underwriters to examine the sunken Kasota. On the strength of his report that she is literally broken in two, the work of raising her probably will be abandoned. There was insurance on the hull of $100,000, and on the cargo of ore $10,000. This has all been paid.

There was filed with the collector of Cleveland, a mortgage of $1,020,000, given by the Menominee Transit company to secure bonds. The lien is upon the six ships Norman, Saxon, German, Briton, Grecian and Roman. All the boats are new this season. The first three have already made trips, and the Briton left port last night on her first trip, bound to Escanaba, light. The Grecian is not yet finished, and the Roman is still on the stocks at the Globe shipyard. The sum named allows $170,000 for each boat. With the comparatively low valuations given by this year's committee, they are valued in the Inland Lloyd's register at $200,000.

The propeller City of Duluth, which was ashore on Grahame reef, near Mackinaw, a day or two ago, sustained no injuries, and has proceeded on to Duluth.

One of the crew of the Fayette Brown managed to jump to the deck of the steamer. The remainder had barely time to climb into the crosstrees before the schooner sunk. The Northern Queen went on her way without stopping, and the crew of the Fayette Brown were rescued by the Robert Mills. The sunken schooner was owned by M. A. Bradley. She was built in 1868 and was worth $19,000.

The Mariska and Gratwick yesterday took out 3719 tons of Minnesota ore, the Marina and Matoa 4459 tons of Chandler ore and the Manola 2300 tons of Chandler. The Mitchell took a load of Minnesota ore. The Gladstone and Northern King are now loading.

BURNING A TOWN.

The La Prairie Bank Burns Today, Believed to Have Been Set by Incendiaries.

The St. Louis County Commissioners Transact Business of the Ninth Day.

District Court Grinds Out a Grist of Business: A Clever Police Capture.

Telegrams to The Herald from La Prairie this afternoon state that the Itasca County bank of that village was entirely destroyed by fire last night.

Only a few days ago The Herald announced the burning of the Ackley house, a commodious hotel of the village, and at that time it was hinted that the fire was the work of incendiaries. Now the belief is becoming strong that the town that fought and lost in the game for the county seat is trying to get some of its money back.

Yesterday the The Herald announced the midnight flight of Editor Bernard with his printing outfit from La Prairie to Grand Rapids, and every day brings something new from the village. It seems pretty well settled that Itasca county can at present support but one town of any pretensions, and after fighting a good fight to a losing finish La Prairie is showing that she knows when she is beaten and is, as it were, smoking the pipe of peace.

TOUSLEY LECTURED.

The ex-Health Inspector Gets Before the Court.

"Ted Tousley," said Judge Ensign this morning in a solemn manner to the man who recently figured before the community as a very dirty health inspector, "you have been arrested for not answering to a subpoena to appear before the grand jury. What have you to say for yourself?"

"I was drunk yesterday when it was served on me and didn't know a subpoena from a sawmill."

"You ought to be ashamed to admit it. You are fined $5 and costs for your neglect. The sheriff will see that you stand committed until it is paid," and the disgraced inspector walked off with the sheriff.

The suit of Isabella J. Carlton vs. Nehemiah H. Hulett has occupied the attention of a jury for the past two days. The plaintiff claims that in 1874 her husband and she signed a mortgage for $675 to Hulett on certain lands in and around Fond du Lac. That in the reading of the mortgage Hulett neglected to read that a certain quarry, now valued at $20,000, was included, which quarry, it had previously been stipulated should be exempt from the mortgage. She further complains that the mortgage was fraudulently foreclosed and that part of the mortgage consideration given to plaintiff and her husband consisted of lots in Park Point to which defendant had nothing but worthless tax titles.

In the suit of the Duluth Brown Stone company vs. A. Booth Packing company, a verdict was rendered for the defendant. No. 142 was placed at the foot of the calendar as No. 9.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 6.—G. M. Willis, a civil engineer of the Burlington & Northern road, returned home from a trip this morning at 6 o'clock and found his wife and little boy, aged 7, lying in bed unconscious. A strong smell of gas told the story.

A physician was immediately summoned and pronounced the boy dead and the woman barely alive. At 1 p. m. hopes are entertained of the wife's recovery. A leaking pipe caused the trouble.

We will store your stoves for the summer. Call at 522 West Superior street or send order by mail or telephone 208.

A CITY OF CULTURE.

Duluth has long been recognized by all as a commercial center. Nature has stamped upon her brow the seal of greatness. In that regard her destiny is unalterably determined, and her supremacy will endure so long as the north star is reflected in the waters of her lakes. The case has been heard and the opinion of the highest court has been handed down. The world accepts it. We need say no more.

But this is not all, for commerce brings affluence and respite to the people, and the struggle for bread and butter or the miserly greed for gold is soothed and dignified into contemplation of better things. Genius, indeed, may be born in poverty, and its beauties may bloom in a land of slaves, but it will for the time pass away to be discovered and immortalized in a later age. One genius doesn't make a world of culture any more than one swallow makes a summer. Such signs are indicative of coming warmth in their respective spheres, and bear with them the leaves and branches of a new hope, but it is only where the people are free and prosperous that there can be an approach to that real and general culture which bears no aroma of a starched aristocracy.

America is in this respect most fortunate, and all of her commercial cities have developed a broad and ever-deepening culture. It came first in Boston and the South, because there were first found wealth and leisure, but it soon found its way to New York. Cincinnati, St. Louis and other places, till now, even in Chicago, the voice of culture is heard above the expiring accents of the hog. We have built up an artificial center at the national capital, but Washington culture is supplied from the commercial centers as truly as her people are fed and clothed from the sheep pens and cattle pastures of the West.

Duluth, therefore, as a commercial center, is in the direct line of advancement. But she possesses other advantages not enjoyed by Eastern cities in their earlier growth. Probably in no other young city can there be found so many men and women who have come fresh from college halls to the duties of home and the varied lines of trade. A body of men could be gathered from any crowd in Duluth that would outweigh in average character and intelligence any legislature that ever sat in the state. Nor is it the least extravagant to say that a score of men could be named who would more than average up with the members of the national congress. And it is now a trite saying that in Duluth the women are as smart as the men. In view of these facts, it is no prophecy to foretell the future culture and attractions of Duluth. She has commerce to bring wealth, education to incite thought, and grandeur to inspire genius. What more is wanting? Only to continue what has already been begun in building up here on the threshold of commerce nearest the heart of the continent, schools of music and literature, libraries of learning free to all, societies for the furtherance of special studies and investigations, and lecture courses for the awakening of unknown or latent talents. Through these and kindred activities, Duluth culture will keep pace with commerce, and in the years that are now before her learning and delight will be the lot of her people with ignorance and squalor banished beyond the horizon of the Zenith City.

"BEN BOLT."

Only a day or two ago The Herald contained an editorial article in which it was incidentally stated that Thomas Dunn English, elected to the Fifty-second congress from Newark, N. J., was the author of "Ben Bolt," a popular song of a generation ago. Since then the St. Louis Star-Sayings has come to our desk containing an article from the Chillicothe, Mo., Tribune, which states that a lonely grave in a cemetery of that city is marked by a modest marble slab bearing the inscription: "Nelson—author of 'Ben Bolt'" The Tribune writer pays a very touching tribute to the author and the sentiment of the song, but there is something wrong in this alleged authorship. It is a little strange that the full name should not have been inscribed upon the mossy slab, for the production of so beautiful a composition is no mean honor. The Herald must correct its contemporaries, for we have it from the lips of his friends, and it can be verified by Appleton's and other biographical encyclopedias, that the Newark congressman is the author of the long-ago song that touched in its time a tender chord, and by whose golden magic, even now "far through memory shine the happy days." It runs in part as follows:

"Oh, don't you remember sweet Alice, Ben Bolt,
Sweet Alice whose hair was so brown,
Who wept with delight when you gave her a smile
And trembled with fear at your frown.

In the old church yard in the valley, Ben Bolt—
In a corner obscure and alone,
They fitted a slab of granite so gray,
And Alice lies under the stone.

Oh, don't you remember the school, Ben Bolt,
With the master so cruel and grim,
And the button ball tree by the little brook
Where the children went to swim?

The tree has gone to decay long ago;
The brook and its fount are dry,
And of all of us that were schoolmates then
There are only you and I."

MANSFIELD'S "DON JUAN."

The fallibility of criticism could hardly be better exhibited than in the contrast of the opinions given by the New York Tribune and Post on Mr. Mansfield's new play, "Don Juan." Partisan political journals could not get further apart on the merits of a man or a measure than the able critics of these papers do on the composition and presentation of this play. Just hear them:

Tribune: It is a play of remarkable dramatic value, planned judiciously, cumulative in interest, nimble in movement, wonderfully delicate in treatment, considering the nature of its subject, and written in a terse, crisp, pungent style, at times epigrammatic, at times poetical, never impoverished, and to the last refreshing.

Post: The whole piece bears the marks of unfamiliarity with literary methods and the ordinary rules of dramatic construction. The story is confused, purposeless, contradictory and absurd, while the dialogue is puerile to a degree, its weakness being emphasized by its clumsy affectation of an antique form. Nor is the acting of Mr. Mansfield much better. His manner is stilted and awkward, and his elocution harsh and monotonous. The elegance, vivacity, fervor and brilliancy belonging to the character are all wanting, and he has nothing to substitute for them but imperturbable assurance.

The Illinois legislature was wide awake Wednesday. The $1,000,000 World's fair bill passed by the senate was in the house. After many efforts to cut it down to five or six hundred thousands, the amendment reducing it to $750,000 was declared adopted by the speaker. Then a motion to adjourn was declared carried, and the statesmen reached for their revolvers and opened a ghost dance. Speaker Crafts, who is a democrat, was branded as a czar but protected from assaults, and the usual convulsions accompanied with a grand chorus of profane lamentations in staccato time were the June festival of Springfield town.

The republican state executive committee holds a meeting in Minneapolis next Tuesday. M. A. Hays, member for St. Louis county, will attend and report the prosperous condition of Duluth under the McKinley bill.

FROM a source that cannot be questioned we learn that a young gentleman who called at a Duluth real estate office the other day to rent a house, concluded his business by inquiring of the young lady clerk, "and are you to let, too?" "No," was the repartistic reply, "I'm to be let alone." No cards.

CUSH DAVIS gave the sprigs of the law some good advice the other day and yet we recall the fact that Patrick Henry could not have reached the bar under the Minnesota statute when he waked the world with his "quackery," nor Shakespeare when he wrote his immortelles.

OUR friends of the presbyterian general assembly at Detroit affectionately object to progressive euchre. The good old kind is good enough for them. They object to the progressive feature.

The Game of Baccarat.

To the Editor of The Herald.

An editorial note in last evening's Herald tells us what the game of baccarat is. Evidently you have never played it, for the description is an error. I have played baccarat frequently in France, where it originated, and in England, and just now a brief description may be of interest. There are any number of betters and a banker—in the now notorious Sir Cumming case Wales was banker—and one or more packs of cards are used according to the number of players. Each better deposits a stake, which is duplicated by the banker, and he deals to each person two cards. The aim is to decide each individual bet by comparison of the total count of the two cards held by each player with that of the two cards held by the banker. Court cards count ten each, other cards by spots, and the counts range in series of 9, 19, 29; 8, 18, 28, etc., the nine beating any other count that may be made. A player may demand more cards, but if his total count exceeds 29 his bet is forfeit. If a player's cards count nine he declares it, when all who hold hands superior to that of the banker may claim the amount of their bets, while the bank takes the stakes of the others.

AN ENGLISH PLAYER.

WHAT THEY SAY.

Harbormaster Miller: Perhaps you don't know it, but the shipping business of San Francisco doesn't begin to compare in amount with that of Duluth.

Rev. Father Corbett: I have just received a letter from Bishop McGolrick saying that he had landed safely at Queenstown and that he had been quite seasick for two days. He will spend some time in Ireland before going to London and Paris.

Park Commissioner Helm: Our board will probably for some time hold nightly meetings in order to get things straightened out in good shape. We have now practically disposed of the labor question and will soon devote our attention to the acquiring of land. Some of the people who think they are going to work property off on the commission at good prices will be fooled.

An experienced vessel man: There is one thing lacking in the McDougall vessels, and only one—steam steering gear. This is a day when vessels of any size can not afford to get along without them.

Herman Beier: The carpets in the Lyceum will be Royal Wilton and the best that's made. In color they will be sort of a rich wine, to harmonize with the decorations of the walls.

LATE JUNE MAGAZINES.

The Review of Reviews is, up to its usual high standard of excellence, touching in a most intelligent manner all the important topics of the day. A most interesting feature consists of two character sketches of his holiness, Pope Leo XIII, one by an Italian journalist and the other by W. T. Stead, the editor of the magazine. The two look at the man about whom the world as a whole knows very little from two different standpoints, and yet they both agree that Leo is a man of remarkable ability and unsurpassable kindness, although dignified in the highest degree. The sketches are intensely interesting reading and will no doubt give the English speaking world a much better conception of what the pope is than it has ever had before. Considerable space is given in this number to recent diplomacy with regard to the seal question and excellent portraits of President Harrison, ex-Minister Phelps, ex-Secretary Bayard and others are produced.

* * *

Outing comes out with a most delightful number. This is the season when athletics as well as fishing, are at their height, and the magazine is chock full of records. The serial, "Harry's Career at Yale," reaches its most interesting part. "How Jack Lindsay Bested the Captain" is a short story told in a clever manner, while two or three articles describing fishing trips in the great Northwest and a bicycle tour through Yellowstone Park do their share towards making a splendid whole.

* * *

Century presents an unusually palatable feast. The illustrated articles are many and wonderfully artistic, the stories are excellent and the bread and beef of the magazine is fully up to standard. A bright review by Mrs. Burton Harrison opens the number; a present-day paper on "Pensions and Socialism" follows; "The Squirrel Inn," Frank Stockton's serial, unfolds some taking situations and the "Faith Doctor" adds a chapter. Topics of the time and open letters are fresh. "Women at an English University" is a particularly readable article on higher education as it appears on the other side. "Play and Work in the Alps," written and drawn by the Pennels, "The House With the Cross," "A Girl Without Sentiment," and many other articles, as well as some particularly good poetry, fill out the issue.

A Worthy Tribute.

President Harrison on Memorial day: "I have never been able to think that this day is one for mourning, but think that, instead of the flag being at half mast, it should be at the peak. I feel that the comrades whose graves we honor today would rejoice if they could see where their valor has placed us. I feel that the glory of their dying and the glory of their achievement covers all grief, and has put them on an imperishable roll of honor."

TWO PUBLIC BUILDINGS

The Supervising Architect States That Bids for the Government Building Will be Advertised Soon,

And the Life Saving Station, Already Authorized, Will Very Soon be Started and Equipped.

Work on the Splendid New High School Rushed Along by Nearly 200 Men.

The following letter was received this afternoon by Secretary Thompson of the chamber of commerce. It will give gratifying intelligence to Duluthians who are anxious to see the public building started:

"SIR: In reply to your letter of the 26th ultimo, I have to advise you that the drawings and specifications for the United States building at Duluth, Minn., have been completed and that the work will be advertised in a few days.

"W. J. EDBROOKE, Supervising Architect."

It also stated that work will soon begin on the government life saving station to be built on Park point, and that it will probably be up and equipped with crew and apparatus before the fall gales. There is, at any rate, no doubt that it will be ready for use next spring.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

Work on the Magnificent Structure Being Rushed Rapidly.

The walls of our new High school, of which Duluth can well be so proud, are rising rapidly and about half of the stone and brick work is already done. Contractors Waterworth & Fee expect to have the entire building under roof by fall and hope that the Third street wing and west end will be ready for use, as the contract reads, by January next. It is quite likely, however, that it may be delayed after this time.

As the walls rise one gets a better idea of the size and beauty of the building than any description or drawing can give. About 175 men, fifty of them stonecutters, as many masons and nearly as many more carpenters, are now at work and the weekly payroll is nearly $3000. The boast of the school board that there will not be a more elegant or complete high school in the United States seems pretty near the truth, so far as can be judged by outside appearances.

The corner stone, which will be laid Monday, in accordance with the program published in The Herald yesterday, will be put at the east side of the tower, on the front wall, and just side of where the main steps will rise. It is now ready to be put in place.

The school board has now on hand something like $50,000 worth of work. When entirely finished and furnished, the High school will represent an outlay of almost $400,000, the building alone costing nearly that sum; the Emerson school at Eleventh avenue west, the contract for the superstructure of which is now under way, will cost $40,000, and the Longfellow school at West Duluth, which has been begun, is good for $55,000 or $60,000 more before completion.

IGNORANT ARIO.

The Would Investigator Self Convicted of Ignorance.

In the wheat investigation yesterday at St. Paul Mr. Severance, counsel for the elevator companies, called for the samples of wheat which had been passed upon and graded by Witness Ario, and put in evidence as "Exhibit O." Mr. Clausen classed it as rejected wheat. Ario had graded it as No. 1 northern. "Exhibit M" was shown and graded by Mr. Clausen as "rejected." This sample had also been graded by Ario as No. 1 northern. Mr. Clausen pointed out to the committee the bin burned grains of wheat which depreciated its value and reduced it to the grade of "rejected." Mr. Ario only missed the grade three points out of a possible four, and considerable mirth was created by a suggestion that he be appointed as an inspector.

A sample of grain which Ario could not grade and which he could not even name, was shown and was said by Mr. Clausen to be black barley.

There was no provision of law by which an owner of grain could compel the elevator company to furnish him a special bin. Reinspection frequently raised the grade of grain after it had passed through the elevator and become improved. For this reason reinspection was always allowed when asked for. If such reinspecting were not done the owner would lose, and the buyer gain, by the improved condition of the grain.

FISHING AT DEERWOOD.

The Series of Lakes There to be Made Accessible.

H. S. Patterson today shipped a dozen boats to Deerwood, ninety-eight miles west of here on the Northern Pacific, where he will establish a branch boat house. Simcoe Chapman, Cuyler Admas and several other men of Duluth and New York have recently formed a stock company for the purpose of making a pleasure resort at Deerwood. They have platted considerable land which they are selling to those desiring to erect summer cottages and have just built a twenty-five-room hotel, which is about to be opened by James Bromley. Deerwood is on Serpent lake, one of a series of thirteen, separated by short portages and all well stocked with black bass. Some of these lakes have been visited by but few fishermen.

The place is about three hours' ride from Duluth and the railroad company has signified its willingness to offer a round trip rate on Saturdays for a single fare or a round trip good for fifteen days for a fare and a third. A number of Duluth people will take an outing at Deerwood this summer. Deer are to be found in abundance in the vicinity of the summer resort.

The Athletic Grounds.

Y. M. C. A. association circles are all astir over the opening of the athletic grounds tomorrow. From 3 to 4 p. m. there will be contests in running, jumping, pole vaulting, hammer throwing and obstacle race. Then will follow a ball game between Duluth and Superior Y. M. C. A. nines, and an excellent game will no doubt result, as both teams have been in active practice for some time. After the game the Ladies' auxiliary will serve refreshments, and then there will be final heats in running, parallel bar work, class work and a tug of war between St. Paul and Duluth Y. M. C. A. teams. The grounds are in excellent condition, well rolled and hard, with all conveniences. Cars on Woodland avenue run past the grounds every fifteen minutes.

City Finances.

City Treasurer Voss has completed his report for the month of May. The different funds stand as follows: General—receipts, $205,181; disbursements, $39,254; cash, June 1, $165,835. Improvement—receipts, $622; disbursements, $98,497; overdrawn June 1, $50,471. Fire department—receipts, $25; disbursements, $17,575; overdrawn 1, $18,827. Park—receipts, $92,692; disbursements, $17,961; cash, June 1, $76,096. Library—disbursements, $831; cash, June 1, $835. Interest—disbursements, $2500; cash, June 1, $540.

THE LA PRAIRIE CASE.

Editor Bernard of the Magnet Sequestered $400 for Lobbying Purposes.

Attorney Neal of La Prairie, who is in Duluth on business connected with the seizure of the printing outfit of Editor Bernard, this morning telegraphed to La Prairie to release the outfit, which was undoubtedly done.

The story of the case, as presented by one who is well posted on the situation, is about as follows: Bernard was made treasurer after the law incorporating La Prairie was passed and later was re-elected. He appropriated some $400 out of the village funds to his own use as lobbyist for the Itasca county bill on the advice of President Manson. This was before the recent election. Bernard's old bondsmen were released when the new bondsmen were accepted, and now they are wondering how to proceed against Bernard. Cashier Bowman of the La Prairie bank, who holds a mortgage against the printing outfit and who is an aggrieved party because the outfit ought not to be moved without his consent, does not take any steps against Bernard. Bowman was defeated for the presidency recently and it is surmised that he is willing to have the public aroused on the matter so that Manson may be compelled to resign and another election may take place, which would probably allow him to obtain the object of his ambition.

There is really no chance of proceeding in the matter except by indicting Bernard for embezzlement.

May Health.

The report of the board of health for May shows 49 deaths, with leading causes as follows: diptheria, 4; bronchitis, 2; entrocolitis, 2; phthisis, 4; typhoid fever, 3; enteritis, 3; pneumonia, 6; accident, 3. Of these 13 were under 1 year; 9 from 1 to 5; 1 from 5 to 10; 2 from 10 to 20; 13 from 20 to 40; 9 from 40 to 60; 1 over 60. Annual death rate per 1000 for the month, 14.7. The births numbered 92, 42 males and 50 females.

Sues for Divorce.

Emily Payette, aged 19, has brought an action by her attorneys, Smith & Towne, against her husband, Frank Payette, aged 27. The complaint alleges that the parties were married at Superior, Feb. 14, 1888; that defendant has treated plaintiff in a cruel and inhuman manner, failed to provide for her, has been guilty of adultery and associating with immoral women. She also accuses him of having ruined her health by reason of such associations.

The Chronic Kicker.

The poet says: "What is more perfect than a 'day in June?" And nowhere in the world are June days so perfect as in the great Northwest. And yet for some inscrutable purpose Providence permits the Chronic Kicker to infest even June days. You have seen the "Kicker," haven't you? Of no particular sex or age, "he, shoe, or it," is omnipresent, always awake and on the lookout for something to growl about. The genus is divided into several species, the political Kicker, the financial Kicker, the religious Kicker, the social Kicker, and so on, ad infinitum. Don't you wish you could escape it? Well, you can't, but there is one place where you will find less of him, her, etc., than anywhere else—and that is on the luxurious vestibuled trains of "The Burlington running between Minneapolis and St. Paul and Chicago and St. Louis. To get as far away from the Kicker as possible insist on your ticket agent selling you a ticket over "The Burlington." For any further information about the line, rates, etc., address W. J. C. Kenyon, general passenger agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

THE MARKETS.

Wheat is Dull; Crop News Excellent Almost Everywhere; Market Notes.

Wheat has ruled very dull on Duluth market today. Opening ¼ below last night's close, prices declined ¼ more on July wheats. Trading was confined to car lots of No. 1 northern wheat to the local mills. Crop news from all points was unusually favorable, except Illinois. A Minneapolis dispatch says samples of growing wheat, two feet high, from Watertown, S. D., are shown there. Weather in both Dakotas warmer and showery.

Cash 1 hard closed at $1.04¾; cash 1 northern. First sales were at $1.02¼, advanced at mill at $1.03½, closed at $1.02; cash 2 northern closed at 99. June 1 hard closed at $1.05¼; June 1 northern sold $1.02¾, then at $1.02½, where it closed July closed at $1.06½ for 1 hard and $1.03¾ for 1 northern. September dull, with some demand, closed at 94½c bid for 1 hard and 92½c for 1 northern.

Grain Movement.

Cars grain inspected today were 164, of which 23 were 1 hard, 91 were 1 northern, 7 were 2 northern, 1 no grade, 2 white winter, 29 oats and 11 corn. Receipts were 103,208 bu wheat, 2177 corn, 3810 oats and 7106 bbls flour. Shipments were 23,261 bu wheat, 8000 corn, 5026 bbls flour. Cars on track, 62, against 17 same day last year.

New York Money and Stocks.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Money loaned at 3½@4 per cent. Exchange steady; posted rates, 485½ for sixty days and 489 for demand. Governments steady; currency, 6's, 109 bid; 4's, coupon, 120; 4½'s, do, 100 bid.

Trading was extremely light. The market opened strong, mainly on heavy buying of St. Paul for London account. The excitement in connection with Rock Island, so pronounced yesterday, had entirely disappeared, yet the stock was occasionally pressed for sale. During the first hour prices were well sustained, but in the hour to noon the bears frequently hammered the list and their tactics, together with reports of further gold engagements caused prices to decline sharply.

Chicago Live Stock.

UNION STOCK YARDS, Ill., June 5.—Cattle—Receipts, 5,500; firm. Hogs—Receipts, 26,000; strong; mixed and medium, $4.45@4.60; light, $4.20@4.55. Sheep—Receipts, 8,900; steady.

Today's local bank clearings were $317,511.98.

Connecticut's Disputed Election.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 5.—Judge Morris says the decision of the supreme court on the "for" ballot question will have no effect at all so far as state officers are concerned. "It has nothing to do with the question at issue," said he. "To my knowledge, none of the state officers have ever disputed the validity of the 'for' ballots. We contend that the legislature has no right to go back of the returns, and that is the main issue. If the supreme court could decide that the legislature can go back of the returns then the decision as regards the 'for' ballots would come into play. But this decision takes in other points which I regard as exceedingly favorable for the democrats. I look upon it as indorsing the decision of Judge Hall relative to the ballots on which no candidate's name was printed for judge of probate, which he declared invalid. By careful estimates we have ascertained that fully 3000 of them were cast through the state. With these thrown out, by careful estimate, I would have at least 1200 majority."

A German Fleet in 'Frisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The German fleet of three vessels, under command of Admiral Valois, which left Yokohama May 3, arrived here this morning. Fully 200 officers and 1800 men are on board the vessels. The fleet is bound for Chilean waters and will coal and provision here and also take on board supplies to be transferred to the German war ships now in South American waters.

Drunk, and in Maine?

AUGUSTA, Me., June 5.—Detective Heald, of the Maine Central railroad, who has been investigating the recent alleged attempt at train robbery near Enfield, says the alleged train robbers were simply a drunken crowd who boarded the train at the station, pulled the cord, stopped the train, fired pistols in the air, jumped from the cars and ran.

Believers in Prohibition.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—In order to keep whisky away from the natives of Alaska, orders have been given to the commanders of the Bear and Rush to seize all whisky except such quantity as may be required for medical use, found on any whaler in Alaskan waters. A number of these vessels recently obtained whisky at Honolulu to sell to the natives.

The fellow's name is John Wallace and he is now on his way to Duluth having admitted the theft.

FIXING THE ITATA.

As Soon as She is Repaired She Starts For San Diego Once More.

Her Captain the Banquetted Hero of the Hour in the Chilian Port.

A Prize Crew is Aboard From the Charleston and in Possession.

IQUIQUE, June 6.—A prize crew from the United States steamer Charleston went aboard the Itata and took formal possession of the long-sought-for craft. Capt. Mauseum, her commander, is the hero of the hour and was given a rousing reception when he landed and reported his arrival to the insurgent authorities.

In the meantime the United States consul had been officially notified that Admiral McCann could have taken possession of the late fugitive whenever he chose. He at once informed the admiral of this fact and a boat's crew was sent to the Itata, with a request to the captain to repair aboard the flagship Baltimore. This he did and had a long talk with Admirals McCann and Brown, Capt. Schley and Capt. Remy, of the Charleston, who had been previously summoned to take part in the interview and to hear what Capt. Mauseum had to say about the condition of his ship, his run from San Diego and the manner in which he evaded the Charleston.

As a result of the conference, it was arranged that a prize crew from the Charleston should go aboard the Itata this morning and take formal possession of the ship. This program was carried out, and as soon as she can be got into shape she will start for San Diego under the convoy of the Charleston.

Just what led the insurgents to surrender the ship and arms is not known definitely, but the general opinion is that Admiral McCann informed the authorities that unless the cargo as well as the ship were given up to him he, in conformity with his instructions from the navy department, would take action to get them. The Itata has on board 5,000 rifles and 2,000,000 rounds of ammunition, all of which are delivered over.

Reindeer in Alaska.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Nearly $1000 has been raised through the Mail and Express for introducing the reindeer into starving Alaska. The advent of these animals will mean very much to the poor Alaskans. In a few days Dr. Jackson will sail on the Bear from Seattle, taking with him a large quantity of goods [illegible] which to barter with the Siberians for reindeer. Capt. C. A. Cuttis will go to St. Lawrence in the Bering sea, to take charge of a station on the island and to begin the breeding of the reindeer for the Alaskans to use instead of dogs.

A Widely Known Defaulter.

CINCINNATI, June 6.—Marine circles are greatly agitated over the story that Capt. W. B. Miller, the former owner of the New Orleans steamer Guiding Star, is a defaulter. A Syndicate That Proposes to Speculate on the Dead Millionaire's Will.

Claims of the Irish Claimants Bought up by the Speculative Conspirators.

The Curse of the A. T. Stewart Wealth Hangs Round it Still.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Some of the most startling disclosures ever made in relation to any of the seemingly endless litigations over A. T. Stewart's millions are promised in relation to th suit brought by the Irish claimants to recover their alleged portion of the dead merchant's fortune.

These disclosures were summed up today in the announcement that a syndicate has been formed for the purpose of pushing the claims of the Irish claimants, and that the members of the syndicate are bearing and will bear all the expenses of the litigation, merely as a speculation, hoping to be recompensed should the contest be successful. Further, it was said that this syndicate has been selling stock at the rate of $1500 for every $50,000 that may be recovered if the will is broken. That is for every $1500 put up by the speculators $50,000 will come back to them if the will is broken.

Counsul for ex-Judge Hilton are authority for these startling announcements, and they say that on Friday next they will disclose to Judge Lacombe, in the United States circuit court, the gigantic conspiracy on the part of the syndicate. They also say that P. Smith, formerly Mrs. Stewart's coachman, and a beneficiary by her will to the extent of about $60,000, is in collusion with the members of the syndicate in the conspiracy.

SHOOT THE RAPIDS

Capt. McDougall Will Journey Down the St. Lawrence Rapids On the Colby.

His Latest Patent Invention Will Lower the Cost of Coal Out West.

What the Steel Barge Company Proposes to do in the China Trade.

Capt. Alex McDougall returned last night from an Eastern trip. "I have been gone just six days," said he, "and in that short time have traveled over a great part of the United States and Canada. I came through from New York city in forty-two hours. You know the New York Central runs a train in connection with the Michigan Central leaving New York at 4:50 p. m. and arriving at Chicago at 4:50 the next day. That gives you just an hour and ten minutes before taking the Omaha limited for Duluth.

"On my trip I took in the Canadian canals in order to see the Colby and 110 lock through. When we got to the first canal the lock tender said it was impossible for them to get through, but I persuaded him that he was wrong and proved it to him. The boats fit the lock just like a glove. You never saw anything slicker. The lock tender at the second lock thought they might go through but it would be a close shave and the third lock tender thought they were a little better in locking through than other boats. I left them at Thorold and this morning they arrived at Kingston, where they are discharging cargo. On Monday I shall leave here for Kingston in order to take a trip on them as they shoot the rapids of the St. Lawrence. I imagine it will be exciting."

The captain was not here when the 107 was anchored in the great storm right before the eyes of all Duluth, but he knows all about the fine showing she made for sea going qualities and is accordingly quite proud of her. His trip back for so short a stay is made principally to see the steamer A. D. Thomson launched. Mr. Thomson was one of the few men who believed in Capt. McDougall's patent four years ago and who were willing to back the inventor with hard cash, and the boat which is launched today is therefore more to him than the general run of vessels turned out from his yard.

Yesterday The Herald contained an announcement of the granting of a patent for a cargo handling pump to Capt. McDougall. It is said that this pump is in the handling of coal on the Pacific coast. The mines are in many cases only a few miles from tide water, and it is claimed that with this pump the coal can be transferred from the mine into the vessel, making expensive rail hauls unnecessary.

With its own mines and vessels and a cheap method of getting the coal on board the vessel, the American Steel Barge company will become an immense power on the Pacific coast and give the west coast navy a chance to buy its coal at less than $25 a ton, which the United States ships have been paying lately. The idea of the pump was gained by the captain a few years ago when he pumped coal out of a sunken vessel here.

Henry Villard, John D. Rockefeller, Charles L. Colby, Colgate Hoyt and the other rich men who are behind the Steel Barge company, are also owners of the new town of Gardiner, on the West coast. It is part of their project to establish a whaleback shipyard in the new city for the building of a line of ocean freighters for the Japan and other trades. The plan is to build the boats for a line to be operated by the syndicate itself. This line is expected to knock out the English trade with China and Japan by furnishing a short and direct route for pouring the products of the great Northwest into those countries and vice versa. It is said that the boats will be able to make the trip from the coast to Yokohama in fifteen days, considerably less than the time consumed by the English boats of the Canadian Pacific railway. These vessels will, of course, be whalebacks, so the new style vessels will in a year or two be not only on the lakes and in the Atlantic coast trade, but in the Cuban ore trade, the transatlantic grain traffic, the Pacific coast coal carriage, the transpacific business, and will be cavorting about Australia and the islands of the South Sea.

Launching the Thomson.

This afternoon the propeller, A. D. Thomson, was launched at the yard of the American Steel Barge company. She is the thirteenth vessel and the fourth steamer of the fleet. Her length is 265 feet, breadth, 38, and depth 24 feet, and her measurement gives 1137 net tons. She has triple expansion engines, built by the Sunderland company, of England, of the following size of cylinders: High pressure 18 inches; intermediate, 28 inches, and low pressure, 48 inches, with 39-inch stroke. The Thomson will not be ready for sea for nearly a month and she will go to salt water on her first trip.

Marine Notes.

The North Wind and Hesper are in port.

The Northern King and Gladstone took 2824 tons of ore from Two Harbors yesterday.

The arrival of the Northern King at Two Harbors for ore has brought out the information that a contract for carrying quite a jag of the stuff was made by the Northern Steamship company and the iron people last fall. It is impossible learn the amount of ore involved or the rate for carrying.

C., arrived in the city today to appear Monday in the contest case of Thomas Hyde, Angus McDonald and twelve others vs. Emil Hartman et. al., before the local land office. THE DULUTH YALE SCHOOL.

It is very probable that with the closing exercises to be held at Duluth Yale school next Friday the school will be permanently closed. We say "probable" because it is not from any desire of its founder, but because the force of circumstances makes it inevitable unless prompt assistance is rendered. That this should be so is a source of deep regret to those who have watched the course of this school since its modest beginning, and is a matter which is, or should be of interest to every citizen of Duluth. Three years ago John Loman, a graduate of Yale, an able student and thorough scholar, decided to open a private school in Duluth. The attempt had been made several times before in a small way, but each in turn had to be abandoned after a few months' struggle. Professor Loman had set for himself a high standard, and went to work with determination and enthusiasm. How well, how thoroughly, how conscientiously and how indefatigably he has worked to lay the foundation of a school which should [illegible] himself is a matter which will probably never be known except to those whose interest was enlisted in an object so worthy. The Duluth Yale school has done work as thorough as any Eastern school of like character, as many pupils and parents will testify who have taken advantage of the school during the past three years. Mr. Loman has worked incessantly, his work has been of a high standard, the school so far as it has grown is a model, an educational institution in which Duluth may take a just pride and one that would be a credit to any city. Duluth citizens have expended many thousands of dollars to establish industries and manufactories, some of them not always worth the investment, and why should they not now expend a few hundred dollars to permanently establish this school? Duluth can ill afford to lose it.

OUR SCHOOL BOYS.

Nothing in American life is more interesting than to go to high school or college "prep" commencement exercises and see Cæsar knocked across the Rubicon, Alexander tromped around Asia Minor, or Napoleon lifted on the burnished wings of eloquence over the starlit Alps. We love the inspired gestures that grasp the great dipper from the sky and skim the cream from the milky way. We believe in the nebulor hypothesis or anything else that permits the golden star dust of genius for a few days in the year to scatter itself broadcast as a mystic fertilizer of patriotic thought over our own free land. And if there is a single lad now practicing his "piece" amid stumps and trees to the applause of birds and the fright of jack rabbits, who has the least misgiving and would drop a single stroke of his eloquent forearm, we appeal to him to amend his resolution by inserting, but never by leaving out. Put it there, my boy, and if you have a doubt, just put it there again. This is the day to put on your best suit of clothes and let her go right and left for Gallagher and McGinty. Rip the azure robes of night up the back and let the light shine through. Stir up Hannibal and Cromwell, put Cincinnatus on a riding plow, show Charlemagne how to carve out an empire with a seal fringe round the neck and water front at both doors, make Rameses roll over with envy at our more than Egyptian wonders, and warm the martyrs up with enkindling eloquence. If anyone kicks, just carry him down with bristles of thought. This is Young America's day. We want the harvest, so let him soar.

One of those little events that make the memory trickle back over a generation of incidents and intimacies and retouch pictures of faces long gone to their setting in the eternal galaxy, was the receipt yesterday by Major Frank I. Tedford of of a roster of Company F, Springfield Zonaves, Second regiment, Ohio volunteer infantry, bearing a beautiful illustration of the old tattered banner the boys bore at the first Bull Run. The company was enlisted under Lincoln's first call, April 17, 1861, and thirty-five names are now numbered with the stars. To this company of seaves belonged Chas. McCook, brother of the distinguished general, and A. M. Ross, one of the Andrews raiders to whom a monument was erected on Memorial day at Chatanooga, Tennessee. The picture is worthy of a frame from the wood of the old flag staff.

On Monday next Duluth will lay the corner stone of her new High school building which with its furnishings will cost $400,000. The structure erected four years ago has been outgrown, and another long stride has become necessary in providing educational facilities for the youth of our young city. No one will ever regret the cost for it is a part of American life, and free schools are the best coast defenses of our much-loved land.

Many Northern papers that endorsed the mobbing of the Italian prisoners in New Oorleans are now contending that it is wrong to lynch colored men suspected of crime in Lousiana. Just as we expected. If mobs are right they must first be necessary, and if they are necessary in an organized state, then civilization is a failure and ought to make an assignment. There are no such words as lynch law in the lexicon of liberty.

Revolutions may never go backward, but they sometimes go sideways. For a number of years Massachusetts had a law abolishing saloons as they are known in other states and requiring all drinks to be served at tables. But the legislature has passed and the governor yesterday signed a saloon bill, and now the Bayites of Beanboro and other cities can stand up and take their medicine at open bars.

The episcopal diocesan convention for the diocese of Minnesota will meet in Duluth next June. The Herald welcomes the reverend gentlemen to Duluth, which is fast becoming a religious center, and assures them no other place offers in its June climate so happy and needed an antidote for the fiery and unquenchable debates now like a prairie fire traversing the religious landscape.

Next week will be one of many delights to Duluth. Besides half a dozen graduating exercises, a corner stone laying, a Shaksperean lecture by Mr. Donnelly and a music festival, there will be numerous other pleasures of a public and private nature in keeping with the rising glories of Duluth.

DR. THOMAS, of Chicago, is to deliver the baccalaureate sermon for the Hardy school of Duluth. This suggests that the doctor is a hardy variety of Christian, and yet it was only a few years ago that the methodist church cried at Mr. Thomas, scat!

The Light of the World.

The following from Edwin Arnold's "Light of the World," is hardly up to the straight, plain gospel story of the sermon on the mount:

"And a multitude
Followed Him to the Mountain, gathering
By troops and companies, on bank and mead,
Heedless of all things save His gracious words,
Till all the grass was blotted with great bands
Of gladsome people, clad for holiday,
Like divers colored flowers; and, all around,
Dark eager faces of ten thousand folk—
Men, women, children—made a sunlit throng
So thick, so talkful, on the asphodel,
The frightened eagles fled their crags—the snake
Slid to his hole, the wolf and panther hid
Ashamed of blood. But gentle things of Earth—
The crowned lark, and the dove, and mountain hare—
'Ware of some new good word thro' man to them—
Listened in thickets."

THEIR INNERMOST THOUGHTS.

A St. Paul man, looking at the Spalding and Lyceum: Aren't these fine buildings. This part of Duluth beats St. Paul.

Attorney Culver: I think the serving of an attachment on Editor Bernard was a mistake and that the whole thing will soon be straightened out.

J. M. Anderson: The Herald is the best advertising medium I ever found. I put in an advertisement for a girl yesterday, and before the paper was printed the girl appeared at the house. That is doing as much as anyone can ask.

Capt. Miller: When a Superior man blows to me that the railroads are giving Duluth the go-by and are fixing their eye on Superior, I like to tell him that the fine new depot now building at Duluth and the shabby affair at Superior show about how the railroads feel toward the two towns.

Manager Hurd, of the Refrigerator company: Our boilers were shipped some time ago but have not yet reached Chicago. I can find no trace of them, and I fear that they are in a railroad wreck. If we have no further delay with them we will be able to begin manufacturing early in August.

O. G. Brice: I visited nearly all the principal cities in Kansas, Missouri and Colorado, and made it a point to study their situation, their commercial and railroad facilities etc., but do not think that any one of them can compare with Duluth. The financial stringency is affecting them in greater degree than it can Duluth. The crops everywhere are in superb condition.

Will McQuade, of Tower: I complained to Judge Ensign about being compelled to serve as a petit juror when my business at Tower demands my strict attention. The judge told me that I ought to consider it an honor to serve on the jury, as the new law does away with the choosing of the hangers-on for jurymen and brings the best business men to sit on cases. That is but little consolation to me.

Oliver Dalrymple, in Fargo: Rains were heavier than usual and the winter was moist, so that the ground was in fine shape when spring opened. Rather too much dry weather came a little later, but we are having rains now. The first half of the crop put in is coming along finely and the last half is only a little behind on account of the dry weather. Everything points now to good crops and the farmers are hopeful. There will be quite an acreage of corn in Dakota this year. The success of last year's experiments with corn raising has encouraged the farmers to experiment on a larger scale. Barley would be a very profitable crop to grow if it could be handled as readily as wheat. But the trouble is there is too much difficulty in taking care of it. If it happens to stand a little too long in the field it colors and brewers will not buy it. They say it will not make beer of the right color. Then there is too great fluctuation in the barley market.

And Street Deserves all This.

Marquette Journal: The Superior Leader has an interview with Deputy Collector of Customs and City Statician Street of that place, in which this many titled personage takes up the statements of E. S. Wheeler, the engineer in charge of the government work at the Sault, relative to the condition on the canal. The Superior Pooh-bah visited the Sault some weeks ago, riding down from his home city on a whaleback and spent a few hours while there examining the canal locks and the cofferdam. As a consequence, he now assumes to criticize the work of engineers who have given years to preparing themselves for their profession, and have had the benefit of a large experience in practical engineering. In addition to serving the general government as deputy collector of customs at the port of Superior, and the city as a collector of statistics intended to beguile outside investors into putting their money into Superior "dirt" at fancy prices, Street runs a wretched little weekly paper, a glance over the meager columns of which are enough to make one regret that his ability as a newspaper man is not in keeping with the talent for civil engineering that he has all of a sudden found himself possessed of. He has mistaken his vocation, evidently and ought to be set to digging ditches at once. There are better men than he following that occupation at Superior now, and all they ask for their services is $2 a day.

Cash and Culture.

Evening Wisconsin: Art is a fine thing, but no community can indulge a taste for art until it gets money. It is not justifiable, therefore, to speak patronizingly of the West, because the costly evidences of artistic taste which exist here are the growth of recent years. They could not come until wealth had come. The money-making business man is the John the Baptist of art and culture.

The Chronic Kicker.

The poet says: "What is more perfect than a day in June?" And nowhere in the world are June days so perfect as in the great Northwest. And yet for some inscrutable purpose Providence permits the Chronic Kicker to infest even June days. You have seen the "Kicker," haven't you? Of no particular sex or age, "he, she, or it," is omnipresent, always awake and on the lookout for something to growl about. The genus is divided into several species, the political Kicker, the financial Kicker, the religious Kicker, the social Kicker, and so on, ad infinitum. Don't you wish you could escape it? Well, you can't, but there is one place where you will find less of him, her, etc., than anywhere else—and that is on the luxurious vestibuled trains of "The Burlington running between Minneapolis and St. Paul and Chicago and St. Louis. To get as far away from the Kicker as possible insist on your ticket agent selling you a ticket over "The Burlington." For any further information about the line, rates, etc., address W. J. C. Kenyon, general passenger agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

The Largest Lager Beer Brewery In the World.

ANNUAL CAPACITY, 1,500,000 BARRELS.

MANUFACTURERS AND BOTTLERS OF THE FAMOUS MILWAUKEE LAGER BEER.

OUR method of bottling beer is the only and the best way for the simple reason that the beer goes direct from the cask to the bottle. Our brewery is the only one in the United States that conveys the beer direct from the storage cellars through an underground pipe line to the bottling department, where it is bottled without once being exposed to the open air and its impurities. It is thus kept at the same low temperature of the storage cellars all the time. A recent act of congress allows us to operate a pipe line between our brewery and our bottling house. This great innovation enables the Pabst Brewing company, the largest establishment of its kind in the world, to furnish the public bottled beer for family use which contains as much natural life as a glass drawn from a freshly tapped barrel. Visitors to Milwaukee are cordially invited to inspect the operation of our new line. THE BOTTLED BEERS OF THIS BREWERY ARE SOLD ALL OVER THE CIVILIZED WORLD. Agencies in all the Leading Cities.

Our Most Celebrated Brands are "Bavarian," "Export," "Bohemian," "Select," "Hofbræu," and the World-Renowned Concentrated Extract of Malt and Hops, the "Best Tonic."

WOULD SELL ONCE MORE.

The Hartman Electric Company Will Again Endeavor to Sell to the City Its Arc Plant.

But at a Much Lower Price Than the Offer Made by it Last Winter.

An Increase of 25 Per Cent in Trade of Duluth's Established Jobbers For One Year.

"The Hartman Electric company," said Mayor Davis this morning "has expressed its intention of again trying to sell its plant to the city. The members of the company now acknowledge that they made a mistake or two when trying to dispose of their property some months ago, notably that they put about $25,000 on their franchise, which they derived from the city without a dollar of expense."

"Do you know what they want for it?"

"No, but I suppose that it would be considerably less than they wanted a few months ago."

"Do you think it would be a good thing for the city to invest in."

"I think just as before. I believe it would pay the city to own its own plant, but whether it would be best to own that particular plant is more than I could say. Considering the tightness of the times and the financial condition of the city, I do not not believe it would be well for the city to purchase any electric plant at the present time."

"Do you think the council would be agreeable to the purchase of the plant now if offered at a low price."

"I can't say as to that."

HOW JOBBING INCREASES.

A Fine Extension of Trade in a Twelve-Month.

The new Jobbers union of Duluth has already shown itself an organization of great value to its members and to the city at large. It is able, by combination, to affect freight rates and to do good in widening Duluth's wholesale territory, in spreading the fame of the head of the lake as a point for successful wholesale trade and in furthering new methods and new trade relationships by the close intercourse of its members. Not the least important function of the union is the opportunity it gives for the interchange of views and ideas.

"From my own experience and from talks with other Duluth jobbers," said A. B. Chapin, president of the Chapin Wells Hardware company this morning. "I estimate that the general jobbing trade of the city is 25 per cent greater than a year ago among those firms that were established a year ago. Of course the new concerns can make no estimate. We are constantly not only gaining in local trade, but adding customers who have heretofore traded elsewhere. There is not the slightest question as to the desirability of Duluth as a jobbing center, and if ever there had been doubts they have been fully dispelled by the growth of trade of the past few years. We have a slight advantage over St. Paul in freights—only about seven cents a hundred in hardware,—but the great help comes by our saving in handling goods, with warehouses located where vessels can meet the railways."

The Chapin-Wells Hardware company, which has plans for a splendid 5-story hardware store on Fifth avenue west, is one of the patriarchs of the Duluth wholesale trade, having been established eight years. It now occupies something like 10,000 feet of floor space on slip No. 3, soon to be increased to 50,000 feet on Fifth avenue, as well as four 25-foot stores on West Superior and Michigan streets. It also has branch stores at West Duluth and West Superior. The wholesale house carries a stock of considerably over $100,000, while the retail departments occupying, as stated, six 25-foot stores in three cities, carry as much more. Four men are traveling for the concern from as far east as Marquette to Helena and beyond, and north into Canada, and the total list of employes numbers about sixty. The officers of the company are A. B. Chapin, president; H. C. Crawford, secretary; W. H. Blades, who lately came to Duluth from Detroit, where he has long been identified with the wholesale trade, manager.

Among its stockholders are some of the heaviest men in the West, and there is an abundance of capital behind the concern, which has a capital stock of $300,000. It is fully able and is ready to expend as the Northwest grows and its fine new brick building, work on which will soon begin, is an evidence of how it intends to grow.

SEVERAL OF THE SCHOOLS.

Notes of Interest From Several Closing Schools.

If parties desiring tickets to the High school graduating exercises will leave their names and the number of tickets desired at the office of the superintendent of schools tickets will be provided them. General distribution of tickets will take place from the same place at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, June 13, the day of the exercises. The gallery of Temple Opera will be open to all, but no one will be admitted to the remainder of the house without tickets, which will be provided, as far as possible, to all who apply for them.

The closing exercises of the Yale school, Prof. Loman's excellent institution for boys, take place next Friday. All recitations for the year stopped yesterday, and until that time will be devoted to examinations. Prof. Loman is doing educational work of the highest order and his school deserves not only large attendance, but he himself the utmost aid possible in making it what he has planned, a thorough and noble institution.

According to a pleasant custom inaugurated by them last year, Principal and Mrs. Critchett last night entertained the graduating class of the public High school, as well as the High school teachers. A very jolly evening was spent by all present.

Dr. Thomas, the noted Chicago divine, will deliver the baccalaureate address at the graduating exercises of the Hardy school on Tuesday, June 16.

The Bethel Industrial school will have an exhibition Wednesday, June 17.

The West End's Modest Request.

The library board failed to get a quorum last night, but the conference with the west end committee was held. There was a considerate delegation present. The proposition made by the west enders was to the effect that rooms be rented in the new Vincent building at Twenty-first avenue west at a cost of $20 per month, and that a librarian be employed, and to have there a fully supply of magazines, an encyclopedia, dictionary, etc., besides a full catalogue of the books in the main library. Considerable discussion was had and adjournment was taken for one week when the west enders will be armed with full figures of first cost and expense of maintenance of the branch. They will quite likely get what they want, or as near it as funds will warrant.

Mr. Hoare's Benefit.

The audience that assembled at Temple Opera last night was not so large as the occasion deserved, nor as the entertainment warranted. An excellent orchestra, such as this has been, is a great credit to any city, and it should be encouraged heartily. The playing of last night was something of a surprise, so good was it. Perhaps the best orchestra number was "La Caravane," by Asch. The fantasie, "Visions of a Dream," was also excellent. Mrs. Wardwell sang with her usual sweetness and was compelled to respond to encores. Mr. Ingalls' baritone solo was most enjoyable, while the accompaniments of Mrs. McKindley were of their usual high character.

Not Half Through.

There is no prospect of the state wheat investigation being brought to a close at a very early date, though both sides are becoming thoroughly weary of it, and are disposed to hurry it as much as possible. Mr. Childs said in St. Paul today that it would take him all this week and half of next to complete the examination of the witnesses on his side, and after that the elevators will begin work on their side of the question. It will probably take the better part of the month to complete the investigation.

Extending the Mesaba Options.

The Mesaba Iron company, which was organized many years ago, acquired about 9000 acres of iron land on the Mesaba range east of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad. Some time ago the company gave an option on its property to a syndicate composed of Duluth and Eastern capitalists, titled the Mesaba syndicate. This option will expire in a few days, but it is learned from a member of the company that it will probably be extended.

Still Another Convention.

The diocesan convention of the protestant episcopal diocese of Minnesota will meet in Duluth in June, 1892. An urgent invitation given by Rev. W. M. Barker of St. Pauls church having been accepted by the diocese. It will bring to this city many of the ablest minds in the ranks of episcopalianism, for Minnesota is well in the lead in bright and thoughtful men of the denomination.

The Railway Rate War.

The dropping of the Eastern tourist rates by the Chicago lines to the same basis as that of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic has caused the latter to make a still further reduction of $1.50 one way and $3 round trip. Where the fight will end is hard to predict. The railroads may be paying people to ride if they keep on.

No Appointment Yet.

The appointment of a successor to Capt. Clements will not be made for some time.

the golden opportunity of a lifetime. Lakeside Land Company,

507 First National Bank.

We wish to call the attention of Duluthians to the many attractions offered by LAKESIDE as a place of residence for the present and future. With the Electric Line an assured fact, and the splendid service which we have at present on the Duluth & Iron Range, we offer as the first inducement, the Cheapest and Best property in the market, and most easily available. Then we give a liberal discount, 20 per cent, to those who buy to build at once, and lend three-fourths of the money necessary to purchase a House and Lot, payable in five years in monthly payments at 8 per cent interest. We have our own builder and can rush a house along as fast as wished for. This is the best season of the year to build so take advantage of it.

As to the natural advantages of Lakeside they have been set forth so many times it is useless to go over that ground very fully. There are a few facts, however, which we wish to call attention to. By Nov. 1, this year, there will be one continuous grand Boulevard Drive from the heart of Duluth to a point about one mile below Lester River. Heavy teaming will be kept off this drive and it is bound to become one of the most popular of any about Duluth, not even excepting the Boulevard on the hill which is justly the pride of Duluth now.

We have also a system of Water Works and Sewers in operation which will be extended from time to time as called for by the growth of this suburb. We have every natural and artificial attraction to offer.

We can sell you property on the shore of the beautiful lake, a mile back from it at the foot of the hills, by the rippling falls of the Lester, of which there are many--property within a block of any of any of the six stations or a mile away. In fact, we are prepared to suit everyone.

Do not miss the opportunity of your lifetime to secure a cheap home. When boom times come the cheapest and best property always advances first, Bear this in mind. You are sure of a good profit on your speculation and you are saving your rent and you have the satisfaction of knowing that you are getting each month nearer owning a home of your own.

The first thing to be sure of when you are making an investment is that you are not also making a mistake. Clothes are either a good investment or a bad one. There is no middle ground. Why do we specially urge you to buy one of our Black Cheviot suits at this particular time? Because there are a few of them left and because in material and make, they defy comparison; while as to the prices, well, just come in and let us show them to you, and we have no hesitation in saying that you will quickly acknowledge that they are the best suits that you have ever seen for the money.

IN OUR Suit Department we can suit everyone, having thousands of styles for you to select from. We can suit the man who earns his $1.75 per day { and none should } as well as the man who counts his dollars by millions. SUGAR BOUNTIES.

Nearly Fifteen Million Dollars to be Disbursed in the Year to Our Sugar Growers.

Something the McKinley Bill Will do for the Planters and Farmers.

A General Reconstruction of the Cabinet is Prophesied for the Near Future.

NEW YORK, June 8.—A Washington special says: Within a year from July 1, the treasury department will pay to citizens of the United States between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000 as a bounty for raising sugar. This sum will be disbursed in various parts of the country. The most of it will go to Lousiana for the production of cane sugar. Over $1,000,000 will be paid to the farmers in New England states, New York, Ohio, Illinois and the Northwestern states for the production of sugar from maple sap. A large sum will be distributed in Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and California, among those who make sugar from beets and sorghum cane. The distribution of such a great sum of money among so many people so widely separated, and the pains that must be taken to prevent fraud upon the government, will be an undertaking of considerable magnitude. Every ounce of the millions of pounds of sugar produced must be weighed and samples of it tested and inspected by government inspectors, who will be appointed for that purpose. This work will be done under the direction of the internal revenue bureau of the treasury department and will be conducted with such thoroughness and system as to prevent and detect fraud. The bounty to be paid for the production of American sugar is authorized by the tariff law, commonly known as the McKinley bill. The law provides that the producers of sugar which tests 90 degrees by the polariscope shall receive a bounty of two cents per pound, and those producing sugar testing less than 90 and not less than 80 degrees shall receive a bounty of one and three-quarters per pound. The law also provides regulations under which the bounty shall be applied for and paid.

There is every indication that the farmers of the West who raise beets and sorghum, the planters of the South with their immense plantations of cane, and the farmers of the North with their groves of maple trees are fully alive to the fact that the government intends to pay them for their industry in addition to the market price they will receive for their products, and they mean to get all they can for their products.

A BLOODY DAY.

Louisville Fairly Revels in Bloodshed Yesterday; Murder and Suicide.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 8.—Sunday will go down in the records as one of the bloodiest days in the history of Louisville. The list of crimes perpetrated yesterday includes a murder, a suicide of a most deliberate character, two cutting affrays, which will in all probability terminate fatally, and a dozen other instances, in which a knife or pistol was used with effect. Carl Taylor, a negro excursionist from Frankfort, assaulted and attempted to shoot Conductor William Wilder for protesting against his smashing the car furniture. Wilder's pistol went off first, however, and the negro fell to the car floor dead, with a bullet in his brain. Henry Zickel, a west end tobacconist and a member of the G. A. R., placed the muzzle of his musket to his head and pulled the trigger with his toe. The whole top and side of his head were blown completely off. The weapon was loaded when the civil war ended. Drink caused the act. Two white men became involved in a quarrel with a negro over a game of "craps" and falling upon him beat him into insensibility and gouged out one of his eyes.

A RECONSTRUCTION.

Many Cabinet Changes Likely to Come After the Elections.

NEW YORK, June 8.—A special to the Recorder from Washington says it is stated by a Vermont republican who was formerly clerk of a prominent committee of the house that Secretary Proctor would retire after the fall elections and then Mr. Harrison's cabinet would be reconstructed. Blaine, Tracy and Foster would retain their present positions. Mr. Miller would go on the bench and Noble would be provided with a foreign mission. The reconstruction of the cabinet would be made, he said, between Secretaries Blaine, Foster and Tracy and the President himself, with the object of promoting Harrison's election. All stories, he said, as to who would be selected for cabinet vacancies were merely conjectural, as no person had yet been selected or even discussed.

The Cost of Living.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The senate finance committee which is engaged in securing figures on the cost of living is making considerable progress in its work. Senators Carlisle, Hiscock and Aldrich have been especially active, and they have had considerable aid from Labor Commissioner Carroll R. Wright, ex-Congressman Grosvenor and W. A. Wells, the free trade advocate. A special committee has been appointed to ascertain the differences in prices of general articles under the old and new tariff used by people of an income of less than $1000. During the present week Labor Commissioner Wright will send copies of this list to leading cities that his agents may ascertain prices of enumerated articles for the decade.

For the Barings Investments.

BOSTON, June 8.—The Boston News Bureau has the following London cable: Negotiations are going on for the formation of a trust to take over the Baring guarantors engagements, but the issue is doubtful. If unsuccessful, trouble among certain guarantors is not unlikely.

Macdonald's Enduring Monument

LONDON, June 8.—The Times says that the Canadian Pacific railway will be Macdonald's enduring monument. "From his death we must date a new period of doubt and danger."

PRINCE OF BACCARAT.

Cummings Will Not be Disgraced While the Prince Goes Free.

LONDON, June 8.—Immediately after the court trying the baccarat case had been called to order Sir Charles Russell arose and resumed his argument for the defense. Sir Charles said that if what Arthur Stanley Wilson had testified occurred, it excluded all possible suggestion that the accusation brought against the plaintiff that he had cheated at cards at Tranby Croft, arises from a misunderstanding of Sir William Gordon Cumming's system known as "coup de trouis." The defense, Sir Charles said, had furnished testimony which both in variety and detail pointed to the truth in this matter. The plaintiff was doubly condemned, first, by the independent testimony of witnesses who had no motive to injure him, but who had every motive to prevent a scandal; secondly, by his own conduct when brought face to face with the accusation. It was not possible, said Sir Charles with emphasis, that any innocent man would take the extraordinary course which had been followed by Sir William Gordon Cumming in this perfidious business. It would have been the first impulse of an honorable man confronted with so horable an accusation to demand and insist that he be without one moment's delay placed front to front with his accuser.

Passing away from this, Sir Charles entered into an elaborate effort to minimize by anticipation of the fierce arraignment by the prosecution of the Wilson family and other members of the baccarat party.

Sir Edward Clark created a sensation by declaring that the name of Sir William Gordon Cumming could not be stricken from the army list while that of the prince of Wales remained thereon.

AN HONORABLE MEMBER

Before the United States Court for Subornation of Perjury.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Sol Van Praag is the proud proprietor of a dive in the very worst section of that salubrious portion of the city known as "the levee." By the grace of the toughest of the tough, moreover, the Hon. Sol is also one of the lawmakers of the state of Illinois, and for several months past, with headquarters at Springfield, he has been engaged in adding force and character to the laws which will figure in the next volume of the book of statutes.

Today, however, the Hon. Sol is compelled to permit the house of representatives to run itself from the fact that his presence is urgently needed in the United States district court on charges of subornation of perjury and conspiracy, on both of which charges a grand jury has found true bills. It is charged that previous to the elections of last fall Praag was instrumental in having persons naturalized and put on the registration lists by fraudulent means.

United States Attorney Gilchrist says that he would have been brought to trial before had it not been for the fact that some people might have looked upon it as a political persecution owing to the closeness of the legislature in the matter of the senatorial contest. Now that the legislature is pretty well through with its work, however, the government proposes to push the case to the end.

The Dead Premier.

HALIFAX, June 8.—The flags were half-masted here yesterday on all public and a great many private buildings and the shipping port for the death of Sir John A. Macdonald. The news was announced in all the churches, and tributes to the architect of Canadian nationality were paid by ministers belonging to all political parties. Archbishop O'Brien described the dead chieftain chieftain as a man able to see and with a mind to grasp the probabilities of the country and faith enough in her people to undertake the works necessary to ensure the glorious future of Canada. The work he did will be the permanent good of Canada.

Cockerill's New Paper.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The first copy of the Morning Advertiser made its appearance today under the leadership of John A. Cockerill, late managing editor of the World. It has acquired the press and plant franchise of the Continent, whose place it will take, but will be in effect the morning edition of that well-known evening journal, the Commercial Advertiser. In its editorial today the Advertiser says it will aim, first of all, to be, within its lines, a liberal newspaper, free from prejudice, free from faction, free from outside dictation, and will maintain at all times a wholesome independence.

To Try Dr. Briggs.

NEW YORK, June 8.—A special meeting of the New York presbytery is being held here to receive the report of the committee recently appointed to arrange the method of proceedure for the judicial investigation of the orthodoxy of Dr. Charles A. Briggs. The chairmain is Dr. G. W. F. Birch, pastor of Bethany church. The whole committee is on record as the anti-Briggs. The trial will not be opened until next autumn, but it is proposed to arrange the proceedure that he may be put on trial upon his return.

Noted Canadian Dead.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 8.—The death is announced of Hon. Samuel Creelman from la grippe, aged 81. He was one of the pre-confederation politicians in Nova Scotia, and was one of the leaders of the liberal party who united with the conservatives to carry the confederation of the provinces. He was a member of several administrations, was the first gold commissioner for the provinces, and when the conservatives were in power between 1878 and 1882 was government leader in the legislative council.

Retired After Long Service.

BOSTON, June 8.—After forty-three years of able service as a railroad man, J. W. Hobart, general manager of the Vermont Central railroad announces his retirement from active participation in railway affairs. In 1886 Mr. Hobart was elected president of the Ogdensburg & Lake Champlain Railroad company, which position he resigned in 1887, when that road was leased by and formally transferred to the Central Vermont company.

No Cruelties Were Practiced.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 8.—The grand jury of McDowell county have made their report on the alleged cruelties upon the employes of the Norfolk & Western Railroad company. They state that no persons of either foreign or native birth have, as laborers upon the road been subject to any cruelties.

LAID THE STONE.

A Vast Crowd Attend the Ceremonies at the New High School Building.

Ignatius Donnelly Makes an Entertaining and Instructive Address on Schools.

The Occasion is One of the Most Noteworthy in the History of the City.

The ceremony of the laying of the corner stone of the High school building this forenoon drew a great crowd. Nearly half the school children of the city were present with their teachers and took part in the exercises, and fully 2000 citizens were present to swell the crowd. The day was a perfect one for the exercises. The main floor of the new structure and the yard immediately in front were filled with the children. On the platform were Superintendent Denfeld, Orator Ignatius Donnelly, President White and other members of the board of education, Rev. C. C. Salter and many prominent citizens. The vast audience made an inspiring sight. The exercises were opened with a prayer by Rev. C. C. Salter. The singing of "America" by the children then followed. President White then introduced Superintendent Denfeld who gave a short history of the schools and school buildings of Duluth. Among other things he said, the work of the people and the school board and officers of Duluth was zealous in giving this city educational facilities not second to any city in the state. The conservatism of American institutions depended upon the public schools. Duluth will have by the end of the year nineteen school buildings, costing more than a million dollars. They show the faith we have in the public schools, in the education and intelligence of the people and the faith we have that here will arise one of the proudest cities in the world.

More singing followed, after which Hon. Ignatius Donnelly was introduced. The sage of Nininger had no set speech, but spoke as he was inspired by the scene and the occasion. He said: The situation here justifies the assembling of people on this occasion. We see below us the lake and its commerce. The time is not far distant when great vessels will leave this city for all parts of the world. We see the railroad tracks which reach out to the great cities of the East, to the Gulf and to Puget Sound and the Pacific. There is no more wonderful or more interesting spot in all the world than that where we now stand. Here is the site of one of the to be colossal cities of the world. Almost equal in wonder to the lake and railroads is this vast audience. He spoke of his interest in Duluth and of his long acquaintance with her. He recalled the days of the village and of the struggles in the legislature for our first railroad charter and in congress for the Lake Superior & Mississippi land grant. In the latter struggle Senator Morrill, of Vermont, then in the house, said nobody lived here and the country would produce nothing but muskrats. He wished the senator could see this audience. He had long believed that the coat of arms of Minnesota was a mistake and should be changed. It should be a double-barreled cradle with twins in each cradle. From the appearance of the crowd Duluth alone could take care of the future of the country. The purpose and object of this gathering was to rear a temple not to superstition, but to intelligence, a temple in which the human mind would be developed to the mastery of natnre. It was not to the learning of the Old World which was confined to the wealthy, but to learning of the new, to all the people. This was to be the people's university. The investment in this institution was for the benefit of prosperity. What the children are today the nation will be in thirty years. The speaker then spoke of the blood which flowed in the veins of our people and the long list of illustrious men of that blood, and exclaimed: "If you could spend a hundred millions upon public schools and produce a single Lincoln the money would be well spent." We would not part with our great names. For what sum would we blot out the name of Washington? The mighty question of the future is the uplifting of all the people not; to produce great men, but to produce a great people. The public school will do away the policeman and the standing army of the future. The school house is the basis of the growth of the people. Our growth has in two essential things, liberty and the schoolhouse. Liberty is not license, not wildness of ideas. It is justice between man and man, the justice that lifts the bonds off the oppressed, the justice that casts down king craft and establishes churches.

After the address of Mr. Donnelly S. A. Thompson sang his "Flag of a Nation Free," the school children singing the chorus. President White then read the list of the articles placed in the box in the corner stone, consisting of newspapers, school reports, lists of teachers and pupils and other public records, pamphlets and articles, and the stone was then laid. After this ceremony was concluded the children sang the dedication song and the audience dispersed.

Was Short and Killed Himself.

MILWAUKEE, June 8.—The dead body of Fred Goss, aged 25 years, was found in the town of Lake yesterday with a bullet through his head. Goss was a collector for the Oberman Brewing company. Last week it was discovered that he was short in his accounts, and a quiet investigation was started. Goss learned of this and failed to appear at the brewery on Friday. The amount of his peculation is not known but is believed to be quite large.

A NICE NEST EGG.

The Minnesota Iron Company Declares an $840,000 Dividend.

The stockholders of the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company and the Minnesota Iron company came in here by a special train of eleven cars from Chicago yesterday morning and later spent a few hours in making a visit to Two Harbors. This morning at 11 o'clock the railroad company held its annual meeting re-electing all the old directors, except George C. Stone, whose place was filled by C. P. Coffin, of Chicago. No statement of the finances could be obtained further than that the company had had a fairly prosperous year. At 11:30 the iron company's meeting was held, and Mr. Stone's position as director filled by Mr. Coffin. It was learned that an annual dividend of 6 per cent on $14,000,000 was declared, which dividend amounts to $840,000 How much went to surplus can not be ascertained. At 12:30 the directors took their train for Tower to inspect the mines. In the party is Congressman Roswell P. Flower, the pride of New York's democracy. He was asked to give his opinion regarding the advisability of renominating Cleveland for the presidency, but declared in his usual good humor that he couldn't think of talking politics on this trip.

Marine Notes.

Capt. B. Mallory is in command of the Minnesota Iron company's last boat, the Mesaba.

The schooner P. S. Marsh has been chartered to carry lumber from Ashland to Dunkirk at $2.37½.

Buffalo made a big record in May, shipping 351,410 tons of coal. The season's shipments up to June 1 were 445,610 tons.

The tug Record will leave tomorrow with the United States engineers' corps for Grand Marais. From there the tug will take them across to Ontonagon, whence they will go to Ashland and Bayfield.

A coroner's jury has found that Daniel Quinlan, a deck hand on the steamer Elphicke, came to his death by "dangerous and unsafe means of descent into the hold." The Elphicke is not unlike many other vessels in this respect. Suit for damages will be brought against the vessel's owners.

Marine Record: The handsome steel steamer Western Reserve, recently built by the Cleveland Ship Building company to the order of Capt. Peter Minch, has just made the run from Detour to the rivers with 101,000 bushels of grain at thirteen miles per hour, carrying 145 pounds steam.

The North Wind cleared from Two Harbors Saturday with 1437 tons of Minnesota ore and the E. B. Hale and Hesper with 3002 tons of Chandler. The Castalia and Colgate Hoyt took out 4254 tons of Minnesota ore yesterday, and the 107 2412 Chandler ore. The Hill boats do not take full loads of ore, as they take on large amounts of flour at this port.

The fact that many vessels are tied up with an ore handlers' strike on Lake Erie and that most of the other boats are on the lower lakes in consequence of the late storm has caused a stiffening of prices for wheat tonnage. A fair amount of tonnage was contracted for here today at one and one-half cents and an offer of one and three-quarter cents with no taker has been made for small jags.

Foster on the 2 Per Cents.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Secretary Foster returned from New York this morning. He stated that his conference in New York with the bankers, developed the fact that the bankers would take all the outstanding 4½ per cent bonds at 2 per cent, or extend the $23,000,000 held by them to secure circulation at 1 or 1½ per cent, rather than have to buy 4 per cent bonds to continue in business. He said he had not decided what course to pursue. Later in the day he had an extended interview with the President on the subject. Philadelphia financial matters were also discussed.

BOSTON, June 8.—The thirty-ninth annual session of the International Typographical union was begun today in Faneuil hall. Governor Russell delivered an address of welcome. Edward L. Law Against Catholics.

LONDON, June 8.—A dispatch from from Stockholm says that the Swedish riksdag has passed a law prohibiting Roman catholics from seeking to make converts to their faith. The exercise of the faith is freely permitted. The law is prompted by the growing number of Roman catholics in Sweden, most of them being foreigners.

Gibson's Indictment Quashed.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Judge Blodgett this morning quashed the federal indictment against Geo. J. Gibson, the ex-secretary of the whisky trust, who is held for trial on the charge of trying to bribe government officials to blow up Shufeldt's distillery. Judge Blodgett held that the federal statutes did not cover the crime, which was one to be answered for in the state courts.

The suit of the Countess Russell, wife of Earl Russell, for separation on the ground of cruelty is on for trial today in London. The evidence will be sensational, not to say extraordinary. The earl is head of one of the oldest families of Anglo-Norman aristocracy. The couple were married four years ago, but the honeymoon had hardly come to an end before the earl developed the most unpleasant eccentricities and habits.

ANDREWS DEAD.

The Strange Manner in Which the Captain of the Negaunee Meets His Death.

The Flags of all Ships in the Harbor at Half Mast to do Him Honor.

He is Suspected of Taking His Own Life in a Fit of Despondency.

The flags of all the vessels in port are hanging at half mast today, as Capt. I. H. Andrews, of the schooner Negaunee, is dead, having in all probability committed suicide in a fit of temporary insanity, brought on by a drunken carousal. He was found dead in his bed at 4:45 this morning by Mrs. Fanny McConnell, the vessel cook. The story she gives is as follows:

"Yesterday morning the captain came to me and said that somebody had been in his locker and had taken the laudanum, and he wanted to know if I had any idea as to who had taken it or where it was. I knew nothing about it and so told him. He said he wanted to take a little, but I didn't question him for what. About 1 p. m. I saw him taking a dose of some sort of powder. What it was I do not know. I supposed he was taking it to counteract the effects of the liquor, which he had been taking quite freely. About 6 p. m. he took another dose and then threw the bottle containing it away. Then he and the second mate, Peter Smith, went ashore. Two hours later he came back dead drunk in company with the second mate and the captains of the Ahira Cobb and R. P. Ranney. He was so drunk that he had to be carried aboard, but was able to recognize those on board and finally turned into his bunk himself. About 2 o'clock I awoke and heard him breathing quite heavily and at twenty minutes of five I again awoke. I listened and heard no breathing and after dressing rapped on his door. Hearing no response, I went in and saw him face down in bed. I put my hand on his head and was startled to find it cold. Immediately I aroused the first mate."

First Mate Elmer Porter's story agrees with that of the cook. He also said the Negaunee came here eight days ago with stone for Quinby & Omeis from the Malone Stone company and Cleveland Stone company and was for the greater part of the time unloading at Garfield avenue. Nearly all the time since coming here the captain and second mate have been on one continued spree. He knew nothing about the taking of the powders. The second mate was the only one who had been with the captain before this trip and all he knew about him was that he had a sickly wife at Cleveland and that his father sails the schooner Nellie Reddington. On the way up the captain was sober.

Deputy Coroner Stocker was notified at an early hour and he caused the body to be taken to Stewart's morgue. The face of the deceased was a purple black. The second mate, Peter Smith, tried to get into the captain's locker this morning, probably to get whisky, but was hindered by the first mate. When sent off to telegraph the news to the Bradleys, of Cleveland, who own the vessel, Smith went on a spree with the $10 bill given him and at 10 o'clock turned up at the boat and created a disgraceful disturbance just before the undertaker came to take the remains away. The captain told the cook on Wednesday that his spree had thus far cost him $70, and there is reason to believe that considerable of the owners' money has been spent since then. He was a young man, of fine appearance and well experienced, but used to drink considerably last year when in the steamer Kimball. Last year the Bradleys decided to discharge him, but took him back again on promise of reforming. He was a member of the Royal Arcanum and his number in the Lake Captains association was 313. He was married ten years and leaves no children.

Capt. Wysoon of the Ranney, and the captain of the Ahira Cobb, who helped the dead man to get aboard his boat were not of the opinion that he came to his death by poisoning, nor was Dr. Stocker. They called on the captain Sunday afternoon and looked into his medicine chest to see whether he had anything that he could injure himself with, and could find nothing. Capt. Wysoon, however, acknowledged that the deceased had asked some one where he could get twenty cents worth of laudanum. After an autopsy is held the body will be embalmed and taken by train to Cleveland.

Street Railway Extension.

If all goes well the West Duluth council will tonight pass an ordinance authorizing the Duluth Street Railway company to build an electric line on Grand avenue. "We can have the steel here in a few days," said Manager Chase this morning, "and could get it ready for operation in forty-five days. We shall use sixty-pound T rails, which are a much better kind than the girder rails we use here and fifteen pounds heavier. We would be agreeable toward running the line out Superior street until it was necessary to strike Grand avenue, or we would build on Third street over the proposed continuation through Wallbanks addition."

"As for the West Fourth street line, I think there is a chance of its going on. The members of the company are East now and so we can't settle the matter right away. If we decide to build it they won't get over two blocks of paving ahead of us. The company wants to do what is right by the city."

COTTON MATTHER ON THE QUAKER CREW.

The following letter alleged to have been written by Cotton Mather was recently made public, but has gained its chief interest by the endorsement of Dr. Heber Newton from his New York pulpit a week ago. It is worth reading whoever wrote it:

Sept. 15, 1682.

"To Ye Aged and Beloved, Mr. John Higginson:

"There be now at sea a ship called Welcome, which has on board 100 or more of the hereties and malignants called quakers with W. Penn, who is the chief seamp at the head of them. The general court has accordingly given secret orders to Master Malachy Hascott, of the brig Porpoise, to waylay the said Welcome slyly as near the Cape of Cod as may be and make captive the said Penn and his ungodly crew, so that the Lord may be glorified and not mocked on the soil of this new country with the heathen worship of these people. Much spoil can be made by selling the whole lot to Barbadoes, where slaves fetch good prices in rum and sugar; and we shall not only do the Lord great service by punishing the wicked, but we shall make great good for His minister and people.

"Yours in ye bowels of Christ, COTTON MATHER."

The letter has received much critical attention as a result of Dr. Newton's action, and there is considerable difference of opinion as to its authorship. It is argued that Mather did not receive shipping news by cable at that time, but it is said in reply that the intended movements of the Quakers might easily have been known in advance, as Penn's charter from the king had been secured the previous year. It is also claimed that the word "scamp" would not have been used by Mather, as it is not found in Shakespeare and is not sufficiently severe, but the New York Sun suggests that Mather might have found in the old French word "escamper" or the Italian word "scampare" just the shade of meaning he desired to describe Penn. The custom of selling slaves in the West Indies was so well established that the St. Louis Republic thinks Mather wouldn't have mentioned it, but Cotton was a great mentioner and left nothing in doubt. At the date of the letter Mather was only 19 years old, and it is said a boy would not have written it. But the answer is made that this remarkable youth had already been four years out of Harvard college and two years in the ministry, so that he would as likely have written it at 19 as any other age. The New York Sun thinks Rev. Higginson was too good a man to receive such a letter from so shrewd a young fellow as Mather, and also holds that as Mr. Higginson was then only 66 but lived till he was 92, he would not at that time have been addressed as "the aged and beloved." But there is little in these objections, and surely there is enough difference between 19 and 66 for much reverence to be shown the aged. Had Cotton have known that his old friend would live a quarter of a century longer he might have modified the address, but lots of folks are gray enough at 66 to be very aged and beloved people.

No internal evidence has thus far been discovered, unless it be a flavor of antique humor in the composition of the letter, to show sufficient cause why Cotton Mather should not be charged with the offense. The zeal with which he served the Lord in those days shows that he could have planned such a scheme as the letter unfolds without any detriment to his standing in the church or society, and the only serious doubt about the matter is the fact that Higginson was not very firm in the colonial orthodoxy, and did not in the subsequent years take kindly to the practice of hanging witches and cutting off the ears of the ungodly. But Mather's character, in view of this letter, shines forth with a new and more enduring brilliancy.

SILLY SUPERIOR.

Under the heading "The Index of Life," the Superior Telegram of Friday last contained an editorial which has called forth a communication that appears elsewhere in The Herald. As we purpose to have a word to say now and then about the building of cities and the methods of those who fatten on falsehoods, the editorial is given below:

"Those who have had long experience in watching the growth and prosperity of cities know very well that the record of real estate transfers is a sensitive and unfailing index to the real degree of prosperity of a place. Where large industries are conducting successful business, the wheels of mills and factories are all in motion and factories and docks have to enlarge their quarters to make room for their increasing business and where new industries are clamoring for locations, is the place where property is in good demand and real estate transfers mount upward. Dead towns or those that are falling into a premature decay offer no inducements for men of means to make investments and their transfers are correspondingly few. When the blight strikes a place it is indicated nowhere quicker than in the number and value of its real estate transfers. An examination of the recorded transfers in Superior for the month of May shows that they foot up $2,716,834 and in Duluth for the same month they amounted to but $821,016. These figures tell a story of life and activity in one city and of a wasting away in the other that cannot be gainsaid. One place is pushing its way rapidly to the front rank of business centers and in many lines is already abreast of the leaders; the other boasts of a magnificent lake view and affords sightly places for residences on a rugged and wind-swept hillside. One is strong, vigorous and possessed of a sturdy nature; the other exemplifies the parable of the seed that was sown on stony ground that sprang up and flourished for a season, but withered for lack of earth. One is the Mecca of the capitalist and the hustler, the other, the abode of the disappointed."

The death of Sir John Macdonald, the Canadian premier, at 10:15 Saturday night, as foreshadowed in the dispatches to The Herald that afternoon, removes the most distinguished character in a century of Canadian history. Reference has heretofore been made to his achievements as a political leader, and to the probable effect his death would have on the conservative party. While the Canadian people are in mourning for the distinguished dead, they already feel that a new epoch has begun. To depart in future from his governmental policy is no denial of its past usefulness in consolidating the Dominion. But the conditions and needs have changed. Were he himself just entering public life again, his policy would be as different as that looked for from the liberal party. He served his country well in his age and generation. None have done more. In peace and honor let him sleep.

The burden of monarchy rests heavily upon Portugal, but its ties are light. Should the financial troubles of that little realm become much further complicated, the people looking to Brazil as an example may brush royalty aside and set up in business for themselves. This course is becoming the order of the day, and should Portugal adopt it, Spain with no master monarch now to guide her may soon fall in line. Then the spirit of liberty will cross the Alps, and who can say what in a score of years will be the fate in in the German and Italian countries? The old order of things is trembling in its rusty trail, the mirage of freedom is seen over Europe, and the fountain of liberty from its high source here is leveling the world with its gushing waters.

There are rumors that the labor in the West Superior Steel plant, that nursery of the Land and River Improvement company, is to be or has been reduced. The local orders for pipe for the water or sewer plant have either been reduced or the supply is in excess of immediate demand and use. It is a fortunate monetary matter for Duluth real estate investors that they are not a subsidary treasury department for a land company. It is certainly more comforting to accept Mr. Statistical Street's opinion of us as mountain goats than to find ourselves the shorn lamb of a land company.

The grand jury in January last caused some surprise by giving County Commissioner Jefferson a public drubbing in its report on the county buildings. But June follows January, and retribution comes on the heels of malevolence. So now another grand jury has not only vindicated Mr. Jefferson but has pointed the forefinger of scorn at the malice of its predecessor. The ways of the Lord are good and righteous altogether.

The Superior Consolidated Land company has decided to try and raise $750,000 on mortgage of its property for the avowed purpose of bonusing industries. What an aggregation of the halt, the lame and the blind of the manufacturing world this sum will secure. Bonusing industries is not generally regarded as the best method of building a substantial city.

The location of Superior so close to Duluth will of necessity make it considerable of a town in time, but that the amount of lying being done just now over there will react on it in the near future is as sure as the principles of interest and taxation.

A Duluth merchant who could find no store room on Superior street recently moved to West Superior where he found plenty of business locations but no business, and now he sighs to return to the bosom of the cliff dwellers. It is ever thus.

THE SALE of 2,000,000 bushels of wheat for export by a Duluth house is not so unusual or remarkable a matter as to call for extended newspaper comment.

Richmond Dispatch: As there were no men of national reputation for statesmanship present in the Cincinnati convention, it was not to be expected that that body would formulate an unobjectionable creed. It was no easy task that the "Peoples Party" had before it. We are rather gratified at what it committed to do than disturbed in mind by what it did do.

OUR ELEGIAC POET.

It is deserving of remark that the touching verses posted over the gateways and on little driveway tablets in our national cemeteries should have been taken from the poem of a confederate soldier. The author, Theodore O'Hara, was a native of Kentucky, the son of an Irish exile, and when the remains of the Kentucky boys, his companions in arms, who fell in Mexico, were brought home for burial at Frankfort, he read over their graves the poem which has made his name immortal, beginning,

The muffled drum's sad roll has beat
The soldier's last tatoo;
No more on life's parade shall meet
That brave and fallen few.

O'Hara was born in 1820 and died in 1867 in Alabama, but his remains were afterwards by act of the Kentucky legislature removed to Frankfort and placed beside the comrades over whom he had read his own immortal words. He had a classical education, was at one time in government employ at Washington and practiced law there after the Mexican war, but soon drifted South and entered journalism. When the civil war broke out he was at Mobile, and naturally went with his associates into the rebellion. But his words will live when the rebellion is forgiven, and a grateful nation will never cease to be touched with the beautiful sentiment of his genius as they repeat:

"On Fame's eternal camping ground
Their silent tents are spread,
But Glory guards, with solemn round,
The bivouac of the dead."

As the visitor passes through Arlington cemetery on the heights of the Potomac, opposite Washington, where once were the splendors of Southern hospitality and chivalry and the pebbly driveways lead him on amid great trees and granite shafts, with a modest undergrowth of 20,000 marble slabs, the air so delicately perfumed from the flower gardens on every side, seems full of sacred inspiration, and he pauses in making a curve in the road to catch the lines,

"Rest on, embalmed and sainted dead,
Dear as the blood ye gave,
No impious footstep here shall tread
The herbage of your grave."

The Union solders who fell in battle are mostly buried in Southern soil, and the genius of one who fought on the other side is made to say,

"Nor shall your glory be forgot
While Fame her record keeps,
Or Honor points the hallowed spot
Where Valor proudly sleeps."

In this undisturbed repose, too, is a vision of our country's peace, for of the living as of the dead night the poet now declare,

No vision of the morrow's strife
The warrior's dream alarms;
No braying horn nor screaming fife
At dawn shall call to arms."

Thus has the richest tribute and highest eulogy to our nation's dead been paid by one whose sword was drawn, regretfully it may be, to divide his country. Nor could a more truthful prophesy greet the visitor to soothe the memories of those whose friends are among the fallen than that which assures him,

"Nor wreck, nor change, nor winter's blight,
Nor Time's remorseless doom,
Shall dim one ray of glory's light
That gilds your deathless tomb."

SEEN AND HEARD.

The contract for the big engine for the Imperial mill to be built by the Marinette works of West Duluth, marks a new era in local industrial development. A thousand horse power engine is a big affair for any iron working shop, but that a Duluth concern could underbid leading engine builders throughout the country on a job of such magnitude is a matter for congratulation. Two or three years ago no one would have believed it possible. This engine is not only to be the largest ever built at the head of the lakes, but is to be the largest stationary engine located here, there being nothing, I think, that comes within 250 to 300 horse power of it. Probably no engine has been built previously in Duluth of over 350 horse power, but there are several city shops that can readily turn out work of that size and larger.

The Y. M. C. A., in its new athletic grounds, opened Saturday afternoon, has an excellent spot for carrying out all sorts of sport. While not inconveniently located, the grounds are prettily located, surrounded by trees that ward off winds, the soil is a light gravel that will pack well, and the lake, full 200 feet by 50 and 12 feet deep in the center, is fed by a ever flowing stream, and is as nice a swimming pool as one can want. I understand the association has as yet no lease of the grounds, having been given the use of them for this year for the clearing and leveling. An offer of a 5-year lease has been made by Mr. Hunter at $150 a year, and it is to be hoped it will take the chance of getting so good a location for a term of years.

"There's lots of difference between men and women passengers on the street cars," said the observant conductor. "When I've only men on board I can carry sixty people without any stepping on toes or very bad crowding, but you try to get thirty women on a car and see the fuss you'll have. Yes, I have had sixty men in one of these motor cars on a busy evening."

A funny incident occurred recently in connection with the building of a fine church that is now going up in Duluth. As is usual with churches, no less than with other buildings, it was expected to raise a certain sum of money on mortgage to complete the handsome edifice, and the company to which application was made for a loan required the signatures of the trustees to the notes. Two agreed to sign, while the others refused. The willing pair then quite naturally refused also. Someone had to sign those notes or there would be no money, and the officers of another denomination that is also building stepped forward and agreed to sign so that the needed money might be forthcoming. Under the circumstances it was, all around, one of the oddest incidents I have known for some time.

Rev. E. M. Noyes Talks of the Beauty and Business of Bath to His Duluth Friends.

To the Editor of The Herald.

I have noticed lately several editorials in your evening paper in which you have asserted your determination to have the reader of your paper know all about Duluth, through its columns, past, present and future.

You are not keeping to your promises as you have overlooked calling the attention of the citizens of Duluth to the editorial in the West Superior Telegram of June 4, headed "The Index of Life," in which a comparison of real estate transfers is made a basis for a rhetorical effort to show and prove that Duluth is in a moribund condition, while West Superior is growing as a commercial center and the future city at the head of the lakes.

I am not easily prejudiced, but the official employer of West Superior and the newspapers also are moving hand in hand to publish false statistics, misleading editorials and items, and it is near time to call a halt for any further toleration of their peculiar manipulations which deliberately mislead an innocent public. If real estate transfers are an index of vitality and progress for West Superior, I suppose Kansas City, Omaha, Wichita and several other places, with their long lists of foreclosures are forerunners of West Superior's destiny.

As confirmatory of such a result a slight reference to their assessment roll of $69,000,000 with a population of 17,000 located in forty-two miles of city territory (while New York city with 1,500,000 possesses only twenty-six and one-half miles) would be pleasant for truthful talkers.

It is folly to waste any part of the life God has given us refuting misstatements or lies. If the absent investors are led into a snare through the garb of respectability that West Superior's Eastern representatives claim or affect, it is a misfortune arising from too much Christian confidence or simplicity, which no one can correct because such people are generally fanatical or honest. A visit to West Superior and Duluth and a practical observation of the class of citizens controlling its banking, commercial and social life would settle the impudent diatribe on "the front rank of business," "Mecca of the capitalist" and "a rugged and windswept hillside," which these bare falsifiers retail to the public through their newspaper circulation. The real estate interests, whether in lots, blocks, acres or various scattered townsites in West, Old, East, South and Central Superior, are largely the product of the energy and money of men who have been, and who are, Duluth real estate brokers and who claim to be Duluth men. They have given their time to the speculation and booming on the other side of the bay, but they live in Duluth, have their business offices here and their homes, and prefer "the abode of the disappointed" in place of "the Mecca of the capitalist," and would hesitate to admit the possibility of living in West Superior. The same men must be gratified to be slapped in the face after all the work they have done for the Land & River Improvement company's ring of stockholders, and in being called failures in business, and their wives and children called "habitants of a rugged and wind swept hillside" or the paupers of a barren soil and the residence of bankruptcy! As long as men in Duluth will sacrifice their pride of feeling and subject their wives and children, through avarice, to such rebuke and criticism, they ought to be glad to realize that they are appreciated by so much that is characteristic of truth and honesty.

I should think their inward contempt for themselves would be only equal to the blush upon their faces in being found in the company of such as Street or the writer who can preface "West Superior Developments with "The Index to Life."

STEPHEN L. MERCHANT.

The Shipping City.

To the Editor of The Herald.

This old city of Bath bids fair in the near future to win a reputation for building steel ships that shall eclipse her ancient fame as the largest builder of wooden ships in America. At the iron works the Ammen ram and two steel gunboats are under construction, after the plans of the navy department, and the city is jubilant over the recent award to the same firm of the contract for the new government cruiser. This ship will be a monster, over 400 feet long and of 7350 tons burthen, and her construction will require the labor of 1500 men two years, it is said, and will bring some $2,000,000 into the city.

The jewelers here now offer you souvenir spoons adorned with an engraving of the Shenandoah, the largest wooden sea-going ship in existence, which was built here last year. Another year, if the spoon fad lasts so long, they will doubtless carry the picture of this cruiser "No. 13."

One of the chief charms of this beautiful old town is its gem of a park, situated in the very center of the city and adorned with model library building, the gift of one of the public-spirited citizens. The parks in many of our cities are accessible and carriages. What a Godsend to a town is a breathing-place for body and mind, set down amid the business blocks and thick-clustering homes. Would that Duluth had a couple of blocks in the center of the city thus devoted to the common weal. Some of our many liberal and enterprising citizens may yet immortalize themselves by the gift of a park and library building such as this.

It seems almost a sacrilege to disturb the serenity of these elm-shaded avenues with the roar of the electric car and the disfigurement of the trolley-wires. But livelier times demand more rapid means of transit and the line is going in. A "boom" in shipbuilding brings its unwelcome compensations. You cannot have at the same time the tranquility and peace of a declining seaport and the activity and bustle of a growing manufacturing center, and sometimes the two things clash unpleasantly.

The gardens and fields of all Northern New England are now one big nose-gay, every apple tree showering you with the perfumed blossoms as you pass. The season has been wet and late and is yet hardly in advance of Minnesota in its vegetation. But with the advent of June nature seems suddenly to have waked to the fact that summer is due, and is making up for lost time, and pouring out blossoms and perfume with a prodigal hand.

There is a wondrous fascination about a shipyard, with its "clamors of clattering hammers," the pavement of fresh chips, thes smell of tar and fragrant pine, and the bare skeletons of future ships slowly taking shape on every hand. I stood this morning and watched the forging of an anchor. The great steam hammer sent a shower of sparks around me at every ponderous blow, and the steel gradually assumed the shape of the anchor.

"—— Whose giant hand
Would reach down and grapple with the land,
And immovable and fast
Hold the great ship against the bellowing blast."

Longfellow has so caught the very atmosphere of the shipyard and imprisoned it in his poem that you cannot help recalling his words as you look at such a scene. I don't suppose that one visitor out of a hundred fails to recall some familiar line or two when he stands in a shipyard.

The summer visitors that yearly invade the Maine coast in increasing crowds have not yet begun their migrations. But now that Secretary Blaine is at Bar Harbor more humble citizens will soon follow without fear of transgressing the unwritten social laws which regulate "the season." Certainly few portions of our land offer more attractions than this picturesque coast, with its drives and sails, its social delights and the charm of the restless, embracing sea. And it is fully as attractive in the early summer as in August.

MR. DONNELLY.

The Sage Arrives on the Shakespearean Trail of Ingersoll.

Ignatius Donnelly, the most distinguished citizen of Minnesota, orator, literateur patron of the art of husbandry, and ex-officio father of the peoples party, arrived here last night and was welcomed to the city by a representative of The Herald. The much-maligned sage was in his usual genial and optimistic humor, and he talked freely of politics, poetry, and especially of the landscape painting of the peoples party, not omitting words of brotherly love and regard even for those who are apparently a thorn in the flesh. For Eva McDonald Valesh he wished a long and happy life, and at Cincinnati referred to her as the Joan of Arc of the new revolution.

"Did you call Professor Freeman a liar at Chicago, Mr. Donnelly, as reported by the papers?"

"I may have left that impression, but I only approximated. The professor was very unfair and made statements regarding the Great Cryptogram which were untrue. I offered the book in evidence and challenged him to inform the audience where such things could be found."

"No, I have never met nor heard Mr. Ingersoll, though I was once mistaken for him on a train. I suppose it is our open-faced countenances that cause the resemblance."

In matters political Mr. Donnelly disavowed all ambition for the nomination of the people's party, and referring to Mr. Stanford, suggested that a man with twenty or thirty millions "in trust for the people," as has been humorously remarked, is not to be despised in a campaign. The sage spoke highly of Pfeffer, Weaver, Jerry Simpson, and others of the new party's leaders.

The chief planks of the platform as viewed by him seemed to be control of corporations and trusts. The silver and sub-treasury questions were less vital but not unreasonable. If the government gives liquor manufacturers receipts for his goods on which they can get cash, why not give the cotton and tobacco growers the same chance. The new silver law is practically free coinage of American silver, and therefore the silver plank is not so meaningful. Mr. Donnelly would not be surprised at a landslide and victory for the peoples party. Over 1,000,000 colored men have joined it, and the new party is, he believes, destined to solve the Southern question. She sage is happy and hopeful, and believes the world is a progressive game.

Memorial Services.

The several societies of the Christian Endeavor union of Duluth met at the christian church last night and held exercises in memory of Mrs. Nellie G. Bunting, who was a week ago stricken down from leadership in that association of Christian workers. Miss Ella Grieser, president of the union, opened the exercises with a few very appropriate and touching words in reference to the departed. A short memorial address was read by H. R. Fish Jr., and Mrs. Fish read the following biographical sketch:

Mrs. Nellie Green Bunting who departed this life on June 1, was born at Mentor, Ohio, also the home of Garfield, March 4, 1866, where she passed her girlhood with the exception of two years spent at Cleveland. She was baptized by W. B. Hendrick at the age of 14. Brother Encill in his conversation called her the babe of the church. These words set her thinking and not long afterwards the church of Christ welcomed a most precious soul. From there she came to Duluth in August, 1887. In her the church here gained a noble energetic Christ like woman. Nov. 14, 1889, Hymen waved his torch and she became the wife of O. J. Bunting. She was secretary of the Sunday school up to a month ago. It was with regret that they received her resignation. She was also treasurer of the Y. P. S. C. E. union of Duluth. As there were only three officers to be elected she was one of the number chosen, an honor she well deserved and ably filled. The funeral service took place at her residence, 325 East Fifth street, at 4 p. m. Brother E. O. Sharp conducting it. His text was taken from Mark 14, 8. "She Hath Done What She Could." We are all living witnesses that those words were well applied to her in all the paths of her young Christian life. We feel her loss in the church and socially, and as such we mourn her departure, but are comforted that our loss is her gain.

The feeling of the union was expressed in the following resolutions:

Whereas, Our Lord Jesus Christ, whom we trust and love, has in His divine wisdom seen fit to take unto Himself the spirit of our dear sister, Mrs. Nellie Green Bunting, who departed this life on June 1, 1891; and whereas, Sister Bunting was a charter member of this society and a constant and untiring worker for Christ in all its branches, it is hereby

Resolved, That this blow has fallen heavily upon our church and society, of which Sister Bunting was such a faithful and efficient member.

Resolved, That while our grief at the loss and parting is sad, yet we joyfully yield to the will of Christ, who seeks to adorn his crown with the brightest jewels of his grace.

Resolved, That we are inspired by the example of such faithful ones who go before us to be more earnest in trying to serve the Master.

Resolved, That we express to the loved ones of our sister who are left sorrowing our tenderest sympathy in their grief at this dark hour, and pray that they may find the comfort that cometh from above.

These resolutions are ordered spread upon our records and copies furnished to relatives and for publication.

Settling the North Country.

A great many claims are being taken along the Vermilion river, one returned voyager telling The Herald he met not less than fifty explorers and claim takers between the head of the river at the north end of Vermilion lake and a point forty miles down, where he left the stream. There is a great amount of excellent pine along the stream and near it, all of which has its only outlet into Canadian waters. The settlers are also going in along the Rainy river and the south side of Rainy lake, where there is a great amount of splendid agricultural land, which will in time become a great garden. All the section needs is a railway to insure a wonderful development. It is now stated that an American company is figuring on a saw mill near the mouth of Vermilion river that will tap the pine on that stream and tributaries before it gets to the hands of the Canadian millers at Rat Portage.

In Favor of the Elevators.

The court of appeals of the state of New York has just made a verdict in favor of the Lake Superior Elevator company of this city that is of the utmost importance. In the fall of 1889 the steamer R. R. Rhodes fell short on delivery at Buffalo elevators 320 bushels on a wheat cargo from Duluth. The shortage was charged to her, and her owners sued to recover. The case was tried before the superior court at Buffalo and a verdict given for defendant. Plaintiff carried it into the supreme court, which affirmed the verdict. Then it was appealed to the highest court in the state and again the verdict against the vessel has been affirmed. This is the first time a shortage case has been decided by the court of appeals.

The Chronic Kicker.

The poet says: "What is more perfect than a day in June?" And nowhere in the world are June days so perfect as in the great Northwest. And yet for some inscrutable purpose Providence permits the Chronic Kicker to infest even June days. You have seen the "Kicker," haven't you? Of no particular sex or age, "he, shoe, or it," is omnipresent, always awake and on the lookout for something to growl about. The genus is divided into several species, the political Kicker, the financial Kicker, the religious Kicker, the social Kicker, and so on, ad infinitum. Don't you wish you could escape it? Well, you can't, but there is one place where you will find less of him, her, etc., than anywhere else—and that is on the luxurious vestibuled trains of "The Burlington running between Minneapolis and St. Paul and Chicago and St. Louis. To get as far away from the Kicker as possible insist on your ticket agent selling you a ticket over "The Burlington." For any further information about the line, rates, etc., address W. J. C. Kenyon, general passenger agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

REPLY TO INGERSOLL.

Donnelly Will Discourse on the Shakspere-Bacon Subject.

The great orginator and apostle of the Baconian theory will deliver an address in Temple Opera tomorrow night in reply to that recently delivered by Col. Ingersoll on Shakespere, and will prove, to his satisfaction at least, that Ingersoll "knows nothing about it."

Mr. Donnelly spoke upon the same subject a few evenings ago at Minneapolis and his address was the warmest kind of a roast of his eminent oratorical opponent. He takes up one after another the various references made by Ingersoll to the personality of Shakespere and Bacon, and advances arguments, some new and some old, in support of his contention. He holds up to ridicule many of the expressions used by Ingersoll, and scathingly scores him for endeavoring to hide weakness of argument in methaphorical figures. The lecture tomorrow night will undoubtedly be a most interesting one.

A Much Afflicted Family.

One of the most sad events that have occurred in Duluth in a long time was the sudden death yesterday of Mrs. Jane Strachan Wilson, mother of Alex. S. Wilson, chief of Clan Stewart and a prominent young business man. It is only a few months ago that the lady's daughter, who was here from Scotland on a visit to her brother, died of typhoid after a short illness while her brother was on an Eastern trip. The parents and other children arrived here from Scotland to make their home only a couple of weeks ago.

Mrs. Wilson died early yesterday morning at the breakfast table while in apparently good health, being surrounded at the time by the members of her family. The funeral will occur at 3 p. m. Thursday, from the family residence, 625 East Fourth street.

Have we a Ball Club?

Jay Anderson protests that the franchise of the St. Paul club has not been secured, while men who are trying to sell $20 tickets for him say it has. About 100 have been sold, entitling admission for the season to all games of whatever nature held on the Harrison tract in the west end. Louis Meining has the contract for improving the grounds, which will have a fine bycycle track. The use of the grounds has been given free and the cost of fencing and otherwise improving them will be $2000. The tract is 500 by 400 feet.

Gust Johnson was committed for disorderly conduct and Peter Swanson paid his fine.

Jack Jenks was a victim of liver complaint,
His strength was exhausted, his pulse had grown faint.
He had ulcers and tumors and all sorts of humors,
And the ills that he suffered would weary a saint.
Folks said that Jack Jenks would never be cured,
But Jack said he would—that they might be assured.
Pierce's G. M. Discovery wrought his recovery,
After all the poor fellow so long had endured.

Mrs. Geo. E. Ingalls, who has been down with typhoid since early in February, was able to take a ride Saturday for the first time. While she and Miss Edson, who is visiting Attorney R. P. Edson, her brother, were driving in the vicinity of Bench street and Fourteenth avenue, a runaway team came in collision with their carriage, upsetting it and throwing both ladies to the ground. They were taken into the house of H. A. Ware and given stimulants. Both ladies were somewhat bruised, but they will probably be none the worse for the accident in a few days. Two other teams ran away as a result of the excitement caused by the original runaway.

CLEMENTS ARRAIGNED.

The Ex-Captain to Answer Three Indictments; Other Court News.

Ex-Capt. Frank Clements, of the police, and T. O. Hall, the banker who failed, were arraigned before Judge Ensign this morning under indictment. Clements was given forty-eight hours in which to plead to three indictments for extortion. Charles d'Antrement was his attorney. T. O. Hall was given one day to plead to receiving money as a banker while aware that he was insolvent. This offense, if proved, is punished very lightly, as it is rated as a misdemeanor. Hall has Judge White for attorney and is out under $100 bonds.

This morning the court granted a motion by the defendant for judgment on the pleadings in McManus vs. Ervin. In Rovell Bros. & Co. vs. Clark Bros. judgment was ordered for plaintiff, but without costs, if paid within sixty days. Horkan vs. Boxell was settled and B. F. Carroll vs. Williston, Charnley & Co. is on trial. This is a suit which resulted in a verdict of $4500 for the plaintiff for the loss of an arm, which verdict was overruled by the supreme court who ordered a new trial.

The case of R. L. Hall, of North Branch, against Clark Bros. was tried before Judge Stearns and resulted in a verdict for the defendant.

THE MARKETS.

Dull But Firm Feeling; Good Demand For No. 1 Hard.

Wheat opened easier and at ¼c below Saturday's closing closing prices for all grades, except No. 1 hard, which was in demand at unchanged prices, both for June and July delivery. It appears to be scarce, with but few sellers, who are demanding 10c per bushel premium for it over the price of Chicago No. 2 spring. The market ruled dull but steady, with a firm undertone, and after the posting of the visible supply figures, showing upwards of 1,000,000 bu decrease in wheat during the past week, an advance of ⅜c was made on small transactions in July No. 1 northern.

Cash 1 hard closed at $1.05½; cash 1 northern sold at $1.03, ruled weak, declined and closed easy with sellers at $1.02⅛; cash 2 northern closed at 99c. June 1 hard closed firm at $1.06 bid. June 1 northern trading commenced late at $1.03, declined to $1.02¾, closed easy at $1.02¾ sellers. July 1 hard appears scarce and in demand, buyers and sellers apart, without transactions, closed firm at $1.07 bid. July 1 northern opened weak at ⅝c decline at $1.03⅜, advanced to $1.03¾, with good trading, closed easy with sellers at $1.03¼.

Chicago Wheat.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Wheat opened at about Saturday's close, July selling at the start at 98 to 98⅛, but there was a strong selling pressure, with little demand, and it quickly sold off to 97⅝, rallied a trifle and at 9:50 was 97¾. Corn was also weak, chiefly on larger receipts than expected, and after opening at 58¾, quickly sold off to 58, then, at 9:50, was about 58⅛. Oats were also lower, July selling from 44¼ to 43⅞.

The following is the close: Wheat, July, 98c; September, 94½c. Corn: July, 59c; September, 57½c. Oats, July, 43⅝c; September 34⅜@⅞c. Pork: July, $10.52½; September, $10.77½. Lard: July, $6.22½; September, $6.45. Ribs: July, $5.87½@90; September, $6.15.

New York Money and Stocks.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Money at 3@3½ per cent. Exchange steady; posted rates, 485½@488½; actual rates, 484@484¼ for sixty days and 487½ for demand. Governments steady; currency, 6's, 109 bid; 4½'s, coupon, 119½ bid; 4's, coupon, 100 bid.

The bitter feeling engendered abroad through the receipt of our gold and through the favorable advices concerning the state of the Baring affairs was shown this morning in higher prices for American stocks in London and in large purchases of stocks by London operators in our market. All the London favorites in this market participated in the advance. Atchison was helped by the recent decision in favor of the company against the St. Louis & San Francisco first preferred stockholders. The dealings during the morning were on a very limited scale, only 700,600 shares changing hands. At noon the general list was only slightly changed from Saturday's figures and in most cases fractionally higher.

THE BIG LAND CASE.

Attorneys Fighting Over a Continuance Which will Hardly be Granted.

The hearing in the famous Hyde-McDonald land case was called before Register Colvill, of the local land office this morning. Hon. Knute Nelson offered an amended homestead applicatian for Hyde which was opposed and rejected on the ground that the legal time for making such application had passed.

Lon Merritt objected to the jurisdiction of the land department over the further disposition of the land on the ground that it was appropriated to Orilie Stram under Sioux scrip locations 19 D and 19 E, June 21, 1885, and that said scrip locations had never been relinquished or legally set aside. He also protested against the hearing of the cases set for today, or the taking of any testimony whatever therein, on the ground that he and his associates own the land by legal title which can not be disturbed by these hearings.

The attorneys then began fighting over the motion to continue the case, the chief argument in favor of the continuance being that another register might be appointed before the case was determined. In view of the fact that a register, if appointed now, could not prepare his bond, have it approved and get into the harness before the first of next month, this argument is not generally deemed a very strong one. Those desiring the continuance are the Minnesota Iron company, Alden, James and Munsean, who were represented by J. K. Reddington, of Washington, Persons, Guptill and Derby. All others opposed the continuance and were represented by P. H. Seymour, of Washington, F. B. Chew, Capt. Pressnell, Mitchell, Thayer, Hon. Knute Nelson and others.

The register's little tucked-up office is sandwiched full of iron mongers and speculators, and the argument is still in progress at 4 o'clock as the Herald goes to press. As the case involves millions, and means a fortune or poverty to several contestants, there is a grim and yearning interest in it to them.

Tailor-Made Clothing

WHILE THE IRON IS HOT

IF EVER a time came for buying a tailor-made suit it is here now. Strike while the iron is hot. The first thing to be sure of when you are making an investment is that you are not also making a mistake. Clothes are either a good investment or a bad one. There is no middle ground. Either you make a wise purchase or a foolish one and when you pay prodigal prices you simply throw away your money. Why do we specially urge you to buy one of our Black Cheviot suits at this particular time? Because there are a few of them left and because in material and make, they defy comparison; while as to the prices, well, just come in and let us show them to you, and we have no hesitation in saying that you will quickly acknowledge that they are the best suits that you have ever seen for the money.

IN OUR Suit Department we can suit everyone, having thousands of styles for you to select from. We can suit the man who earns his $1.75 per day { and none should get less } as well as the man who counts his dollars by millions. All can be fitted here and why should you go to a tailor and pay him twice as much as we would ask you for the same article?

THE FIT of our tailor-made clothing equals the productions of the finest tailors in the land.

OUR ARTIST, Mr. Harry Ermenie, still continues to capture the crowds. He can be seen all this week in our west window, producing life-size portraits in the short time of from two to four minutes.

R THE DEFENSE.

The Jury in the Baccarat Libel Case Exonerate the Wilsons in Fifteen Minutes.

Which Means That Sir William Cummings Cheated at Cards on the Sly.

This is as the Prince Would Have it Though Sir William Was His Old-Time Friend.

LONDON, June 9.—For the first time since the baccarat trial began there was a cheer for Gordon Cumming as he passed into the court room. The throng outside was greater than ever, and the police found it difficult to make way for those entitled to entrance. The popular excitement over the case is very great, and many have come in from other towns to London to see the spectacle of the prince, the accused and the galaxy of wealth, beauty and nobility on exhibition. Sir William Gordon Cumming was evidently in better spirits than a week ago, and he took his seat with an air of confidence and a smile to his beautiful sister, Lady Middleton, who, with her husband, Lord Middleton, has stood by him from the first. Sir Charles Russell was there, and seemed to have got over the yawning habit which affected him when Sir Chas. Clarke was addressing the jury. This is a favorite trick with Sir Charles, and is played by him to break the force of an opponent's questions or arguments. Just as Sir Edward would be recalling some strong point, Sir Charless Russell would stretch himself and would yawn loud enough to attract from what the other side was saying.

There was no diminution in the attendance at the baccarat trial today though much disappointment was felt at the absence of the prince of Wales and some of his intimates, who had gone to the Ascot races. On the opening of the court Gen. Owen Williams, one of the defendants, rose and addressed the lord chief justice saying: "My lord, I have to ask your protection. Yesterday Sir Edward Clarke thought proper—

Sir Edward Clarke—Your, lordship, I ask you to interfere. Gen. Williams should not be allowed to make a statement to the court in this manner. It is not his privilege.

Gen. Williams—(sharply)—I was accused—a horrible charge was made—

The lord chief justice: I do not remember the expression you seem to have in mind, but I do not think you can be allowed to speak.

Gen. Williams—We were accused of sacrificing an innocent man. That charge was without any evidence or justification.

The lord chief justice—I cannot hear any statement from you general.

The general retired with an expression of displeasure at his rebuff.

The lord chief justice then began his summing up of the evidence. It was noticed throughout that his charge was favorable to the defendants. The audience listened with breathless attention to the words of the address, upon the tenor of which so much depended. The court explained at length the difference between an action for slander, such as this one, and an action for libel. If the jury found that the defendants' in what they said about Sir William Gordon Cumming, had spoken the truth they should render a verdict in the defendants' favor. If, however, the jury believed the statements of the defendants to have been broadly untrue, and that the plaintiff did not commit the acts ascribed to him, the verdict must be for Sir William. His lordship entreated the jury to keep their minds steadily upon the evidence. The extraneous matter which had been brought into the arguments of counsel must be eliminated from the minds of the jury in their consideration of the facts. At this apparant allusion to the remarks of Sir Edward Clarke concerning the prince of Wales there were many significant exchanges of glances. He emphatically protested against the observation which had been made by counsel that there was more in the case than was allowed to appear upon the surface. The jury must not allow themselves to be influenced by such remarks, made in the heat of argument by counsel. As a matter of fact that there was never any more in a case than appeared in evidence. That was the province of courts of law; to bring out the facts, and only the facts, and to procure a verdict thereon. The jury were debarred by their solemn oaths from dealing with things beneath the surface, if such things existed. They must confine themselves to examination. This evidence was in this case very full, and furnished ample light whereby the jury could be guided to a correct conclusion, regardless of other considerations. They must confine themselves to the question at issue and base their verdict upon what they had heard proved by evidence.

At the conclusion of the lord chief justice's address the jury retired. Only fifteen minutes had elapsed when the jury sent word to the court that they had agreed upon their verdict. The suspense was great as the jury returned to their seats and replied to the usual questions. When the verdict of not guilty was announced there was a tremendous stir, the court rapping vainly for order. Both applause and hisses were heard, but the former predominated. In a few moments the room was vacated by the gayly-dressed throng. The defendants present were warmly congratulated by numerous friends and seemed supremely happy.

The verdict was in accordance with the general expectation. Betting during the morning was strongly in favor of such a result.

LONDON GOSSIP.

Influences at Work in the Baccarat Trial; Effect of the Verdict.

LONDON, June 9.—Almost the sole topic of conversation is the attack of Sir Edward Clarke upon the prince of Wales. Sympathy is not altogether with Sir Edward, for the prince of Wales is personally popular. On the other hand there is a growing feeling that Gordon Cumming is the victim of a conspiracy which has had another motive besides the reservation of honor at cards, and that the Wilsons have rather sought than avoided the notoriety attendant upon the trial. The evidence of their plebian attendants, as compared with the family record of Gordon Cumming has caused a feeling against them in that aristocratic society in which they have been attempting to hold their own, and the general opinion in clubs and lobbies is, that whatever the outcome of the trial, the Wilsons will never again shine in high society.

The prince of Wales is evidently determined to save them if he can, and he has caused young Wilson to be elected to the Marlborough which is known as the prince's private club. This, however, does not mean an open sesame for the young man to club society in London for the prince has found before now that London clubs will not tolerate his dictation, and that is one reason he started the Marlborough, where he could reign supreme, in the company of the cads whom he sometimes chooses for associates. The outcome of the trial is a subject of wide speculation. The jurors are mostly London tradesmen. A verdict satisfactory to the prince would be to the personal interest of everyone of them, for there is nothing a London tradesman loves so much as to put the royal or princely arms on his bags and his boxes. Cummings, therefore, has powerful influence against him from the evidence. On the other hand, the English sympathy for the under one in the fight is with him, and jurymen are not so subservient as some years ago.

Afraid of Reciprocity.

LONDON, June 9.—In the house of commons last night Col. Howard Vincent asked if in view of the fact that the United States had concluded treaties of commerce with Brazil and Spain, securing preferential duties for American products, measures were being taken to prevent the trade of the United Kingdom from being injured. Sir John Ferguson replied that he understood such treaties had been negotiated by America with Brazil and Spain; but her majesty's government had not succeeded in obtaining a commercial treaty with Brazil.

The Lazy Lords.

LONDON, June 9.—There was an unusually large attendance in the house of lords yesterday owing to the report that Lord Dunlow would take his seat. The new earl of Cancarty was not present, and the probability is that he will follow the example of eight-tenths of the peers and remain away from the house altogether. The average attendance in the house of lords is about fifty out of a possible six hundred or so.

Republican Resolutions.

MADRID, June 9.—The police have made a number of arrests of persons accused of being engaged in a republican conspiracy, and important documents have been discovered, relating more particularly to Portugal, and showing that an outbreak was meditated with the intention of driving King Charles out of the kingdom. The Spanish cabinet have given orders to materially reinforce the garrisons near the Portuguese border, and to supply the troops with the latest improved rifles and ammunition.

Close Call for Emperor Billy.

BERLIN, June 9.—While the emperor was reviewing the grenadiers at exercise drill about 9 o'clock this morning a storm arose, accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning. Captain von Quast and three soldiers were killed. The captain and the other soldiers sustained very serious injuries. The lightning also struck and killed a horse.

Caught in Cuba.

HAVANA, June 9.—The steamer City of Alexandria sailed yesterday for New York having on board, under arrest, a man named Ford, the cook of the American schooner James W. Fitch, of Boston, which arrived at Matanzas on May 3 from Philadelphia. Ford shot and killed Second Mate Nelson of the schooner.

France at Chicago.

PARIS, June 9.—It was decided at a cabinet council today to ask parliament for a grant to enable France to take part in the Chicago World's fair.

MUNICH, June 9.—A chaplain, while ascending the Untersburg, near Salzburg, yesterday fell over a precipice and was killed.

Shipyards Resume.

GLASGOW, June 8.—The Clyde shipyard men will resume work tomorrow, pending a conference with employers.

Stop Poaching Seals.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The government has notified agents on the Seal islands to stop the killing of seals by the North American Commercial company when it has taken 7500, the number of seals which the administration, in its correspondence with the British government for a "close season" made one of the conditions of agreement, on the ground that it will permit the sealeries company to take this number as compensation for the expense of supporting and providing for the welfare of the natives who live on the islands. When this number has been taken seal killing is to be stopped and further orders awaited.

Bigger Damages and a Negro Juror.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Owen Sweeny, formerly a brakeman on the New Haven railroad, sued the company some time ago for injuries received in an accident last year and got a verdict of $10,000. The company considered the amount excessive and moved for a new trial. The second trial ended in the superior court yesterday with a verdict for the plaintiff of $27,500, one of the heaviest verdicts ever given by a jury in a personal damage suit in New York. One of the jurors was a negro, who is the first of his race to serve on a jury in this city.

Robbed on a Sleeper.

CHICAGO, June 9.—E. D. Thayer, president of the Brandon, Vt., National bank, had $40,000 in notes and mortgages stolen from his seat in a Rock Island sleeping car while nearing this city yesterday. The police have been informed of the robbery, but have little hope of recovering the property.

Condemn the Bank Examiner.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—Resolutions condemning the course of Bank Examiner Drew with regard to both the Keystone and Spring Garden banks, and calling upon the proper authorities to ask for his resignation at once, were adopted last night at a meeting of the depositors of the suspended Spring Garden National bank.

Alger for Blaine.

NEW YORK, June 9.—A special from Seattle, Wash., to the Herald says Gen. Alger, who arrived in that place yesterday, expressed himself in an interview as decidedly in favor of James G. Blaine for the presidency in 1892. He believes that party leaders will all unite upon him before going into convention.

GUILTY! GUILTY!

That is What Ex-City Treasurer Bardsley, of Philadelphia, Says of Himself.

He is Charged With Loaning, Investing and Receiving Interest on Public Money.

About $330,000 is the Amount That Was Juggled With and Not Found.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—City Treasurer Bardsley was placed in the dock this morning to plead to the seventeen indictments found against him yesterday. It was whispered about the court house that Bardsley would plead and it drew a large crowd who were curious to see how he would face the stern reality of being placed in the common criminal dock. Long before the opening of court the new court house was crowded, many of the prominent members of the bar being present. After a lengthy conference between the lawyers, the prisoner was formally arraigned to plead.

"John Bardsley," said Crier Hart, "you are charged with loaning public money as a public officer. How say you, guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty," said Bardsley, inaudibly.

"You are charged with making and agreeing for interest on public money as a public officer. How say you, guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty," again, in a low tone of voice.

"You are charged, as a public officer, with investing public money. How say you, guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty," with tears.

District Attorney Graham then said that at this time the court could not take evidence, and Mr. Alexander, in behalf of the prisoner, desired time to present testimony for his client. Mr. Graham said that he was willing that the matter should be postponed and a day fixed for a hearing agreeable to counsel for the defense. Mr. Alexander said that two weeks from today they would be ready and this was agreed upon. Mr. Graham then said that there had been an arrest for perjury, and that the commonwealth would, in view of the circumstances, abandon the charge and not press that count further.

A Very Swell Wedding.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The upper ten of Gotham turned out today in force at St. Thomas' church, in such force in fact that there was hardly breathing space in the sacred edifice. It was such a combination of beautiful faces and magnificent toilets as has not been seen in the metropolis for many a year. It was a wealthy assemblage too, and scores of millions of dollars, figuratively looked upon Elizabeth Thompson and Harry Le Grand Cannon, as they stood before the altra and exchanged the vows which made them man and wife. Miss Thompson is the daughter of Mr. W. G. Thompson, who was twice elected mayor of Detroit. She inherited a large landed estates in that city valued at over $2,000,000. Mr. Cannon is a prominent figure in society circles, is a son of the vice-president of the Delaware & Hudson railroad and very wealthy in his own right.

Rates on Exhibits.

CHICAGO, June 9.—What rates should be charged on exhibits for the World's Columbian exposition is one of the ticklish questions that confronts the Central Traffic association which is in session this morning. The question as to whether under the interstate commerce law, a special rate can be named for exhibits without making the rate general to all shippers is one which will call for serious consideration.

Trades Guilds in Germany.

BERLIN, June 9.—The trade conference promoted by the emperor assembled today in the main audience hall of the department of the interior. Its object is the consideration of the vexed question of the existence of trades guilds. The subject is one of great interest throughout Germany. It is probable that the conference will ask the reichstag to legislate on the matter.

A Wisconsin Commander.

MILWAUKEE, June 9.—Friends of Col. A. G. Weisseirt, the noted Grand Army man of this state, claim that he is far in the lead among the many candidates for the office of commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, election for which takes place at the ensuing national encampment at Detroit. They have received promises of support from many states.

California's Big Display.

CHICAGO, June 9.—The entire Californian fair commission, forty strong, arrived here today for the purpose of looking after the interests of their state exhibit. They will have a conference with the board of directors, and afterwards will discuss plans for making the best display possible.

A Wisconsin Masonic Temple.

MILWAUKEE, June 9.—The annual session of the Masonic Grand lodge of Wisconsin opened here today with an attendance of 400. Definite action will be taken looking to the erection of a Masonic temple.

An Old Jurist Gone.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Judge Isaac G. Wilson, of the Galena, Ill., appelate court district, one of the oldest men on the bench in this state, died at his home in Galena at 8 o'clock last night of paralysis of the heart. His death was unexpected.

Postmaster Assassinated.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 9.—B. M. Clark, postmaster at Old Jefferson, Rutherford county and proprietor of a store at that place was assassinated on Sunday night by some person unknown. Mr. Clark was 26 years of age and very popular.

FUSE OR REFUSE.

Cooking a Love Feast; Will the Democrats and Alliants Combine.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 9.—It is not political gossip or idle street rumor that predicts a fusion electoral ticket between the democrats and alliance parties next year. The alliance people are now almost hopelessly divided into two factions, led respectively by Donnelly and R. J. Hall, the latter representing the Phelps-Muller element which insists that the state central committee appointed at the last state convention is potent in the control of the alliance, and therefore fully authorized to act in all matters pertaining to the future action of the alliance as a political party.

This element has been in consultation with members of the democratic state central committee lately, with a view of perfecting a plan for the fusion electoral ticket and the overthrow of Donnellyism.

It comes direct from no less a person than H. C. Stivers, of Brainerd, a democratic member of the last house of representatives, that this fusion idea is being very favorably considered. In conversation last week with a prominent St. Paul citizen, who was visiting at Brainerd, Mr. Stivers expressed himself in substance as follows: "I believe in the plan for a fusion ticket next year. It will be best for both the alliance and the democratic parties. With a triangular electoral ticket the state is sure to go republican. If the alliance and democrats unite on an electoral ticket each party is sure to secure representation in the electoral college. It will be better for the alliance people even if they have no hopes of electing a president to elect some presidential electors than none at all. If they carry on the fight alone they stand no show. If they fuse with us they will strengthen their party."

It is a well-known fact that so far the pledges made by the democracy to the alliance before the combine to control the last legislature was affected, have been carried out. The alliance men were promised the chairmanship of several important committees and the appointment of many of its adherents to paying positions. R. J. Hall, H. V. Poore, F. J. Wilcox, Miss McDonald, Andrew Steva, Henry Plowman, Harvey Gillette, W. H. Butler and several other alliance men of prominence and influence were rewarded for the part they played in the combination comedy by being appointed to lucrative positions during the legislative session. With possibly two exceptions these appointees were of the anti-Donnelly stripe, and are today ready to take any action that will wrest the scepter of authority from the sage.

But Ignatius Donnelly, whatever may be said of his checquered career in politics, never lays down his hand until called by his opponents. On several occasions he has won great victories by making a magnificent bluff, and his present position as president of the state alliance and chairman of the state committee of the peoples party are big cards which he will doubtless hold for their true value in the contest which is now inevitable in the alliance.

REPUBLICANS MEET.

Planning to Fight Fusion in Minnesota in '92.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 9.—The first meeting of the executive committee of the republican state league is in session here today, and from this meeting will date the preliminary arrangements toward an active organization in every county in the state. It is quite probable that the plan which was so successfully carried out in 1888 will be again adopted, and leagues formed in every city and town with a full set of officers. Then it is proposed to have started meetings of all the clubs from now on until after the national republican convention, when the organizations will be changed into regular campaign clubs that will enthuse the the political atmosphere with their inspiring presence and countless numbers. There is everything in being well organized and the leaders of all parties, realizing the importance of making early preparations, have already begun to line out a plan of action for the next campaign. T. E. Byrnes, national organizer of the republican league, will hereafter be almost exclusively engaged in the work of perfecting the organization in various states, and is here to make suggestions in relation to the course to be pursued in Minnesota. It is more than probable that the republican party in this state will have a fusion ticket to fight in 1892, hence it behooves the party managers to prepare for an aggressive and earnest campaign. The younger element of the party or, more correctly speaking, the boys who will cast a first vote in 1892, will doubtless take great interest in the formation of league clubs and their proper maintenance.

The Fatal Oil Car.

SHERMAN, Tex., June 9.—Two freight trains on the Missouri Kansas & Texas railroad collided at Savannah yesterday. A car of oil ignited, setting the debris of both wrecked trains on fire. John Harrison, a brakeman, was literally roasted alive. Two unknown tramps were also burned to a crisp, and every man in both crews was more or less bruised and injured, but none others fatally.

Dixon and Abe Willis.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—The California Athletic club last night matched George Dixon and Abe Willis to fight July 28, for a purse of $5000. The men are to weigh 115 pounds three hours before entering the ring. Dixon now weighs 129 pounds and Willis 134.

PROSPEROUS LAKESIDE.

Her Bonds Commanded a Nice Premium in the Market.

The Lakeside council held its regular weekly meeting last night and opened bids for the $85,000 worth of 6 per cent ten year bonds. There were six bids, ranging from par to 104. Hayes & Son, of Cleveland, offered the latter figure and their bid was accepted. Their representative will be here tonight to arrange for the transfer.

Five bids were opened for the grading of McCullough avenue its entire length. H. E. Stevens, of St. Paul, who built the sewers at Lakeside last year and who was the lowest bidder on the London avenue improvement, offered the lowest figure, which will undoubtedly be accepted at the next meeting. The London avenue contract was awarded Mr. Stevens and the improvement will at once be prosecuted.

Cubans Don't Want In, But Think Jim Blaine has a Chance to be Bigger Than Columbus.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 9.—The body of Sir John Macdonald was brought from Earnscliffe with an escort of Dominion police shortly after 3 o'clock this morning and placed in the senate chamber. Both houses of parliament adjourned yesterday afternoon until after the funeral of the late premier. The leaders on both sides joined in eulogy of the dead statesman.

In the senate chamber, immediately upon adjournment the decorators began their work and did not finish until long after midnight. All the senators' desk and chairs were removed and the carpet covered with white. At 10 o'clock this morning the doors were opened and the public allowed to enter and look on the features of the dead. A steady stream passed inward and after passing the casket made an exit by the doors behind the throne. The remains will lie in state until tomorrow when the state funeral will take place.

SOLDIERS AT ST. CLOUD.

A Happy Gathering at the Encampment of the Northwestern District.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., June 9.—The seventh annual Northwestern district G. A. R. encampment opened here this morning and will continue four days. Early trains brought thousands of visitors from all parts of the state, who were met at the depot by McKelvy post of this city and the Marquette drum corps of Minneapolis and escorted to headquarters.

The morning opened with threatening rain, but the skies cleared off and the encampment promises to be the most successful one ever held by the Northwestern district. The decorations are pronounced the most elegant of any previous encampment and the principal arch in the center of the city, bearing life-size paintings of Gens. Grant, Logan, Sheridan and Sherman, is undoubtedly the most gorgeous one ever placed in this city. The grounds are arranged to accommodate 8000 people and present a lively appearance.

This afternoon Mayor Gribler delivered an address of welcome, to which responses were made by District Commander Pendergast and Post Commander Barto. This evening the St. Cloud Union band will give a grand concert at the grounds, which will be followed by a general reception.

CUBAN ANNEXATION.

The Natives Don't Want it, but Would Like Blaine to set Them Free.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Charles J. Crawford of New York, who has extensive interests in Cuba, has just returned from a visit to his Southern properties. Talking of annexation he said: "The Cubans do not wish annexation. They are disposed to antagonize Blaine's plans. While they admire the secretary of state, they believe that he has missed opportunities to assist the Cubans. But in accepting those chances he would have been obliged to injure Spain as much as he would have helped Cuba. The Cubans want Blaine to assist in securing the independence of their country. Personally the natives are very fond of the people of the United States and they prefer the American market for equal advantages which both countries would reap through reciprocity. If the secretary of state would help Cuba to throw off the yoke of Spain he would be a greater man than Columbus."

Gold Bugs in Iowa.

SIOUX CITY, June 9.—The Iowa Bankers' association convened here today with 200 members present. J. T. Reiney, of Burlington, presided. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Mayor Palmer and Judge J. P. Allison, of this city. The visitors will attend a banquet tendered them by citizens this evening.

WANTED THE JUDGE

In Order to Swear Off for a Whole Year.

A tall, quaint-looking individual attired in the picturesque costume of a lumberman cautiously tiptoed into the office of City Clerk Burke this morning. He had taken off his hat in awe of the clerk and a glance at him showed that his face was badly disfigured from coming into contact with somebody's fist.

"My name's Duncan McDonald," said he, "and I want to take oath before the judge. Where can I find him?"

He was directed down stairs. With difficulty his wabbling legs descended the stairway. Neither judge was in and he was greatly disappointed.

"I want to take oath before the judge that I won't drink a drop of liquor for a year," said Duncan in hiccoughy tones to Deputy Clerk of Court Tischart. "You see I worked for O. W. Saunders for two years and kept getting full and going to jail off and on. I've been getting the worst of it right along, and now I'm going to call quits and swear off before a judge or minister."

When last seen he was ambling along in a crooked line towards Judge Hank's office in the Woodbridge building.

JUST AN INCIDENT.

Last Saturday evening while the people across the bay were busily engaged bucking the tiger in their gambling dens, a huge locomotive drawing thirteen magnificent business cars laden with Eastern capitalists and railroad magnates pulled into Duluth and the train was sidetracked for the night. Each car belonged to a separate company and told the story of a particular interest in Duluth. The following roads were among those represented:

Duluth & Iron Range,
Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City,
Chicago & Eastern Illinois,
Chicago & Northwestern,
Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific,
Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.

Passing directly through the blind "eye of the Northwest," as Superior, that alleged center of 16,000 miles of railways, dubs herself, this train load of railway millionaires in their plate glass buffet cars, and seeking investment, looked not out upon the Jersey city terminal but pulled impatiently on to the New York at the head of lake navigation, recognizing at once that the only eye of the Northwest that can see anything is our own Duluth. Hurrying through that "mecca of the capitalist," the house of the false prophet, these distingnished financiers moved on with their windows open toward Jerusalem, the city of the true God, built not upon the sand nor the wind and which shall endure forever.

At an early hour Sunday morning these railroad and mining capitalists, including Hon. Roswell P. Flower, the next governor of New York, took a long drive around the city and over the Eiffel avenue of America, our superb terrace driveway before leaving for the mineral ranges tributary to Duluth. The delight of the travelers at the varied and picturesque outlook startled even the curious denizens of the "wind-swept hillside." We offer gratulations to our Badger brethren for their pride in their oil works, steel plant and shipyard, made possible by the inventive genius of Duluth, but the admiration of travelers and the investments of capitalists will ever pass through such noise and odors to revel in the delightful "abode of the disappointed."

Superior shuts her glacial eye a month earler in the fall and keeps it shut a month later in the spring than Duluth, the solid city built on the warm and sun-kissed hillside where balmy breezes blow. Superior is over her head in mud and mortgages, and her city debt frightens legitimate investments. She can secure nothing without a bonus, and each day is getting deeper and deeper into the Wisconsin morass with its slough of despond. The men who do the bulk of her business and no small amount of her lying live in Duluth. The man who established and is conducting her ship yard lives in Duluth. The business of handling every bushel of her grain is done in Duluth. Two-thirds of all her real estate business is done in Duluth, and the profits are used in building palaces on our "wind-swept hillsides." Her very elevators bear the name of Duluth, and on the platted additions to her mud-bottomed city are printed the names of our people. Hers is but a reflected glory, and when the few corporations that are holding her up make their final stake and let go, and the bubble bursts, there will rise to the lips of all, the swindler and the swindled, that biblical prophecy, "unstable as water thou shalt not prevail."

THE KREUTZER SONATA'S AUTHOR.

The character and writings of the realistic Russian author, Count Leo Tolstoi, were the theme before the Unity club last night. The subject was ably handled, but one or two thoughts deserve to be pressed home. The civilizations of Russia and America are as far apart as an absolute despotism and a free republic. What may be of the highest value to the Russian people may fall on barren soil with us. Who, for example, that has been reared to royal and aristocratic notions can appreciate to his full stature our own rough diamond, the ungainly and unpolished Lincoln? Some think him an infidel and fatalist though he possessed a soul bigger than a meeting house with a dozen gables. So the great but eccentric Tolstoi withdrawing from honors and affluence and buckling on the apparel of a peasant to work in the field, may become the Cincinnatus of the Russian empire though such a man who goes to bed at 6 o'clock and never harrows his bushy head with a comb, is no more suited to write for the American people than our friend Jerry Simpson of Kansas is for the swallow-tailed 400 of New York.

His pictures may be true to Russian life, but they bring no resolution of virtue to the American heart nor essential truth to our understanding. We have realities in every city that we exclude from the promenades, and if in our daily life we give the repulsive characters a back seat, why not also in our literature? Who is made physically stronger by looking upon the reality of horrible disease? Indeed does not familiarity oftimes induce the same malady? And so in social life and literature. Who wants the youth to behold all that is real? Rather should visions of the sublime and beautiful be ever before them. Tolstoi, so far as our life is concerned, needlessly crucifies the feelings and builds his intellectual architecture on a foundation which is the exception and not the rule; for where in America is found one home of bitterness and reviling, there are a hundred in which the divine spirit is distilled through domestic affection. In literature as in religion there are two schools. One is exemplified in the teachings of Beecher which attract and allure by a mirage of the noblest ideal; the other would repel from evil by disclosing a chamber of horrors. Tolstoi, a man of great mind and heart, belongs rather to the latter school, and may fill a yawning void in Russia, but here we are ready for the better side of life.

DONNELLY TONIGHT.

Duluth will tonight for the first time hear Ignatius Donnelly on the delights and authorship of the Shakespearean plays. Interesting as a speaker even when his theme is the political shortcomings of his hearers, he will be doubly so in the role he takes tonight. His words will awaken new interest in the immortal works which English genius has bequeathed to the world, and will bring his audience into touch with the Elizabethan age and the profoundest thoughts that have moved the hearts of men. Years of study have made him master of his chosen theme, and his bright and sparkling wit illumines a world of information. As a center of literary thought and culture Duluth will show her interest in the analysis and authorship of these greatest of dramatic works, and pay two debts with one ticket by honoring at the same time the bard of Avon and the sage of Nininger.

Since the West Superior Evening Telegram, a few days ago, announced the launching of the last McDougall whaleback, and called upon the idle and employed to attend "the gay and festive scene," it transpires that the purpose was less disinterested than supposed. As 250 employes are reported discharged since the launch, it is evident that the call was more sympathetic than exhilarating, with more discharges soon to follow. Does this mean a reduction of forces in West Superior to boom the new town site in Puget Sound, with an applied population? The location of this large plant induced many investors to buy property adjacent. It is an unsatisfactory proceeding for investors if they are to be misled by the shifting plans of managers or land companies. If this kind of work is going on the real estate transfers will continue to exceed any effort the stable city of Duluth may make—in new development or new population, for there will be a general hegira from the "mecca of the capitalist," and only part of the motely throng would be permitted to dally on our hillside or be welcomed to the "abode of the discontented."

It is rather inconsistent that the St. Paul Globe, Pioneer Press, News and Dispatch, the Minneapolis Tribune, Times, Journal and other papers should denounce Mr. Donnelly as the great and only political rainbow-chaser, while they have columns of praise for Eva McValesh as a little bunch of wisdom, though she stands on the same platform and represents the same political principles the sage does. Evidently they are afraid of Ignatius and are trying to play the girl against him to break his power. But this is creditable neither to the lady nor the journalistic tiger.

COURTS are very necessary things in their way but they come hard on newspaper men. Just now The Herald staff is about half de facto and the other half de jury.

"OUT, out, damned spot," cried Ingersoll when he beheld the Baconian drippings on the bard-of-Avon's mantle.

MR. THOMPSON seems to be a winner and the next premier of Canada is likely to be Sir John H.

NOW it is claimed that the handwriting on the wall was a sort of Baconian cipher of the Bible.

DEMIJOHNJAY INGALLS says he wants to be buried in canteen Kansas.

DEMAGOGUE is an honored title and means a leader of the people.

SHAKESPEERLESS Bacon is what Ignatius calls him.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

BY THE WAY.

Postmaster Howard was asked yesterday what would be done toward putting on the letter boxes cards showing at what hours the letters are collected. Said he: "I have for a long time tried to get cards from Washington, gotten up expressly for the purpose, but my efforts were in vain until a few days ago. We will put the cards on the boxes on July 1. The reason we delay until then is to be able to get the collection down to such a fine point as regards time that we will not disappoint any who may depend on the cards. I see they have raised my salary $100. It's not a bad idea, for there's no money in the position when you come to reckon up all one has to give to the different objects that seek aid."

It is to be hoped that the present dullness in marine circles will speedily be dispelled or the vessel service of the great lakes will go to the dogs. Vessel captains are having too much time on their hands in port, and are consequently imbibing rather freely. I am led to this remark by the hilarious condition in which I saw several men yesterday who have in their hands not only valuable vessel properties, but many lives. There would be some changes in the personnel of some of the boats' management were the owners to see what I saw only yesterday.

A. DeLacy Wood, of the Grand Marais Pioneer, is a great manipulator of taffy, of which the following is a fair sample: "The Barker, with party aboard, stopped at this port Friday night and swapped jokes and reminiscenses with the Mayhew Bros. At a late hour after printing the first edition of the Pioneer we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Macfarlane in the postoffice, his comrades having retired on the boat. He gave us his name as a Pioneer subscriber, and as he is the well-known cashier of the American Exchange bank in Duluth, we shall not keep awake nights regarding the pay. The other members of the party consisted of the following persons: Geo. Barnum, Chas. Haines, Jim and Ronald Hunter and Attorney d'Autremont." A. DeLacy in another place laments over the possibility that the Indian Bear Grease may be employed to carry the Grand Marais mails during the next season. The Herald hopes that the boom at Grand Marais is not so ephemeral as to necessitate such a course by the government.

LITERARY NOTES.

The evolution of wool spinning and weaving will be described by S. N. D. North in the July Popular Science Monthly. This is the sixth paper in the Monthly's illustrated series on "The Development of American Industries Since Columbus," and covers a notably interesting group of inventive labors.

Mr. Benj. R. Tucker, of Boston, will publish very shortly Grant Allen's latest novel, "What's Bred in the Bone," which took the $5000 prize awarded by London "Tid Bits" for the best work of fiction. Mr. Tucker also announces, for early publication, a translation from the German of "The Rights of Women and the Sexual Relations," a work by the famous German American and revolutionist of '48, Karl Heinzen.

The column devoted weekly in Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper to answers to inquiries regarding life insurance concerns is the most interesting and independent column of the kind printed in the United States. The first page of Leslie's this week represents a beautiful picture of a flower market in New York. Then comes a page of President Hrrrison's trip; a magnificent double page representing the landing of immigrants at New York; a scene in a riding school; beauties of American scenery; a Kentucky belle; the steamer Teutonic in a cyclone, etc.

OUR GIRL TEACHERS.

They Say Mr. Donnelly Made a Cipher Where They Ought to Be.

Our New York Correspondent Talks to Duluthians on Canal Matters.

The City Fathers Met Last Night and Made Progress With Public Business.

To the Editor of The Herald:

There are times when silence may be said to be golden, but to pass without comment Mr. Donnelly's speech upon the occasion of laying the corner stone of the new High school building would seem to give approval by silent acquiescence.

The fact that Mr. Donnelly or any other man of intelligence and ordinary respect for women could talk for an hour upon the excellence of the public schools and grandeur of the work accomplished without uttering one word of praise for the noble women who are helping to carry on this work ought to bring out expressions of surprise, at least. Mid all this glowing tribute to education, why not some slight tribute to the educators, to that army of noble women who after years of preparation for their work, have been through other years of loving service bestowing upon the youth of the land this blessed boon of education. There were the teachers of this city at least, nearly all before him, with their intelligent, refined and sympathetic faces upturned to his, in respectful attention. But Mr. Donnelly could take no note of their intelligence—that he could discover only in the men. Even when he attempted to talk of the teachers he could only speak of the school masters. Twenty school masters, he said there were, to every soldier, and that made the glory of the country. Even the boys and girls must have wondered why their dear teachers could not have some honor as well as others. They heard the board of education praised for building so fine a school house. But the children knew that a capable, kind, patient, faithful teacher to be more to them than a fine school house. Much was said about the money spent but the teachers have spent themselves in the people's service and are entitled to recognition.

Well, let us be thankful that all men are not politicians, and thinking of the merits of only those who have votes. Nor are all men belonging to the farmers alliance, and likely to forget their subjects and the presence of ladies, and talk as if to men and farmers only, upon the use of Jersey cows and other cattle. Let us rejoice that there are many high-minded gentlemen who have too great an appreciation of the intellectual and moral worth of women ever to fail on an occasion like this, to give them that honor which is their due.

SARAH B. STEARNS.

An Impatient New Yorker Writes.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I notice that an esteemed morning contemporary pursues the policy of silence in regard to bridging the canal, in the interest of whom it may concern, but certainly not in the interest of Duluth. In his very able report on this subject to the chamber of commerce several years since, Mr. William F. Phelps wrote as follows:

"Minnesota point is probably the most conveniently located and can be made the most valuable property for general commercial and railway terminal purposes of any territory now available at the head of Lake Superior. The construction of docks and slips upon a gigantic scale along (harbor) front is only a question of time, and will be compelled by the demands of the railway situation, especially for roads entering Duluth from the North and Northwest. There must be provision for ore docks, coal docks, granite docks, manufacturing plants, shipyards and warehouses of every kind required by the commercial necessities of Duluth in the near future."

Mr. Phelps had heard of the threat from the other side of the bay, "Wisconsin will never allow Duluth to bridge that canal," he remarked upon it, "that it is a strange state of affairs when a set of narrow-minded speculators in another state, aided and abetted by their tools in congress, can sit in their offices and prevent us from obtaining the authority to build a bridge across our own canal, at the entrance of our own harbor, within the limits of our own city, county and state."

There is no trouble now from congressmen. What says the last report of the board of public works on the tenders made for building the bridge under Boller's specifications? "The tenders were reported to the council, but the difficulties and opposition encountered caused the matter to be dropped."

I notice in your Tuesday evening's report of the doings of the council you say, "the matter of the canal bridge did not come up." Now, whence comes the "opposition" that causes the "matter to be dropped." Whence the opposition that prevents it from "coming up." I take it there are no "narrow-minded speculators" from Wisconsin in the board of public works, or in the city council. Who then does the "dropping" and the "prevention."

You said very judiciously the other day that all Minnesota Point should be assessed for a bridge, and so should all Duluth, because all the real estate in Duluth is interested in it. The best judges of real estate say that the bridge would add 50 per cent to the value of property in Endion, Lakeside and Crosley Park—to all the property in fact in Duluth proper. It would seem unjust to the Pointers to make them pay for being restored to their natural right of transit, but they had better pay for it than continue to have their property gradually absorbed by annual taxes on a fictitious valuation based on the idea that a bridge will be built some time or other. It will be cheaper for them to pay up for a bridge now. Land on Minnesota Point that was taxed enormously in 1889 had the taxes doubled on it in 1890, while its market value has remained the same for five years, with no sales. Pointers had better be taxed for a reality that will raise the value of a property than be taxed for a future possibility that may not materialize. DULUTHIAN.

New York, June 6, 1891.

Council Meeting.

At the council meeting last night the Park Point citizens asked for nine street lights. Referred to committee. Residents on Garfield avenue complained that the water company had shut off the supply from public watering troughs. S. L. Smith and others protested against the paving of Fourth street between Third and Fifth avenues west. Stephen L. Merchant asked that Lake avenue be christened Division avenue, and that Superior street beyond Eighth avenue east be called Lake avenue.

The board of public works recommended that a sidewalk be built on the north side of Superior street from Second to Eight avenue east, also that a storm sewer be laid on Lake avenue from Fifth street to Piedmont. All estimates on contracts were allowed. Bids for ferrying were opened as follows: Charles Winter, $300 per month; L. M. Steepess, $475; Rufus Johnson, $300. The committee appointed to examine officials' books and accounts made their report through T. H. Russell, the expert employed. He found the books of the city controller and treasurer in excellent condition. The city clerk is short $54.71 in his accounts, besides $592.49 deposited in the Bell bank, which should have been turned over to the city. The report was referred back to the committee for recommendations for plan of keeping accounts of the municipal clerk so that the money can be turned over oftener to the city. Mrs. M. C. Siebold was granted a license to open a woman's employment agency. The committee on fire department reported that the lot recently selected for a fire hall on Park Point had since been sold.

The amendment to the house numbering ordinance excluding avenues on Minnesota Point and the Piedmonts was passed; also an ordinance concerning assessments, which provides that any property owner assessed can have the amount divided into five sums to be paid annually and to bear 7 per cent interest. One hundred dollars was appropriated for the purchase of books for the fire department library. General and fire department bills were allowed; also a bill of the Inman tug line of $500 for furnishing harbor lights.

A special meeting will be held Friday evening to discuss ordinances.

The Unity Club.

The Unity club held a very interesting meeting in the unitarian church last night. The attendance was good, and the discussion of "Tolstoi" by Mrs. Bangs and Mr. Fuller threw much light on the life and thought of the great Russian writer, Mr. Fuller in commendation of his works, and Mrs. Bangs in criticism of their influence. The subject had been carefully studied and was presented in a very comprehensive manner. As to his life it was related that he arrived on earth in 1828, in 1830 lost his father and in 1837 his mother. He inherited considerable property and was thoroughly educated under the care of relatives. At 18 or 20 he retired to his farm for a few years, but at the age of 23 joined the army and did service in the Caucassus. During the Crimean war he served in the Army of the Danube and held a command. Soon afterward he retired from the army and in 1861, being happily married, he withdrew to his farm 100 miles from Moscow, where he has ever since led the life of a peasant. He lives frugally, works half the day humbly in the field, and devotes a few hours in the afternoon to literary labors. At 6 o'clock he devours his vesperian hash and immediately goes to bed to rise at 5 in the morning when the sun makes a shadow for the latest ukase. His best known works have been written since 1875, and the "Kreutzer Sonata," which Postmaster General Wanamaker forbade transportation by mail, is a very recent production of less merit and more notoriety than former ones. The man Tolstoi is a large framed being with a bushy top and long white beard over a massive chest. He washes in ice water, never rakes his hair, and lives a Spartan life of more than Jeffersonian simplicity.

Rev. C. C. Salter and Mr. Donnelly were called for after the opening speeches and made brief remarks. Mr. Salter had found much true Christian principle in some of Tolstoi's teachings, and Mr. Donnelly though conceding the genius and greatness of the man, thought his later works indicated a morbid mind on the verge of insanity.

Wheat Investigation.

Eric Olson talked from the witness stand before the wheat committee in St. Paul yesterday.

"Isn't it a practice for the country buyer to purchase wheat at as low a grade as possible?" asked Mrs. Childs.

"I don't know about that; I would hate to say that they did. I don't know that I can say positively that there is a pool among country buyers. I have seen evidence that there was such a combine, but have no personal knowledge that there is."

Mr. Olson stated that he considered the Minneapolis elevators to be as deep in the mud as the Duluth elevators were in the mire. He referred to the Holcomb stealing and also to a report that oats had been stolen from Elevator A 1, a public elevator, and placed in Elevator A 2, a private warehouse.

Mr. Severance produced an editorial in the Great West, stating that when C. A. Pillsbury became a bear in the wheat market the Chicago Board of Trade building would stand on its steeple. Mr. Olson said that was a matter of opinion. He considered Mr. Pillsbury "half bear and half bull."

The Chronic Kicker.

The poet says: "What is more perfect than a day in June?" And nowhere in the world are June days so perfect as in the great Northwest. And yet for some inscrutable purpose Providence permits the Chronic Kicker to infest even June days. You have seen the "Kicker," haven't you? Of no particular sex or age, "he, shoe, or it," is omnipresent, always awake and on the lookout for something to growl about. The genus is divided into several species, the political Kicker, the financial Kicker, the religious Kicker, the social Kicker, and so on, ad infinitum. Don't you wish you could escape it? Well, you can't, but there is one place where you will find less of him, her, etc., than anywhere else—and that is on the luxurious vestibuled trains of "The Burlington running between Minneapolis and St. Paul and Chicago and St. Louis. To get as far away from the Kicker as possible insist on your ticket agent selling you a ticket over "The Burlington." For any further information about the line, rates, etc., address W. J. C. Kenyon, general passenger agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

WEST DULUTH.

The regular meeting of the council was held at the chambers last evening. A communication from the board of supervisors of Oneota, asking that the council meet said board on Wednesday at 9 a. m. to confer in regard to the Oneota cemetery, was referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Hall, Bergren and McCormick. A petition of property holders for the improvement of Collingwood avenue, was granted and the engineer was instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the work. A petition from citizens of Oneota, requesting the council to change the name of Third street, Oneota, to Superior street, West Duluth, will be favorably acted upon at the next meeting. A petition from property holders, asking that Third street, Oneota, be graded and otherwise improved, was granted. A communication was read from the chief of the fire department, saying that the department was ready and desirous of being inspected by the council. The motion was passed that the council adjourn for a time and inspect the work of the laddies. The trial was made at the city hall, and the boys showed proficiency in the work of placing ladders and handling themselves as firemen. Bids for the village printing were received from the following papers: Duluth Tribune, twenty-four cents per folio for first insertion, and twelve cents for each subsequent insertion; Duluth News, twenty-five cents for first and twelve cents for each subsequent insertion; West Duluth Sun, thirty-five cents for first and twenty cents for following insertions. The council designated the News as the official paper. The council then adjourned to meet Thursday evening.

Continued to July 20.

The hearing in the famous Hyde-McDonald land case was, at the close of the argument last night, continued till July 20, to give time for the appearance of certain important witnesses. The theory that a possible change in the registership should secure a postponement was dropped by the attorneys and more substantial business reasons presented. This action seems generally satisfactory.

Mueller Bros. Assign.

Mueller Bros., the tailors, who have a place in the Chamber of Commerce, threw up the sponge this morning by assigning to John J. McAuliffe. They were getting along nicely until last winter, when the general stringency had its effect on them.

THE MARKETS.

Dull and Neglected; German and French Tariffs Cause Uneasiness.

The local market was dull till noon, opening nominally at yesterday's closing quotations, prices nominally unchanged with buyers of July No. 1 hard at opening figures, and at ½c advance for July No. 1 northern. Trading was confined to a few car lots to the local mills. Futures were neglected. Our receipts, inspections and shipments continue to be of fair proportions. The crop news from this country is generally very favorable. French and German grain duties agitation, and bad foreign crop reports are offset by lower cables. 2,000,000 increase in wheat on ocean passage, and fine harvest prospects over Southern winter wheat regions of this country. Harvesting is progressing finely in Southern Kansas. Reports from the Red River valley are that prospects are now better than ever before. The market closed practically at yesterday's figures except for June No. 1 northern wheat, which was in demand at ½c advance.

Cash 1 hard closed at $1.05½; cash 1 northern closed at $1.02½; cash 2 northern closed with 99c sellers; June 1 hard closed at $1.06; June 1 northern closed at $1.03¼ bid; July 1 hard closed at $1.07 bid; July 1 northern closed at $1.03¾; September 1 hard closed at 94½c; September 1 northern closed at 92½c.

There were 53 cars of wheat on track today. Receipts for twenty-four hours were 59,859 bushels and shipments 117,306 bushels.

New York Money and Stocks.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Money at 3@3½ per cent. Exchange quiet; posted rates, 485@488; actual rates, 483¾@484 for sixty days. Governments steady; currency, 6's, 109 bid; 4½'s, coupon, 119½ bid; 4's, coupon, 100 bid.

For no apparent reason London and American traders were bearish this morning and sold the market considerably. Railroad stocks were weak therefore and generally lower. A general impression that Rock Island must go down has caused quite an extensive short selling. Trading was even duller than it has been of late. The speculative industrials were the strong features of the market. Chicago gas reflected the news from Chicago that at last night's meeting the city council authorized the mayor and comptroller to settle with the company on whatever basis they thought best. This was interpreted to mean that all litigation would end. The advance in Chicago gas was 1 per cent. At noon the general list was weak and ⅛ to 1 per cent lower.

Chicago Wheat.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Wheat opened steady. July sold at the tap of the bell at 98@98⅛, then at 97⅞ and at 9:45 was 97¼. Cables were quoted weak and ½d lower. Not much trading. Receipts, 86 cars of winter and 76 cars spring. Corn opened higher owing to the fact that the inspection showed 90 cars less than expected. The first sale of July was 59⅜, but sold off very soon to 59⅛ and at 9:45 was 59¼. Oats easy, July opened at 44, sold quickly to 43⅝ and at 9:45 stood at 43⅝. Provisions easier with a light trade. July pork sold at $10.50@55.

The following is the close: Wheat, July, 98⅜@½c; September, 94¼c. Corn: July, 58¼c; September, 56⅜c. Oats, July, 43⅜c; September 34¼@⅜c. Pork: July, $10.40; September, $10.62½. Lard: July, $6.12½@$15; September, $6.37½. Ribs: July, $5.80; September, $6.05@$6.07½.

For Running a Blind Pig.

Deputy Sheriff Armstrong yesterday received the following telegram from Buffalo, Minn., sent by J. C. Nugent, sheriff of Wright county:

Archie Giomer is tending bar at Tower. Arrest and wire me. I will send deputy. Our court is in session here.

Deputy Sheriff Beatty, of Tower, was at once telegraphed to and he arrived here at noon with the desired man in custody. The prisoner is only 22 years old and is wanted for running a blind pig, for which he is indicted. He claims that he never sold anything stronger than hard cider while in Buffalo.

The Y. M. C. A. Building.

The Y. M. C. A. directors met last night and decided to build on the site of the present quarters as soon as certain minor matters can be taken care of. The new building as outlined in plans by Young & Young, will be 25 by 115 feet and cost between $12,000 and $15,000. In will have three stories in all, that on Michigan street to be devoted to the gymnasium.

Jack Jenks was a victim of liver complaint,
His strength was exhausted, his pulse had grown faint.
He had ulcers and tumors and all sorts of humors,
And the ills that he suffered would weary a saint.
Folks said that Jack Jenks would never be cured,
But Jack said he would—that they might be assured.
Pierce's G. M. Discovery wrought his recovery,
After all the poor fellow so long had endured.

Such a multitude of serious, distressing and often fatal maladies spring from a disordered liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery creates a healthy action of this important organ, and the ills that have their origin there can be cured by its prompt and faithful use. All druggists.
